Historical Notes: In 1972 a group of Christians founded an intentional community on a farm near Mud Lick, Kentucky; in 1977 they moved to a farm near Athens, Ohio. The community was grounded in the Brethren and Anabaptist traditions and influenced by the Bruderhof movement and Reba Place Fellowship, among other groups. Members pooled their resources and sought to live simply, working for peace and social justice. In 1978 the community reported 18 members.
