KENTUCKY EDUCATOR JOINS USI FACULTY

For Immediate Release
February 3, 1993

Jennifer Jo Williams of 3156 State Route 2837, Clay, Kentucky, has joined the faculty of the University of Southern Indiana as an assistant professor of computer information systems. She had held a temporary position with USI prior to accepting the tenure-track post.

Mrs. Williams received an associate degree in general education from Madisonville Community College in 1986, a bachelor's degree in computer information systems from Western Kentucky University in 1988, and is nearing completion on a D.B.A. in management information systems at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale.

Mrs. Williams formerly was an adjunct faculty member at Madisonville Community College and a research assistant in the SIU Management Department. She also had been an assistant with Jeff Clark & Associates of Murfreesboro, Tennessee, an information systems consultant for small businesses.

Mrs. Williams and her husband, Dale, a Cumberland Presbyterian minister and coal miner, are the parents of three daughters. She is the daughter of William and Joretta Clark of Diamond.
