O'Daniel Leadership Academy to look at community leadership opportunities

The USI community is invited to participate in three programs next week which are sponsored by O'Daniel Leadership Academy on the theme "Strengthening Leadership in the Communities: Finding Our Voice, Creating Our Future." For information, call Ms. Lisa McGuire, Student Development program advisor, 465-1031.

Dr. Lorraine Matusak, leadership scholar and former program officer with the W. K. Kellogg Foundation, will open the series, speaking at 8 p.m. Monday, March 23, in Mitchell Auditorium on "Finding Your Voice." This is the title of her book, which will be available for purchase and Dr. Matusak's signature. She is a former Evansville resident and the founder of the College of Alternative Programs at the University of Evansville. She was USI's 1993 Commencement speaker and was awarded an honorary Doctor of Laws degree. She now is Distinguished Leadership Scholar at James MacGregor Burns Academy of Leadership, University of Maryland at College Park, and is executive director of LARCON

Lorraine Matusak

Nancy H. Denny

Associates, which provides services for leadership development, organizational design, and executive coaching.

Mrs. Nancy Hunter Denny, operator of POTENTIAL Leadership Training since 1993, will speak at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday, March 25, in Carter Hall on "The Future Is Yours To Create: A Look at Men, Women, and Leadership," an interactive lecture/workshop. She has appeared at regional, state, and national student leadership conferences. Prior to starting POTENTIAL, she was assistant dean of students for special programs and Greek life at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Massachusetts. She is completing her first motivational book.

The final program at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, March 28, in Carter Hall will feature Ms. Sara Davies and Ms. Mary Durkin of Leadership Evansville as facilitators for a women's leadership conference, "Finding Your Voice: Women Learning and Leading Into the 21st Century." This all-day program will focus on developing the skills of women students at USI; this will be an on-going program with the first follow-up session slated at 7:30 a.m. Friday, April 24.

New Harmony exhibit to open:

A new exhibit, "Beyond the Sphere: New Harmony Women Challenge Tradition," opens from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday, March 29, in Owen Block Building, Community House No. 2, and Scholle House. Refreshments will be available at the Owen Building. (more)

Futurist to speak

Futurist Francis Fukuyama, a George Mason University professor and author of Trust: The Social Virtues and the Creation of Prosperity, will deliver a public lecture at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 26, in Mitchell Auditorium and will visit with USI classes on Friday, March 27. His visit is sponsored by Citizens Bank and the USI Schools of Business and Liberal Arts.

Francis Fukuyama

Dr. Fukuyama provides a fascinating and distinctly unique look at business and organizations, offering views on the future of our society and our social virtues which he says will determine whether a nation will prevail in the new global economy. He explains his theories and projections in the new book Trust.

Dr. Fukuyama received a B.A. in the classics from Cornell University and Ph.D. in political science from Harvard University. He is a fellow of the Johns Hopkins University School for Advanced International Studies' Foreign Policy Institutes and director of its Telecommunications Project. He is producing a definitive study on the future of telecommunications and his next book will deal with technology and policy in the public sector and the corporate world.

Honors Week

The National City Bank Distinguished Professor Award, Berger Faculty Community Service Award, and the USI Trustees Merit Award for an outstanding student will be among the awards presented during Honors Week ceremonies March 23-26 in Mitchell Auditorium. Students selected for 1997-98 scholarships and other academic honors also will be recognized in programs on the following schedule:

School of Nursing and Health Professions, 4 p.m. Monday
School of Science and Engineering Technology, 4 p.m. Tuesday
School of Business, 4 p.m. Wednesday
School of Liberal Arts, 1 p.m. Thursday
School of Education and Human Services, 4 p.m. Thursday

Receptions will follow each ceremony.

"Beyond the Sphere" explores the monumental strides made by New Harmony women as they broke with tradition and forged a path for women of today. Through artifacts and photographs, this exhibit tells the stories of several New Harmony women who originated from both the Harmonist and Owenite periods: musician Gertrude Rapp, early feminist and publisher Frances Wright, educator Madame Marie Louise Duclos Fretageot, women's club organizer Constance Fauntleroy Runcie, actress Bella Golden, and more.

