10:30 a.m.-1 p.m. -- Brunch, UC Dining Room

Tickets for the picnic are $12 for adults, $2 for students and children; soccer tickets are $2 for adults, with students and children admitted free; Sunday brunch tickets are $7 for adults, $3.50 for students and children. Call the Office of Special Events, extension 1654, for tickets or information.

LABOR-MANAGEMENT PROGRAM TO FEATURE RETURN OF FORD

Representatives of Ford Motor Company's Louisville Assembly Plant will return to USI Thursday, October 3, to discuss "Employee Involvement -- How Well Does It Wear Over the Years?"

The program -- to be held from 8:15 to 11:30 a.m. in the University Center -- is sponsored by the Southern Indiana Labor-Management Education Forum in response to participant queries on whether labor-management cooperation keeps working over the long term, during good and bad times. Mr. Tom Ryan, Ford Industrial Relations manager in Louisville, will be the speaker.

The Ford spokesmen first appeared here in September 1988, initiating the highly successful "Partners for Success" series in which several companies discussed efforts to turn their organizations around through labor-management cooperation.

Mr. Ryan notes the labor-management climate at the Louisville plant in 1979 "represented what was bad about the automobile industry -- low morale, high absenteeism, adversarial relations. The plant ranked as one of the worst in the Ford system." During the '80s, the plant won the rights to produce the Ford Ranger truck and is considered the industry's benchmark for quality and productivity today. Employee involvement is credited with the turn-around. In spite of greater domestic and foreign competition and one of the worst recessions in automobile industry experience, the Louisville plant has expanded production to include the popular Ford Explorer and a new truck for Mazda.

Seating will be limited for the October 3 program and early registration is recommended; call extension 1989. There is a $5 registration fee (waived for USI employees). For information on the program, contact Mr. Tim Mahoney, coordinator of the Southern Indiana Labor-Management Education Forum headquartered at USI, extension 1863.
EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

"HOW WE LOOK" WORKSHOPS CROSSING SOUTHERN INDIANA

A series of five workshops on the topic, "How We Look," will be held September 24 and 25 across southern Indiana as part of the Historic Southern Indiana Project effort to preserve, develop, and promote historic, scenic, and natural resources of the area.

Dr. Darrel E. Bigham, professor of history and HSI director, said the series is co-sponsored by the National Trust for Historic Preservation and the Indiana Department of Commerce and will feature Mr. Edward T. McMahon, director of the

ENERGY SAVINGS

Mr. Stephen P. Helfrich, Physical Plant director, reports that for the months of July and August -- the first two months of the University's energy conservation plan -- the University has saved over $19,138 in electricity costs.

"Although everyone has been a little uncomfortable, the savings represent a 16 percent reduction compared to 1990 costs," Mr. Helfrich said. "We have saved this money even though this year has been much warmer than average. Hopefully, the cool fall weather will soon be here. Thanks to everyone who is helping to make this program a success!"

American Greenways Program of the Conservation Fund. Mr. McMahon previously was president of Scenic America, a Washington-based group committed to preserving U.S. scenic beauty and cleaning up visual pollution.

The first workshop will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday, September 24, in The Evansville Courier community room. Four other workshops are slated in Vincennes, Corydon, Jeffersonville, and Madison, in an effort to reach a larger audience. Workshop reservations are requested by 12 noon Monday, September 23; call extension 7014.

Mr. McMahon will use a 45-minute slide presentation to illustrate programs that have worked elsewhere in the United States. His message is that quality of life is closely tied to the appearance of our surroundings; visual pollution erodes natural, architectural, and cultural diversity and destroys sense of place; ugliness is costly, as it lowers property values, wastes energy, hurts tourism, encourages litter, and causes businesses to seek more attractive locations. Mr. McMahon will be asked to comment on southern Indiana and individual communities and the scope and quality of current local/state regulations.

Mr. McMahon assumed duties with the American Greenways Program on September 5. For the past year, he was a Visiting Fellow at the Environmental Law Institute in Washington and before that, was president of Scenic America for several years. He is an attorney and taught at Georgetown Law School from 1977 to 1986. Mr. McMahon is the author of eight books and numerous articles, wrote and produced a series of educational films for Random House, and was co-recipient of the Peabody Award for work on CBS's national news program, Sixty Minutes.

NAMES IN THE NEWS. Mr. Paul E. Bennett, associate professor of electrical engineering technology, was elected chair of the International Division, American Society for Engineering Education, at the group's recent annual conference. The mission of the Division is to foster international exchange of information on engineering education.

ELEEMOSYNARY TO CLOSE SEASON FOR THE NEW HARMONY THEATRE

The New Harmony Theatre's highly successful Season '91 will close in October with the presentation of Lee Blessing's tragicomedy, Eleemosynary. The play will open on Friday, October 4, and run through October 26 at Murphy Auditorium in New Harmony. Curtain time is 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays and 2 p.m. Sundays.

Tickets for this final production are $10, with a special rate available for parties of 20 or more. A USI student rate of $3 is available, limited to one-per-student; students are asked to make reservations with the Liberal Arts office and show University ID when picking up their tickets at the box office. For information or tickets, call extension 1635. The New Harmony box office, 812/682-3115, will open in October.

Board the Bus...

This is the last opportunity in Season '91 to join The New Harmony Theatre's "opening night" theatre patrons society -- Coach and Cuisine -- for tasty food, light-hearted rapport, and comfortable travel accommodations. The group will gather October 4 in the USI parking lot, leaving at 5:15 p.m. by coach for cuisine at 6 p.m. at the Red Geranium in New Harmony and the 8 p.m. opening performance of Eleemosynary in Murphy Auditorium. Tickets are $38 per person; if you do not have a theatre ticket, there will be an additional $8 charge. Call Ms. Annie Krug, coordinator of Special Events, extension 1654, for information.

