

Appendix 4

Twelve John Chappellsmith letters and one Margaret Chappellsmith letter published in Index, a Weekly Paper devoted to Free Religion, Toledo, Ohio, 1870-1880

This is Appendix 4 (of 5) to “John Chappellsmith of Sheffield, London, and New Harmony: Artist and Writer”
by Clark Kimberling, University of Evansville

1. Vol. 3, 1871, p. 22, Spencer on Spontaneous Generation
2. Vol. 3, 1871, p. 103, Huxley-Spontaneous Generation
3. Vol. 3, 1871, p. 183, The Argument of Hume, McCash, and Kant
4. Vol. 3, 1871, p. 367, Can Philosophy be Established on an Objective Basis?
5. Vol. 3, 1872, p. 183, Unjust Charges Against Scientific Men
6. Vol. 3, 1872, p. 199, A Demurrer
7. Vol. 4, 1873, p. 120, Spontaneous Generation (by Margaret Chappellsmith)
8. Vol. 4, 1874, p. 439, On the Christian Pantheism of the Ninth Century
9. Vol. 5, 1874, p. 537, Tyndall versus Guizot on the Dark Ages
10. Vol. 6, 1875, p. 63, Tyndall versus Guizot ... and its Critics
11. Vol. 7, 1876, p. 237, On the Review of Tyndall and Martineau in the London Spectator
12. Vol. 8, 1877, p. 129, The Eternity of Matter
13. Vol. 11, 1880, p. 28, Ideal Types in Nature