At 4 p.m. March 29, Ms. Karen Moser of Oberlin, Ohio, will present a reading, "Entrances: The Stage Life of Bella Golden" in Thrall's Opera House. An actress and expert on the Golden Troupe, she provides visitors with a glimpse into the life of New Harmony's grande dame of the theatre world and explores the effect Ms. Golden and her family had on the American theatre. There will be a $3 admission fee for this program.

Other special programs to be held in connection with "Beyond the Sphere" are "The Importance of Journaling" on May 17 and "An Evening of Music with Gertrude Rapp," June 5. For information, call Kevin Moore, manager of development and public programs, 682-4488.

Speak Out for Health:

The School of Nursing and Health Professions will host the Foundation for Community Health's second Speak Out For Health Conference on Tuesday, March 31, featuring Mr. Tyler Norris, director of the Coalition for Healthier Cities and Communities in the United States. The day-long program will begin at 8:30 a.m. in Carter Hall.

Mr. Norris is a nationally-known community health facilitator and senior associate of the National Civic League. He has worked with more than 100 communities in the U.S.

Genetics and bioethics to be USI lecture topics

The USI Biology-at-the-Interface series will present two nationally-known scholars in early April lectures on genetics and bioethics. The event will honor the 75th birthday of Dr. Margery Shaw, former director of the Medical Genetics Center at the University of Texas, Houston, who has retired and returned to her native Evansville to live. She was honored with the conferral of an honorary Doctor of Science degree at the 1986 USI Commencement.

The lectures at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 2, in Mitchell Auditorium will feature Philip Reilly, J.D., M.D., president and CEO of Shriver Center for Mental Retardation in Waltham, Massachusetts, and Mary Faith Marshall, Ph.D., director of the Program in Bioethics at the Medical University of South Carolina, Charleston.

Dr. Reilly will discuss "The Genetics Revolution: What Does It Mean For You?" focusing on the impact of gene discoveries on the patient-doctor level of medical practice and on a person's opportunities for insurance and employment. Dr. Marshall's topic will be "Situation Ethics Revisited: A Perspective on Current Bioethical Dilemmas," focusing on substance abuse by the pregnant woman and on end-of-life decisions.

The public is invited to the free lectures; tickets or reservations are not needed. The series is sponsored by the USI Biology Department and School of Science and Engineering Technology, and is coordinated by Dr. Marlene V. Shaw, professor of biology (no relation to Dr. Margery Shaw).

After graduation from Columbia Law School in 1973, Dr. Reilly spent two years as a research associate in the UT laboratory of his mentor, Dr. Margery Shaw, then went on to medical school at Yale University. He visited USI in March 1986 as the first Biology-at-the-Interface lecturer. Dr. Marshall wrote her doctoral dissertation in religious studies at the University of Virginia on the evolution of Joseph Fletcher's ethical thought. Dr. Fletcher was a mentor and dear friend of Dr. Margery Shaw.

"Biology-at-the-Interface is pleased to celebrate the intellectual lineage of these accomplished professionals," Dr. Marlene Shaw noted.

and abroad, and contracts his services to the U.S. Public Health Service, Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the Environmental Protection Agency.

The March 31 program also will feature reports on:

- Business, government, and civic activity for a healthier environment
- Partnerships that have built the Community Health Steering Committee
- Health-related accomplishments since the first Speak Our for Health meeting in 1995, including more than $1 million in community health initiatives

- 1997 community health audit on the cost of health risk behavior in Vanderburgh County
- The building blocks to create health and help Evansville determine how to use its resources to optimize health

The USI community is invited to attend the program, which is intended to bring key community leaders together to develop a vision of what Evansville can achieve. The program is free; reservations are requested and can be made by calling 464-1708.

Speaker on Islam

Dr. Sayyid M. Syeed will give a public lecture, "Islam in America: A Misunderstood Religion" at 6 p.m. Thursday, April 2, in Carter Hall. He will also be a guest lecturer in the HUM 241 (Western Civilization) class at 10 a.m. Friday, April 3. Dr. Syeed is the general secretary of the Islamic Society of North America (ISNA), an organization based in Plainfield, Indiana, with 300 affiliates in the U.S. and Canada. His visit to USI and to Evansville is being organized by Dr. Munir Quddus, chair of the Economics and Finance Department, with support from Academic Affairs and the University Core Curriculum program.

