VOLUNTEER FAIR

The Volunteer Action Center is sponsoring a Volunteer Fair today and tomorrow from 9:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. in the trophy case hallway. Volunteer Fair offers students the opportunity to volunteer their services to the community service agency of their choice.

Faculty are asked to announce details of the Volunteer Fair in their classes so that students know of the opportunity to register for volunteer service in the Evansville community.

Participating agencies are:

Turtle Creek Convalescent Centre
Fulton Senior Citizens
Humane Society
Big Brothers
Evansville State Hospital
Evansville Psychiatric Children's Center
Evansville Boys' Club
Planned Parenthood

Deaconess Hospital
St. Vincent's Day Care
Raintree Girl Scout Council
Goodwill Industries
Hope Of Evansville Inc.
His Place
Community Center
YWCA

Don Wells, Director of Volunteer Action Center, is coordinating the event. This is the first Volunteer Fair scheduled in Evansville.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS

CHARLES T. BARBER, Assistant Professor of Political Science, authored an article, "UPU's CENTENARY: A Look at Regional Unions", which was published in STAMPS, Volume 166, January 19, 1974, pages 134-136.

DANIEL C. SCAVONE, Associate Professor of History, was guest speaker at the January 9 Evansville Civitan Club luncheon held at the Executive Inn. His topic was a slide presentation on "The Romance of Ancient Greek and Roman Coins".

JAMES R. BLEVINS, Humanities Division Chairman, wrote the feature article, "The Movies: A Few Steps Forward and A Giant Step Backward", for the January issue of the Channel 9 magazine. He will speak to the Evansville Press Club on January 25 and the topic will be "Hell Over Hollywood".

DARRELL E. BIGHAM, Assistant Professor of History, was appointed by Evansville Mayor Lloyd to serve as Vice-President of the Evansville Bicentennial Council and was re-elected to the Board of Directors of Society of Indiana Archivists for a two-year term.

GYMNASTICS CLASS

A children's gymnastics class is being offered by Jane Davis, Physical Education Instructor. The class, open to children seven years of age and older, will be at the beginner level and will include tumbling, trampoline, balance bar, parallel bar, and vaulting.

The one-hour class will begin January 28 and run for ten weeks, with classes not meeting March 8. The non-credit class is open to the public. Course fee is $12.50. Persons should register their children at the first session on January 28 beginning at 7:00 p.m. All sessions will be held in the Forum Room at Indiana State University Evansville.

HEALTH SERVICES OFFERS BLOOD BANK BENEFITS

Blood Bank identification cards are now available in the Student Health Services Office, Room 116, (in the Dean of Academic Affairs and Student Services suite of offices) and Blood Bank members can pick up their cards this week. Membership in the Blood Bank insures availability of donors, and can mean replacement of blood that costs approximately $60 per pint. Coverage includes dependants as well as the member's immediate family. The benefits of the Blood Bank extend across the country, anywhere there is a member bank of the American Association of Blood Banks or the Red Cross. The ISUE Blood Bank is established through Deaconess Hospital and is open to University personnel.

A list of participants in the ISUE Blood Bank follows. Persons who would like to be enrolled in the Blood Bank and are not listed below should contact Mrs. Pat Like, Student Health Services, Ext. 258. Likewise if you are listed and would like to be deleted Mrs. Like will make those arrangements. If there has been a change in dependants in your family, those changes need to be noted in your file now in Mrs. Like's office. Members now on file are:
