ALAN T. NOLAN, CIVIL WAR HISTORIAN

Mr. Alan T. Nolan, an Evansville native who has achieved eminence as an author of Civil War history, will be featured in programs on April 9-10 that are part of the University of Southern Indiana 1992 Community of Scholars series bringing Evansville people back to the city to share their experiences.

Mr. Nolan will speak at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, April 9, in Forum II at USI, discussing his acclaimed but controversial book, Lee Considered: General Robert E. Lee and Civil War History. The book is a realistic picture of the Southern general that was published in 1991 by the University of North Carolina Press. It was the main selection of the History Book Club for August 1991, and a Book of the Month alternate selection for September 1991.

Mr. James M. McPherson, author of the Pulitzer Prize-winning Battle Cry of Freedom, has said: "This book will change our perception of the South's premier icon. With a deft pen and sure grasp of essential questions, Alan Nolan separates the Lee of reality from the Lee of mythology. No student of the Civil War can afford to ignore the challenging and controversial conclusions of this study."

The public is invited to this free program in the Community of Scholars series designed to broaden educational opportunities beyond the classroom. The series was inaugurated by the University in 1986 to celebrate in a lasting manner the attainment of separate university status the previous year. This year's programs are featuring people with Evansville ties.

BREAKFAST WITH THE PRESIDENT

Students, faculty, staff, and alumni are invited to Breakfast with the President at 7:30 a.m. Tuesday, April 7, in the UC Dining Room, sponsored by the USI Student Alumni Association.

Dr. David L. Rice will provide an update on University activities through responses to a panel of student organization representatives.

Reservations are required for the $3 continental breakfast; students with a valid I.D. may pick up free tickets. Call extension 1924 for reservations or information.

CONSTRUCTIVE FAILURES

A slide-illustrated lecture by Dr. Henry Petroski, professor of civil engineering at Duke University, will be presented in the USI Community of Scholars program at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 31, in the Old Gallery at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Science. The program is sponsored by the School of Science and Engineering Technology in cooperation with Amax Coal Company and the Museum. A reception will follow the program. Dr. Petroski will discuss ideas advanced in his book, To Engineer Is Human, in which he expounds on the importance of failure in engineering, how the lessons learned from colossal failures "can do more to advance engineering knowledge than all the successful machines and structures in the world."

EXECUTIVE-IN-RESIDENCE

Ms. Margaret Henderson (Meg) Blair, co-founder and president of research systems corporation of Evansville, will serve as Executive-in-Residence for the spring semester at the University of Southern Indiana. The program, sponsored by the School of Business, will be held Wednesday, April 1, at the University Center. Roundtable discussions with students will open and close Ms. Blair's visit; after coffee and donuts at 9:30 a.m., she will lead discussion sessions at 10 and 11 a.m. and speak at a noon luncheon. The morning discussion sessions and noon luncheon are open to the public. The luncheon is $10; reservations should be made by Friday, March 27; call extension 1718.

ENLOW SCHOLAR

Mr. Anthony Jones, president of The School of the Art Institute of Chicago, will be the 1992 Enlow Distinguished Scholar, speaking Thursday and Friday, March 26-27.

TORNADO WARNING PROCEDURES

Mr. Barry J. Hart, Safety and Security director, reminds everyone that we are entering "tornado season" and USI does not have an audible alarm for tornado warnings. The Physical Plant dispatcher monitors several sources of weather-related information and -- if a "tornado warning" is issued or there is a decision for some other reason to alert everyone to seek shelter -- each building will be notified by a telephone call to a building coordinator, who in turn will alert building occupants.

Weather-related emergencies dictate that building occupants seek shelter in the lowest point of the building (see page 7 of the USI 1991-92 telephone directory) and stay away from windows and doors. Elevators should not be used and movement should be in an orderly fashion.

Censorship in the arts has been the theme of the 1992 program. Mr. Jones' topic for the initial program at 7 p.m. March 26 in Forum I will be "Stars and Bras: A Report from the Trenches," dealing with the Art Institute's difficulties during a 1989 censorship battle over a student art show entry involving the American flag. On March 27, Mr. Jones will tour USI art facilities and speak at 12 noon in Forum II on "Charles Rennie Mackintosh: In Pursuit of Perfection." The public is invited to both programs.

NEWMAN LECTURER

The Rev. Jerome Kodell, OSB, abbot of New Subiaco Abbey in Subiaco, Arkansas, will deliver the 1992 John Henry Cardinal Newman Lecture at 7 p.m. Monday, March 30, in Forum III. The public is invited to the free program sponsored by USI Newman Ministries, the Catholic student organization. Lecturers are chosen with a view toward bringing to the campus those who can illuminate the positive relationships between spirituality and scholarship, and who can help establish links between the University community and the Christian community in southern Indiana.

Dr. Gordon began his investigations into the Kennedy and King assassinations while studying for his master's and doctoral degrees at Indiana University. The assassi-

Mr. Nolan's first major work was The Iron Brigade, a military history published in 1961 by Macmillan Company; second and third editions were published respectively by the State Historical Society of Wisconsin in 1975 and the Historical Society of Michigan and Hardscrabble Books in 1983. The Iron Brigade has been named by Civil War Times Illustrated as one of the "100 best books ever written on the Civil War." It remains in print after 30 years.

Mr. Nolan is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Indiana Historical Society, a Fellow of the Company of Military Historians, a founder and former president of the Indianapolis Civil War Round Table, and formerly was a director of the Association for the Preservation of Civil War Sites. Mr. Nolan was born in Evansville in January 1923, and attended St. Benedict and Stanley Hall schools before the family moved to Indianapolis when his father, Mr. Val Nolan, was named U.S. attorney for Indiana. The father was Evansville city attorney prior to that appointment. Mr. Nolan's mother, Mrs. Jeanette Covert Nolan, was a prolific writer who had been an Evansville newspaperwoman before her marriage and later wrote children's books and detective stories and other fiction for adults. Fifty of her books were published.

Barber, chair of the Philosophy and Political Science department, discussed changes in the former Soviet Union at a meeting March 18 of the Downtown Optimist Club.

Pitzer, professor of history and director of the USI Center for Communal Studies, chaired the session on the Harmony Society of George Rapp at the Popular Culture Association conference March 21 in Louisville, and presented his paper, "Harmonist Schismatic Communarians." The session was dedicated to the memory and work of Mr. Karl J. R. Arndt of Clark University, Harmonist scholar who published nine books and many articles on the Harmony Society founded in 1814 in New Harmony, Indiana. He died in October 1991 at age 88. Ms. Leigh Ann Chamness of Historic Southern Indiana Project also presented her paper on "The Secession of Dr. Christoph Mueller from the Harmony Society" at this session.

They were accompanied by Mr. Keith G. Benedict, instructor in mechanical engineering technology and faculty advisor for the two students' senior project.
