Dear friend Mollie,

This morning finds me much improved since I came home though yet quite unwell. Came here last evening to the ball though danced but little and could not enjoy the affair - cant talk but little and going to a wedding this evening and anticipate a grand time. All town will also making great preparation for Christmas. Cousin John came up to see when I came home, and they are perfectly allured at the idea of your company - I will be down according to promise. Now Mollie don't disappoint me in coming up -

Yours Truly
Henry Dick
