VOICES, INC. TO APPEAR AT ISSUE. A two-act musical drama production, "Journey Into Blackness," will be presented at Indiana State University Evansville by Voices, Inc. on February 9 at 11:00 a.m. The production, sponsored by the Human Relations Institute and the Division of Humanities, expresses the Black experience from Africa to today in song, drama, and dance. The production includes a cast of eight, accompanied by persons on piano and drums.

"Journey Into Blackness" travels a musical route along an historical line of progress. Since the first slave days at Jamestown, Virginia in 1619, the Black man frequently expressed himself in song. That tradition, from Africa, through enslavement, and into the liberation struggle of today, still exists. That gift of song has flourished side by side with a unique language, freedom in body movement, and an abiding humor. That is the life style portrayed by Voices, Inc. in "Journey Into Blackness."

Critics describe the show in these terms: "The voices have plenty to say and do it with dignity and an exceptional amount of musical talent." "...and the singing -- particularly the choral singing -- is beautiful and stirring."

The production is open to faculty, staff, and students, and the general public. There is no admission fee.

TEACHER EDUCATION PROGRAMS RECEIVE FIVE-YEAR APPROVAL. The Commission on Teacher Training and Licensing of the Indiana State Department of Public Instruction has granted a five-year approval of all teacher education programs at Indiana State University Evansville. In the report of the Commission, the visitation team commended ISUE for the physical facility supporting the instructional program, and for the University's efforts to provide needed services for the geographical area. In addition, the Laboratory Experiences Program, which allows freshman students access to classroom teaching, was highly commended.

It is a well-known fact that a heavy snowfall in February is a good sign for a good summer. (Contrary to popular belief, a heavy snowfall in February is a good sign for a good summer.)

"If February give much snow
A fine Summer it doth foreshow."
