Abstract: This collection consists of pamphlets, photographs, programs, and other items from the Philip H. Hagemann Performing Arts department at the University of Southern Indiana in Evansville, Indiana from 1966 to 2021.

Historical Notes: Originally known as the Theater and Performing Arts Program, the program was renamed in October 2021 to the Philip H. Hagemann Performing Arts Department. This collection highlights some of the theatres from the Theatre Arts program:

- “The University of Southern Indiana Theatre puts on four mainstage productions annually, with USI performing arts students as actors, sound and light engineers, costume and set designers. Beginning in spring 2015, USI Theatre mainstage productions take place in the new USI Performance Center in the center of campus. Second stage productions will be offered in the Mallette Studio Theatre in the lower level of the Liberal Arts Center on the west side of the University of Southern Indiana campus in Evansville.”
- The New Harmony Theatre started in 1827 by William Owen. The theatre continued to thrive with the addition of Murphy Auditorium in 1914. At the request of Jane Blaffer Owen, USI began to produce at the theatre following financial woes. The New Harmony Theatre signed a contract with the Actors’ Equity Association in 1990. By 2001, the theatre received a well-respected contract with the Actors’ Equity Association, allowing Broadway veteran actors to perform. By 2005, the New Harmony Theatre had “...the honor of producing the world premiere of...” ‘A Moon to Dance By’ by Thom Thomas. USI discontinued the New Harmony Theatre in the fall of 2019 after a thirty-two year partnership.
- “The University’s most enduring musical tradition, the Madrigal Feaste showcases members of the USI Chamber Choir, who don period costumes and entertain with selections of old English and Irish Madrigals, folk songs and holiday choral selections. A reenactment of a 15th-century royal feast, the entertainment also includes dancing and merriment on a grand scale. A collaborative effort, the Madrigal Feaste partner’s talented faculty and students with University Dining Services to choreograph an evening fit for a king.”
