Deadline: FRIDAY AFTERNOON

Stanley Hall Day tied in with Red Ribbon Week

More than 80 students from Stanley Hall Enrichment Center will visit campus Monday, October 17, and join the Student Government Association and Activities Programming Board in painting University Center windows in preparation for the national Red Ribbon Week observance the following week.

USI President H. Ray Hoops will welcome the students to campus at 8:45 a.m. Their morning will be filled with such events as the window painting, a "Fun with chemistry" presentation by Dr. Marie G. Hankins, chair of the Physical Sciences Department, and a "Playdough Economics" presentation by Dr. Gregory P. Valentine, assistant professor of business education and director of the Center for Economic Education in Southwestern Indiana.

The Enrollment Services staff will provide campus tours, including USI radio and television facilities, and students will be guests for lunch in the University Center where professors and students will discuss various elements of campus life. USI Eagles basketball Coach Bruce

Pearl will greet the students.

Ms. Patricia Cato, principal at Stanley Hall, said the students look forward to a fall field trip and "the trip to USI is especially good because it is so prac-

3rd annual Oktoberfest slated October 23 at USI

The public is invited to join USI faculty, staff, and students in celebrating the 1994 Oktoberfest, launching Red Ribbon Week and demonstrating that a fun time may be had without benefit of drugs or alcohol.

The fest will be held from 12 noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, October 23, in the Outdoor Education area at USI. It is part of the University observance of National Red Ribbon Week (October 23-30), working with community organizations to present a unified and visible commitment toward the creation of a Drug Free America. Ms. Patricia Loehr, University Division advisor, is Oktoberfest coordinator.

Oktoberfest will have a plate lunch available for 50 cents. The afternoon will provide games and entertainment for all ages, including country line dancing and a dunking booth. Parking is recommended in the lot adjacent to the Physical Activities Center; a haywagon will be available to shuttle everyone to the fest site.

Psychology teachers to get update on student cheating;

A Kansas psychology professor will present an update in his ongoing study of student cheating in college when the 11th annual Mid-America Conference for Teachers of Psychology is held Friday and Saturday, October 14-15, at the University of Southern Indiana.

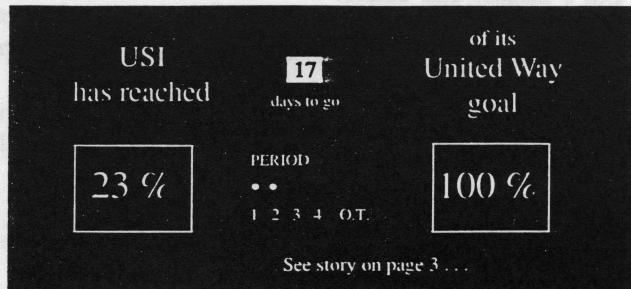

Dr. Steve Davis of Emporia State University, who began his study in 1991, will be the conference keynote speaker at 10:45 a.m. Friday in the USI Conference Center. The conference will continue through noon Saturday. It is being coordinated by Dr. Joseph Palladino, USI psychology professor and former department chair who was co-author with Dr. Davis of the textbook, Psychology, due out in November.

Names in the news:

Dr. Sherry B. Darrell, professor of English; Mrs. Phyllis Toy, assistant professor of English, and Dr. Susanna Hoeness-Krupsaw, assistant professor of English, attended the Indiana College English Association Conference held October 7 at Ball State University. They presented a panel discussion on the inclusion of "Women's Studies in the Western Tradition Survey," with Dr. Darrell reading a paper on "Greek Women, Greek Law;" Mrs. Toy on "Woman's Place in the American Canon;" and Dr. Hoeness-Krupsaw on "Madame de LaFayette's Princess and Enlightenment Thought."

On September 29, Dr. Darrell gave the keynote address on Athena at the Evansville Chamber of Commerce luncheon honoring this year's 13 Athena Award nominees. The award honors women in business and the professions who have given outstanding service to the community.

USI faculty and students are in Stratford, Ontario, through Sunday, October 16, attending the Stratford Shakespeare Festi-