Names in the news:

Ms. Carolyn Roth, special part-time instructor in art, is exhibiting four watercolors, "Foreign Shores," "Suspicion," "Regeneration," and "Private Devotions" in an exhibition titled "The Image of the Human Form" at ARTLINK, Inc., Gallery of Contemporary Art in Fort Wayne, Indiana. The exhibition began March 6 and will continue through April 9.

Student Worker Appreciation Day

Don't forget Student Worker Appreciation Day is Friday, March 27. Do something nice for your student worker.

USI salutes all student workers for their contributions to the University!

Teaching faculty:

Please announce to your classes that April 6 to 17 are the dates of pre-registration for 1998 summer and fall classes. The date and time that a student is individually eligible to enroll can be found at the front of the Schedule of Classes. Please encourage your students to pre-register.

Dr. Jane Johansen, associate professor of business education, has been accepted to attend the Indiana Global Business Conference September 29 at Kelley School of Business, Indiana University. The Center for International Business Education and Research will fund her attendance at the seminar on "Doing Business in Europe: After the Introduction of the Euro."

Mrs. Kelly J. Bradford, English specialist, Mrs. Joan T. DeVillez, extended program specialist, and Mrs. Nancy M. Myers, mathematics specialist, all in Academic Skills, attended the National Association for Developmental Education (NADE) conference March 4-8 in Atlanta. Mrs. Bradford made the presentation "Ingredients for Success: Spice, Spice, and More Spice." Mrs. Myers made the presentation "Relax...It's Just Math."

Speckner fund:

Contributions are being accepted in the USI Family Fund managed by the USI Foundation to aid the family of Mr. Jeremiah Speckner, a 1997 Presidential Scholar from Seymour, Indiana, who was critically injured in a fall from the bed of a pickup truck. The accident happened on Clarke Lane. Speckner is listed as improved, but still in serious condition at Deaconess Hospital. Mrs. Speckner said they haven't seen much change, however, and Jeremiah "still needs everyone's prayers." Contributions in this instance are not tax deductible, but are very much needed because Jeremiah's accident occurred at a time when family circumstance created a gap in health insurance coverage.

Sympathy:

The University community extends sympathy to Mr. Gary E. May, associate professor of social work, and his wife Peggy in the death March 12 of her father, Mr. Robert Speer, 76, of Haubstadt.

The University community extends sympathy to the family of Mr. John T. Ferrell, 60, of Evansville, who died March 9. He was a CPA and formerly taught at USI. A member of Tau Kappa Epsilon, he also was an advisor to the USI chapter.

Congratulations...

to Mr. William H. Davidson, lecturer in communications, and his wife Lois on the birth March 16 of a grandson, Andrew Michael Davidson of Evansville.

Student Health Fair:

The Student Health Fair will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Wednesday, April 1, on the first floor of the Health Professions Center, sponsored by the School of Nursing and Health Professions and the Deaconess Student Health Center. Fair committee chairs are Ms. Angie Heifner, Ms. Jennifer Rutter, and Mr. Lawrence Fenol.

Mrs. Jeraldne Leach, instructor in respiratory therapy and faculty sponsor, said the emphasis will be on wellness. Students in dental assisting and hygiene, health services, nursing, occupational therapy and OT assisting, radiologic technology, and respiratory therapy will provide fellow USI students and the public with information and activities stressing illness prevention and healthy living habits.

Participants can expect blood pressure checks from nursing students, a "no smoking" campaign from respiratory therapy students, and dental education on good oral health and hygiene habits.

Spring show '98

The Mid-America Singers and Band will present their Spring Show '98 at 7:30 p.m. (a time change from the USI March calendar) Saturday, March 21, in Forum I. The concert will feature the music and high-impact choreography that has made the Singers popular with Tri-State audiences the past 28 years. The concert also will include several solo and group selections by cast members that have been auditioned especially for this concert.

Mr. Daniel R. Craig, assistant professor of music and the group's conductor, said, "This year's Mid-America Singers and Band concert will be especially lively and entertaining. The music performed in this concert is a great blend of intense energy and simple beauty. The musical selections range from the sounds of explosive pop and rock, to the more harmonically rich a cappella jazz standards that have become a signature of the ensemble's sound."

Tickets may be purchased at the door and will be $5 for adults, $3 for children (12 and under). All proceeds benefit development of music at USI. For information, call Mr. Craig, 464-1736.
