McNAUGHTON WINS ISUE GOLF OUTING

John McNaughton, Assistant Professor of Art, shot a sizzling one under par 69 to capture the first place trophy in the "First Annual ISUE Golf Outing." McNaughton, a former member of the golf team at Ball State University, shot 37-32 at the Hamilton Blue Golf Course. McNaughton viewed his victory as "amazing since I have so little time to play golf." We all know better, John!

The Runner-Up Award went to Wayne "the bomber" Boultinghouse who shot a net 70. Father Bernie Lutz and Charlie Bertram received the "booby" awards for their gross scores of 106 and 105 respectively.

Two special awards were presented to Byron Wright and Harlan Van Over. Mr. Wright received the "sandbaggers" award for misrepresenting his golf score. Byron, when asked to submit his average golf score for 18 holes, turned in a 95. He then played the tournament round in 84, a discrepancy of 11 strokes! Harlan completed the first nine holes of the ISUE golf outing only to pull a muscle in his right arm. He was unable to complete the final nine holes. Van Over was awarded several bandaids as his prize for the "Purple Heart Award" (injured in the line of duty).

Following the round of golf, dinner was served at the "Sand Trap" in Hamilton's Club House.