WELCOME. The University Community welcomes three new employees. Mr. David Blandford, chemistry laboratory and store-room supervisor; Mr. Jeffrey W. Flener, grounds maintenance worker; and Ms. Rachel Higginbotham, senior clerk in Continuing Education.

Mr. Blandford is a graduate of Memorial High School, Evansville, and Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Indiana. Mr. Flener is a graduate of Reitz High School, Evansville, and has attended classes at USI and Ivy Tech. Ms. Higginbotham has a bachelor's degree from Indiana University.

THANKS from Mrs. Linda Cleek, assistant director for Extended Services; "My thanks to my many friends and colleagues at USI who have been so kind to me during the difficult time after my father's death. Your cards, hugs, and other expressions of sympathy are deeply appreciated."

BROWN BAG SEMINAR. Dr. Cynthia Bennett, development chemist with Hoechst, a German chemical company, will be the featured speaker for a brown bag seminar at 12 noon Friday, September 27, in L100, sponsored by the school of Science and Engineering Technology. Her topic will be

"Property Relationships in Plastic or the Chemist as Architect." Dr. Bennett received her undergraduate degree in chemistry from Juniata College and her graduate degrees from Phillips Universität Marburg (Germany) and has worked for Hoechst for five years.

NEH RESEARCH ON IHETS. Ms. Guinevere Griest, director of the Division of Research Programs for the National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH), will speak about funding opportunities for humanities research in an intercampus teleconference offered via Indiana Higher Education Television Services (IHETS) by Indiana University Research and University Graduate School and Sponsored Research Services. The program will be aired from 10 a.m. to 12 noon Friday, September 20, in SC194. NEH's Research Programs Division funds projects designed to further scholarly research in the humanities. Sample proposals will be available.

HOT-CAKE BENEFIT. The USI Inter-Business Council will sponsor an "All the Hot Cakes You Can Eat!" breakfast from 7 to 10 a.m. Saturday, September 21, at McDonald's in University Shopping Center. Tickets are $1.50 per person and can be purchased from Mr. Ernie E. Nolan, assistant professor of business and IBC advisor, OC3016, or from any IBC member. Proceeds will be used for a program on business etiquette and protocol to be used to kick off USI Career Week on October 21.

STAFF COUNCIL. The Staff Council for clerical and support staff will meet the last Wednesday of each month. The September meeting will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. September 25 in UC353. All clerical and support staff members are encouraged to contact their representatives with suggestions, concerns, or comments.

KUNSTFEST. The tenth annual German craft festival will be held from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday and 12 noon to 4:30 p.m. Sunday, September 21-22. Free maps will be available of featured events. Tours of 14 Historic New Harmony buildings will be offered from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., starting at The Athenaeum. Historic New Harmony and the New Harmony Kiwanis Club will co-sponsor the annual "Big Whopper" Liars Contest at 7 p.m. Saturday in Murphy Auditorium; admission is $3.

HEALTH ADVISORY COMMITTEE. A Student Health Services Advisory Committee is being formed to oversee the guidelines and procedures for student health services; to appraise current programs and their relevance to student needs; and to discuss coordination of new programs. The committee will consist of the director of Health Services, two administrators, two faculty members, and three students. Please contact Mrs. Sandra L. Lawrence, Health Services director, extension 1807, if you are interested in serving on this committee.

ARTICLES SOUGHT. The Health Services office is preparing an edition of Roots and Wings and invites the USI community to submit articles. The articles should relate to physical, mental, or spiritual health and be no longer than 700 words. Please send them to Health Services, UC117, and include your name, phone number, title/department, or for students, your major and year in school. Feel free to request information on health topics by calling Mrs. Sandra L. Lawrence, director of Health Services, extension 1807.

SUPER SATURDAY HAS OPENINGS.

"Up, Up, and Away!" -- the fall Super Saturday for Kids program slated September 28 at the University of Southern Indiana -- still has room for passengers. Weather permitting, the youngsters will start their day with a tethered balloon ride, then move to the classroom to explore the history of flight, from kites and balloons to jet planes and space vehicles. The principles of aerodynamics will be demonstrated in hands-on projects. The $35 registration fee includes lunch. Call the Office of Continuing Education at extension 1863 for information or to register.

FRIDAY DEADLINE

Friday, September 20, is the deadline to call extension 1755 with any change in room or telephone numbers to be listed in the 1991-92 University Telephone Directory.

SIGMA TAU PICNIC. Sigma Tau Delta's annual faculty-student picnic will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, September 28, at the Grimes House. Meat dishes and drinks will be furnished by the society; each member is asked to bring a covered dish. Call Mr. Eric vonFuhrmann, assistant professor of English and Sigma Tau faculty sponsor, extension 1749, for reservations.

PERSONNEL CLUB AWARD. The USI Personnel Club has received the Society for Human Resource Management's Superior Merit Award for the fourth consecutive year. The award was presented to 41 universities nationwide; USI was the only Indiana institution to receive the award. Dr. Barbara Marting, professor of management, is the club's faculty advisor. The 1991-92 officers are: Ms. Laura Dugan, president; Ms. Robyn Jackson, vice-president; Ms. Pam Graper, treasurer; Ms. Joanna Weber, secretary; and Ms. Amy Pettijean, vice-president for public relations.

REGISTER TO VOTE. The deadline to register for fall municipal elections is Monday, October 7. However, Friday, September 20, is the last day for Evansville residents to see Mrs. Suzanne A. Nicholson, Development director, about registration. She is deputized to register voters for Evansville only.
