The USI Fine Arts Camp, a one-week camp offering visual arts, art appreciation and music activities for school age children from kindergarten through 6th grade, will feature guest artist Gregory Acker of Louisville, Kentucky on Thursday, July 14.

Acker is a professional musician who introduces music to children via folk tales performed on a variety of instruments he has gathered from his travels in Africa and India. He will be with the children in morning sessions until 11:30 a.m. and will give a special performance for students and parents at 2 p.m.

The Fine Arts Camp is conducted at Epworth Church, Epworth Road, in Newburgh. Ginger Ramsden of the USI Continuing Education Office will be available to answer media questions.

The Fine Arts Camp is conducted by the Arts Council of Southwestern Indiana and the USI Office of Continuing Education. About 30 students are participating in the camp.
