FACULTY ART DISPLAYED.

The annual ISUE Faculty Art Show will be held at the Old National Bank Building in Washington Square Mall this month. The show will open on September 12 with a reception from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m., to which the entire school and general public is invited.

On display through September 30 will be sculpture, paintings, ceramics, printmaking, photographs, and furniture design. Exhibitors include Professors JACK CASCIONE, DANIEL ENGELKE, JOHN MCNAUGHTON, MR. JOHN BOTT, MR. JOHN DAWSON, and MR. ERIC NELSON.

ALUMNI ANNOUNCES BOOK PROJECT. Through the cooperation of the Faculty Council and the ISUE bookstore, the Indiana State University Evansville Alumni Association is undertaking a project to raise additional funds for student scholarships.

Each year faculty members receive text books for which they have a minimum amount of use. The Alumni Association is requesting that these books be donated to them. The Alumni Association will sell the books to the bookstore and all funds collected will be used for student scholarships. The Association is interested in all kinds of books regardless of the amount of money that may be received for them. These books can be delivered to the Office of Alumni Affairs in the University Center, or persons may contact that office for book pickup.

The opportunity to donate books is also being made available to students.

If you have any questions regarding this project, contact the office of Alumni Affairs, extension 365.

PEOPLE IN THE NEWS. ROBERT E. GEHRING, Assistant Professor of Psychology, attended the bicentennial meeting of the American Psychological Association in Washington, DC September 3 through September 7. Next Tuesday he will be speaking to the Evansville Foreman's Club, at Joe Larvo's Three Coins. The topic of his 6 p.m. speech is "Managing Lifestyles in the Future."

ERIC VONFUHRMANN, Assistant Professor of English, was appointed as permanent consulting member to the World Centre for Shakespeare Studies. MR. VONFUHRMANN is the only American member of this international centre of Shakespearean scholars. The centre has an extensive library located in Oxford and in Madrid and sponsors its own Shakespeare journal. During each summer, the World Centre sponsors a one-week festival for the Shakespearean scholars.

EMPLOYEE PORTRAIT. RITA BETZ, a staff member at Indiana State University Evansville, is featured this month in Employee Portrait. RITA is secretary in the athletic department at ISUE Arena.

A native of Evansville, RITA HEIM-BUECHER attended St. Anthony's Grade School and Memorial High School. She married Wayne Betz on New Year's Eve in 1949.

RITA has been with the University for one year. She was formerly employed as a teacher's aide with the Vanderburgh School Corporation. Her responsibilities included classroom duty, when it became necessary for the teacher to be out of the room; playground duty, about which Rita has some very definite opinions; and school treasurer.

When asked if she enjoyed the time spent on the playground watching the children during recess, RITA responded negatively. "It wasn't that I disliked the children," she replied. "I simply felt the teacher should have been there to see and be sensitive to the students' behavior in a free-time situation."

As secretary in Athletics, RITA sees a lot of sports action. She enjoys attending each of the Eagle's basketball games even though it is one of her many "duties". On game nights, she either greets fans at the front door or remains in her office to be available to answer questions or give assistance when needed. "Attendance (at the games) seems to be picking up," RITA reports optimistically. "I think it will continue to do so as we go on."

Throughout the year, RITA uses her spare time to create crewel embroidery pictures and pillows for Christmas gifts. "I use up a lot of nervous energy doing crewel," she explains. "And the results are a little something I can give friends in remembrance." RITA shares several hobbies with her daughter Jenny, a sophomore at the University of Evansville. They make wall plaques, bread dough plates and are also experiencing the recent plant craze. "When I'm in a good mood, I talk to them," Rita said in speaking of the more than fifty plants in her home. "Actually Jenny takes care of their needs." "I often forget to water or tend them but Jenny doesn't; she's our plant doctor."

RITA has two other children, a daughter Connie, who is married and lives in Carbondale, Illinois where her husband is working toward a masters degree in wildlife zoology; and a son, Kevin, a senior honor student at North High School.

September will be an eventful month for the Betz family. Following a week's vacation with relaxation in a lakeside cottage near Champaign, Illinois, they will be moving to the Executive Manor town house apartments on Outer Division. While living in their present home on South Alvord, they have completely remodeled the basement dividing it into recreation, craft, and family rooms. The move will bring about a new lifestyle. "It will be a different way of living for a while," comments Rita, "but I think we need it during this time when all our family is moving at such top speed."

Employee Portrait

EMPLOYEE PORTRAIT, (CONTINUED). Now that football season has arrived you'll find RITA in Mt. Vernon on Friday nights, babysitting for a very special person in her life, Kimberly Bargo. Kimberly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bargo, is RITA'S great-niece and needs that special aunt to watch her while Daddy coaches the Mt. Vernon Wildcats football team. And according to RITA that's her most favorite "pastime" of all.
