HUMANITIES FORUM, Mr. Langdon Morris, who will give a slide lecture "Toward Arcology: Works in Progress" will be the guest speaker at the Humanities Forum April 4 at 1:00 p.m. in the University Center, Room 350.

Tues.

Of special interest to students of art, sociology and ecology, Morris will discuss the work of Paolo Soleri's Cosanti Foundation. The exhibit describes the research and development of an alternative urban environment.

The not-for-profit Cosanti Foundation, under the direction of architect Paolo Soleri, constructed Arcosanti in 1970 in the Mesa Country of central Arizona, 70 miles north of Phoenix. When completed, the town of 4500-5000 will serve as a study center for the social, economic and ecological implications of its architectural framework. At this time, over 2500 students and professionals of diversified ages and backgrounds have taught and learned from one another through the building of Arcosanti. Arcosanti yearly hosts a series of cultural events in both the visual and performing arts.

The foundation's recent focus is the development of a central system for the efficient collection, transmission and consumption of the solar energy needed to support the population of a town or city. The framework for research is a hypothetical arcology which uses terraced greenhouses surrounding the arcology as solar heat collectors, resulting in intensive food production and an energy support system which directs solar heat from the greenhouses to the arcology to meet basic heating and cooling needs for the town. Several projects currently under construction include a residential complex and a 25-meter swimming pool, which will be sunheated by the greenhouse and chimney effects.

Consisting of models and graphics, the Cosanti Foundation exhibit, housed in the Evansville Museum, will open Sunday, April 2. Morris will be present at the Museum that day and also give a slide lecture.

The session is free and open to the public.

SPRING WEEK. To officially usher in spring, the Student Union Board will sponsor Spring Week April 17-21, a week packed with festivities and contests.

Highlighting the week's activities, the Eagle Gran Prix, the annual bicycle race, will be run Wednesday, April 19. Ceremonies opening the race will be held at 11:00 a.m. in the Technology Center parking lot.

Also on the agenda for the week are pyramid building races on Monday, April 17 at 11:30 a.m. on the UC Mall; Crazy Olympics (human wheelbarrow race, egg toss, life-saver pass, tug-o-war) at 11:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 18; Hardee's Hamburger Eating Contest at 11:00 a.m. Thursday, April 20; and a canoe race on Reflection Lake at 12:00 noon April 21.

To round out the week's festivities, the 1978 Bachelor and Coed of the Year will be

SPRING WEEK (CON.) announced at the Spring Formal Friday, April 21 with a dinner and dance.

NUCLEAR ENERGY DEBATE. In response to the hotly-debated issue of using nuclear energy as a substitute for the nation's dwindling natural resources, ISUE will present a two-part series on the pros and cons of nuclear energy.

The public is invited to attend these free sessions held on Thursday, March 30 and Thursday, April 6 at 7:00 p.m. in A34. The format each evening will include a lecture, followed by a question and answer session to enable persons attending to understand the issue and form an opinion.

Robert Norris from Public Service Indiana will present a session advocating the use of nuclear energy Thursday, March 30.

On April 7, TOM ZELLER, Instructor in Geology, will present the opposing view.

Co-sponsored by the Office of Continuing Education and the Division of Science and Math, the lectures are included in the continuing Environmental Problems and Solutions forum this spring.

MID AMERICA CONFERENCE ON COMPOSITION. Bernard Van't Hul, Director of the University of Michigan freshman composition program, will be the featured speaker at the Mid America Conference on Composition.

Held Wednesday, April 5, the conference will revolve around the theme "Back to Basics???" Van't Hul is expected to discuss the program at the University of Michigan, which is recognized as being one of the more innovative programs in composition.

As director of the freshman composition program, which enrolls over 3500 students annually, Van't Hul is responsible for on-going training seminars for faculty and graduate assistants who teach writing. Professor Van't Hul teaches graduate and undergraduate courses in Old and Middle English language and literature, history of the English language, freshman English, and advanced expository writing. In addition, he is Associate Research Editor of the University's Middle English Dictionary. In this capacity, he illustrates and defines the meaning of words of the English language as it was used for four hundred years before the advent of the printing press. He is also Chairman of the Consulting Committee of the English Composition Board which sets policy for entrance requirements and executes research in the teaching of writing.

