Employees meet the 'challenge'

USI employees contributed $383,075 to the Challenge for Academic Excellence, surpassing a goal of $250,000 and helping the University qualify for a total of $4 million in matching grants from the Lilly Endowment.

"It is difficult for a relatively young institution to build endowments. We are grateful for the gifts which allowed us to qualify for this vital matching program," said USI President H. Ray Hoops. "And the annual earnings will help make up the gap between state funding and our greatest academic needs at a time when we are challenged by diminished state resources."

In 2003, the University exceeded its Challenge goals in three of four categories: Employees; Alumni, $3,762,613 with a $3 million goal; and Family, $346,537 with a $250,000 goal. The Boards challenge for USI's Board of Trustees and USI Foundation's Board of Directors reached $600,248 of a $1 million goal in 2002.

Gifts for any academic purpose qualified for the match, and Lilly's $4 million in matching funds is establishing the first multi-million dollar endowment to enhance academics at USI.

The University's Endowment for Academic Excellence will provide annual income to support academic needs where the need is greatest. After the full endowment is invested, annual income is expected to exceed $175,000.

The challenge was offered to all 35 Indiana colleges and universities in a Lilly Endowment initiative to strengthen philanthropy for Indiana higher education institutions.

Special event toasts the arts

The University of Southern Indiana Society for Arts & Humanities will present its 13th annual "Toast to the Arts" February 6 at the Evansville Museum of Arts, History, and Science.

The evening will feature silent and live auctions as well as selected musical entertainment. A cash bar will be available for cocktails, with service beginning at 7 p.m. Dinner will follow at 8.

This year's auction items include paintings, sculptures, ceramics, jewelry, antiques, dinners, and special events.

The menu includes assorted canapés, cold poached ravioli, mixed greens with toasted almonds, sun-dried cherries dressed in citrus vinaigrette, pastry encrusted salmon with white wine and fresh basil, wilted spinach, sushi rice with sanguine orange sauce, and chocolate martini glass with blue Curacao mousse. Vegetarian/alternate menu needs may be accommodated, by calling 812/465-7149.

Gala proceeds benefit USI scholarships, student development, and grants to The New Harmony Theatre and RopeWalk Writers Retreat. Information about the Society for Arts & Humanities is online at www.usi.edu/libarts/society/bkgnd.asp.

Tickets for the "Toast to the Arts" are $125 per person, which includes a $50 charitable gift. Black tie is preferred. The reservation deadline is February 2. For information or reservations, call 812/465-7149.

Homecoming events February 7

Pack your bags. It's almost time to depart for USI Homecoming 2004: "Passport Around the World."

"The University community is invited to attend Homecoming activities," said Nancy Johnson, director of Alumni and Volunteer Services. "It's your passport to a world of fun, food, and basketball!"

The Multicultural Center will be the first destination February 7. In celebration of its 10-year anniversary and the first African-American Alumni Reunion, the center is offering free campus tours from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. with registration available at the MCC in the University Center.

The "A Piece of Yesterday" reunion luncheon will be held at 11 a.m. in Carter Hall and will include several speakers as well as musical entertainment. Reservations for the luncheon, $12, are available by calling the MCC, 812/465-7188.

The Physical Activities Center is the next stop on the itinerary. The 17th annual Alumni Men's Basketball Game will hit the courts at 3 p.m. The Lady Eagles will face off with Bellarmine University at 5:15 p.m., and the Screaming Eagles will take on Bellarmine at 7:30.

Tickets for the games are $10; $7 for bench seats; $4 for student bench seats. Discounted tickets are available to alumni and to those registering for the Multicultural Center's reunion lunch.

The Alumni Homecoming Party, from 9:30 to 11 p.m., will be held in Room 200 of the PAC. The free party for ages 21 and older will feature complimentary food booths and a cash bar. Singer/keyboardist Matt Clark will provide the entertainment.

USI Homecoming 2004 is sponsored by the USI Alumni Association. For additional information, call Alumni and Volunteer Services, 812/464-1924.

