The Indiana State University Evansville

Theatre will present "The Man Who Came to Dinner" on March 29, 30, 31, 1973 at the ISUE Playhouse, 3001 Iglehart, at 8:00 p.m. The play, recently seen on television in an up-dated and cut version, will be presented by the ISUE players in its original form, including the use of names and places as indicated by the script.

The role of Sheridan Whiteside will be played by Clayton Crenshaw, Director of Theatre at ISUE. Maggie Cutler, Whiteside's secretary and "girl Friday" will be played by Sarah Trovillion. The role of Lorraine Sheldon, actress and chaser of Lord Bottomley, will be played by Lillian Giello. Jack Schenk will play Banjo and understudy Mr. Crenshaw in the role of Whiteside. Bert Jefferson, the newspaper man who unknowingly contributes to the crisis between Whiteside and Maggie Cutler, is played by Ben Bridwell. Miss Preen, Whiteside's dominated nurse, will be played by Kalah Russell. The assistant directors for the show are Paul Groeninger and Mike Foley. Costumes will be handled by Monica Weinzapfel; lighting by Mike Fox, and set construction by Bob Barnett.

Ticket prices are $2.00 for adults; $1.00 for students.