Van't Hul is co-author of three language texts for junior-high students and has recently been named consultant to the Advanced Placement Committee of Educational Testing Service.

The conference, sponsored annually, is open to the public and particularly to interested teachers of English. In a move toward a coordinated writing program, the conference will provide opportunities for communication between teachers of English on the secondary and university levels.

Held in the University Center, registration will be from 3:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. The keynote address given by Van't Hul begins at 6:00 p.m.

MID AMERICA CONFERENCE ON COMPOSITION (CON.)

To register for the conference, contact the Office of Continuing Education at extension 1863.

SPRING NONCREDIT COURSES. The spring schedule of noncredit courses offers a full scope of interests from sailing lessons to tips on consumerism.

New noncredit courses offered this spring include Don't Count Me Out English, a refresher course in grammar and composition; Party Gourmet, sessions to learn to entertain with ease and flair; Indoor Gardening, a course to turn brown thumbs into green; and Interpersonal Communication: The Search for Realistic Intimacy, which explores the concepts and techniques that facilitate male-female communication.

Two continuing education trips are being planned, a Chicago bus tour to view Peru's Golden Treasures, and a week of summer sailing at Kentucky Lake State Park.

Continuing Education courses repeated this spring are Home Landscaping, Understanding the Metric System, Weaving, Basic Photography, Beginning Tennis, Yoga, Children's Art Workshop, and Beginning and Advanced Beginning Racquetball. Also offered are Age Group Gymnastics, Gymnastics for Women, Beginning Drawing, and Personal Law. In addition, a weekend Assertiveness Training Workshop has been scheduled.

Also offered is a series of minicourses on nutrition: Gardening and Preserving, Basic Nutrition, and Consumerism.

A full schedule of courses, their description, times and fees may be obtained by calling the Office of Continuing Education at extension 1863.

1978 COUNSELOR DAY. Area high school guidance counselors and principals will visit the campus on April 5 to meet with former students who are currently enrolled at ISUE.

Wed.

The sessions, which will be held in the University Conference Center, have a two-fold purpose: to enable secondary school principals, counselors and junior college administrators to determine if the students were academically prepared to attend ISUE and to allow the counselors to learn of students' impressions about ISUE.

University faculty and administrators will also meet with the counselors to detail new programs and to explain their particular interest area.

The 1978 Counselor Day is sponsored by the Office of Admissions. Any questions should be directed to that office at extension 1765.

SIGMA DELTA CHI DINNER. The Cardinal States Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, the Society of Professional Journalists, is sponsoring the Marv Bates Memorial Dinner on April 23 in the Executive Inn. A social hour will begin at 6:00 p.m. and the dinner will be at 7:00 p.m. Tickets, which are $7.50 per person, may be purchased from SHERRI STANDLEY, extension 1755. All proceeds will go to the SDX Scholarship Fund.

GRADUATION ANNOUNCEMENTS. The deadline for seniors to order graduation announcements has been extended to March 31. Contact the Bookstore for further information.

SECRETARIES OF ISSUE: DATE CHANGE. The Secretaries of ISSUE will meet April 20, not April 13 as was previously scheduled. All clerical and clerical/support staff are welcome to attend the meeting which will be held from 11:45 a.m. - 1:15 p.m. in the University Center Bridge.

NEW FACES. TRACEY D. MEARS has joined the Physical Plant staff as a Grounds Maintenance worker. An Evansville resident, TRACY graduated from North High School in 1977 and enjoys golf, cars and leather working. He lives at 301 Olmstead.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS. DR. HARLAN VANOVER addressed the Evansville Rotary Club Tuesday, March 20 on "Business Organizations and the Management Consultant." VANOVER also attended the Southwestern Division of the Academy of Management in Dallas, Texas March 9 and 10.