A schedule of events during Homecoming Week, February 2-7, follows:

- » February 2 - Homecoming Rec Fest, 7 p.m. in the Recreation and Fitness Center
- » February 2-6 - Vote for Homecoming King and Queen on Campus Pipeline
- » February 3 - Illusionist Mike Super, 8 p.m. in Carter Hall
- » February 4 - International Night, 7:30 p.m. in Governors Hall
- » February 5 - Tailgate Party, 7 p.m. in the Physical Activities Center, between the men's and women's basketball games
- » February 6 - Trivia Game, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the University Center

MCC celebrating anniversary

The USI Multicultural Center will celebrate its 10-year anniversary and first African-American Alumni Reunion February 7 as part of the University's homecoming activities.

"We wanted to have alumni celebrate with the people who helped establish the Multicultural Center," said Vianney Gordon, MCC assistant program director. "We wanted to let everybody be a part of the celebration."

The festivities will begin at 9:30 a.m. with bus tours of campus and five University buildings. The tours will continue until 11:30 a.m. Interested persons may register to participate at the MCC in the University Center. Advance registration is not required.

"A Piece of Yesterday," the reunion luncheon at 11 a.m. in Carter Hall, will feature a variety of speakers as well as entertainment provided by Designed by Grace, USI's gospel choir. Reservations for the luncheon, $12, are available by calling the MCC, 812/465-7188.

After the luncheon, a meeting to establish an African-American alumni organization is planned. A panel discussion with alumni, students, and faculty will follow.

Speakers during the reunion events will include Dr. Robert Parrent, vice president for Student Affairs; Randa Gatling '99, instructor in physical education and assistant women's basketball coach; Patricia Jackson '89; Katherine Webb '89; Linda Williams '80; Goldie Scales '98; Alethea Hunter '00; Karla Berry '03; Maurice Mumford '98; Justin Hunter '98; and Lakiesha Singleton '04.

Reunion participants also are invited to the Physical Activities Center for additional Homecoming 2004 activities.

The MCC opened its doors during the 1993-94 academic year. Its mission is to enhance "the personal and academic success of students by preparing them to be responsible citizens in a multicultural society."

Faculty production on WNIN

A 30-minute television program created by two members of the communications faculty will broadcast on WNIN-TV 9 February 2.

Dr. Dave Black, assistant professor of communications, and Dr. Bob West, assistant professor of advertising, collaborated to produce "Always There: Evansville African-Americans and Their Church."

The program explores the role of the church in the lives of nine Tri-State residents: Warren Hale, Delores Jackson, Classy Martin, Todd Robertson, Irene Saucer, Bertis Shane, Emily Starks, Dora Wilson, and John Wisdom.

Black and West conducted interviews with the participants, who share various perspectives on African-American spiritual faith as well as memories of what church life meant to them growing up, its influence today, and their hopes for the future.

USI alumna Kami Boyd provides the program's introduction. Boyd is a member of the WFIE weather team and is a broadcast personality on 104FM WIKY.

Black joined the University in 1998 and teaches courses in television production and the broadcasting/cable industries. He holds a Ph.D. in communications from University of Tennessee-Knoxville, previously taught at Bowling Green State University, and worked as a television director in Nashville, Tenn.

West '78 joined the University full-time in 1999 and teaches courses in advertising and speech. He holds a doctorate in speech communication from Southern Illinois University-Carbondale and has taught at the collegiate level since 1984. He also worked as director of operations at WFIE-TV in Evansville, is co-advisor of the USI Student Advertising Club, and is a former president of the Advertising Club of Evansville.

"Always There: Evansville African-Americans and Their Church" will air at 9 p.m. February 2 on WNIN. The program was produced through the University of Southern Indiana Scripps Howard Video Complex.

Course targets entrepreneurs

A six-week course developed by USI to help individuals start a business or expand an existing business will begin in Evansville February 24.

"How to Write a Business Plan: A Basic Entrepreneurial Training Program" will be offered from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Tuesdays at Gaither Rutherford and Co., 7300 E. Indiana St.

Sponsored by Southern Indiana Rural Development Project and Southwestern Indiana Small Business Development Center, the course will help business owners develop a comprehensive business plan to act as a blueprint for growth.

Topics will include idea generation and feasibility research; market analysis and location; marketing strategies and implementation; financial overview of books, records, and controls; financial statements; and how to manage people and information.

The cost is $65 (plus $50 for a spouse or business partner), and includes a textbook, workbook, and resource guide. Registration is available by phone, 812/464-1989 or 800/467-8600.

The program is funded in part by a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.
