New Harmony Gallery collaborates with Tin Man Brewery for new exhibit

The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art has collaborated with Tin Man Brewery of Evansville to present the last exhibition of the 2016 calendar year. "Robot Invasion" is free and open to the public until December 17th.

"I invited Tin Man to take part in one of our events during 2015. This event brought about a conversation with Fred Hillenbrand of Tin Man about creating an exhibition with a robot theme," said Garry Holstein, director of the New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art. "These popular culture shows are meant to provide opportunities for regional artists, as well as connect the gallery to a new group of patrons."

The show features robots, Tin Man's icon, in a variety of media including painting, drawing, printmaking, photography, sculpture and video. The exhibition showcases a wide range of student and professional artists, including several USI students and alumni. Featured artists include:

Tin Man will be selling a selection of their offerings at the closing reception for the exhibition. Complimentary food and beverages also will be available for all ages during the reception. The closing reception will be held from 4 to 7 p.m. on December 17th at the Gallery.

This exhibit is made possible with support from the Indiana Arts Commission and the National Endowment for the Arts.

The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art is a program within University of Southern Indiana Outreach and Engagement and is located at 506 Main Street in New Harmony, Indiana. Regular hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday, and noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. For more information, contact Garry Holstein at 812-682-3156 or visit USI.edu/nhgallery.
