EVANSVILLE CAMPUS

GUEST PROFESSOR ON CAMPUS

Dr. Barry Beyer, Professor of History at Carnegie Mellon University, will give a lecture entitled, "Inquiry in African History" on Saturday, September 29 to participants of the Division of Education sponsored In-Service Training in Human Relations. Dr. Beyer will be speaking from 9 a.m. to 12 noon in Room 126. Faculty and students are invited to attend the lecture.

2.5% INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

The fall enrollment at Indiana State University Evansville is 2713 students according to the Registrar's Office ten day report. The 2713 figure represents a 2.5 % increase over the 1972 fall semester. The breakdown according to classes is 1073 freshmen, 549 sophomores, 425 juniors, 341 seniors, and 345 classified as other students. "Other" students are students who are not enrolled in a specific degree program or students who are taking classes at ISUE for an interim period while seeking their degree from another institution.

Full time students number 1726 and part time students (enrolled in less than 12 credit hours) number 987.

Male students still out-number female students in the student body with 61 percent or 1660 males and 39 percent or 1053 females. However, enrollment by women has increased by 11.2 percent over last year.

DONOR RECOGNITION PROGRAM REACHES $120,000

Community concern and personal commitments by individuals have made it possible for the Donor Recognition Program to successfully raise funds to furnish the University Center. At the Fall ISUE Foundation Board of Directors meeting Joseph O'Daniel announced that $120,000 has been pledged to the Donor Recognition Program to date.

Major donors to the program include Miss Helen Elliott, New Harmony; Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Fuhrer, Mt. Vernon; Charles Nunn and Sons Milling Co., Evansville; Mr. and Mrs. William Couch, Evansville; the Joseph O'Daniel family, Evansville; Credithrift of Evansville; Old National Bank of Evansville; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Woll, Evansville; Mr. and Mrs. H. Byron Hubbard, Evansville; Mr. and Mrs. William Moutoux, Evansville; National City Bank of Evansville; Citizens National Bank of Evansville; Evansville West Side Nut Club; Mead Johnson Company of Evansville; James Will, Evansville; Bernard Powers, Evansville; ISUE Alumni Association; Whirlpool of Evansville; Evansville Press; Evansville Courier; Roger and Richard Becker of Evansville; Southern Indiana Gas and Electric Co. of Evansville; Savings and Loan League of Evansville; People's Bank & Trust of Evansville; Alcoa Foundation; and Posey County National Bank of Mt. Vernon.

The Donor Recognition Program, a major project of the ISUE Foundation, was formally announced at the groundbreaking activities of the University Center. No state monies may be used for building or operating the University Center complex. The project must be built from gifts, donations, student and service fees and operating income.

The Donor Recognition Program was established to provide opportunities for interested individuals, organizations and companies to assist in the development of the University Center and to recognize the donors by providing the opportunity for specifying the room name and nameplate information.

ISUE FOUNDATION ELECTS OFFICERS

Albert A. Woll, oil producer and President of the Evansville Philharmonic, was named President and Chairman of the Board of the ISUE Foundation at the annual fall meeting of the ISUE Foundation Board of Directors on September 24.
