USI hosting Southern Hospitality Day on Saturday, October 19

University of Southern Indiana will host a Southern Hospitality Day on Saturday, October 19 for high school students and their families to visit the campus.

Admission counselors and current USI students will be available to answer questions about admission requirements, the college application process, fees and other costs, financial aid, scholarships, and housing options. Tours of housing and campus facilities will be offered, and faculty will discuss the major areas of study available.

"It is important for high school juniors and seniors to know what majors are offered and what requirements must be met to attend USI," said Eric Otto, director of Admission. He added, "Touring the campus and meeting current students and faculty will help in the decision process."

Interested individuals can register for a Southern Hospitality Day or schedule an individual visit to USI by calling the Office of Admission at 812/464-1765 or 800/467-1965 (toll free).
