OUTSTANDING WOMEN HONORED. One hundred and twenty-eight women of all walks of life were honored for their service to humanity at the Molly Pitcher Luncheon held at the Executive Inn on March 4, sponsored by the Metropolitan Heritage Society of the Southwestern Indiana Status of Women Association. The biography and ancestral history of each honored woman was compiled and presented to Josephine Elliott, ISUE Archivist, for the ISUE Archives.

Commenting on the collection, Mrs. Elliott noted, "This is a most valuable collection for ISUE to have." And Barbara Marting, director of the luncheon, explained, "This is the first time a history of women's accomplishments have been recorded for young people to read." They both envision someday having a Women's Center which will focus on women's accomplishments.

MONUMENT FUND RAISING HISTORICALLY DIFFICULT. On Liberty Island, New York Harbor, stands the Statue of Liberty, a colossal statue that represents the continued friendship of the French and American peoples and the spirit of liberty that gave birth to our country. The proud woman has now stood for more than eighty years welcoming millions of freedom loving peoples to our shore. But the statue did not have an easy beginning, as raising funds for the project were paramount. The French were to raise the funds to furnish the statue, and the United States the site and base. An appeal was made to the French people and the response was warm and quick, with lotteries held, and various public entertainment used to raise funds; but it took ten years to reach the goal of $250,000.

MONUMENT FUND RAISING HISTORICALLY DIFFICULT, CONTINUED. Prominent U.S. citizens formed a committee and raised the estimated cost of $125,000, but when the pedestal was built to 15', it was found the original amount was not enough to finish the base. Interest in the project waned until Joseph Pulitzer, owner and editor of the New York World, insisted the American people provide the funds, and daily hammered away with publicity in the form of news, cartoons, and editorials in his newspaper. And Mr. Pulitzer was able to announce the funds had been raised within a few months.

The gigantic obelisk, the monument to the "Father of Our Country," George Washington, also had a long awaited debut that took 36 years, 5 months, and 2 days. The project was approved in the 1848 Congress and $70,000 was raised the first year. By 1854, $300,000 was raised and the shaft was finished to about 150 feet. Then several things happened to slow the progress of the monument -- money troubles and the Civil War. The Washington Monument stood unfinished as an eyesore until 1876 when Congress, stirred by activities of the Centennial year, made appropriations to complete the project.

And other monuments, the Lincoln Memorial, and the Jefferson Memorial, met with similar hard times. But upon completion, the monuments have been welcoming millions of visitors.

And you have the opportunity to contribute to a similar historic monument, the Evansville Bicentennial Tribute. True to fashion, it is meeting with financial difficulty. But your contribution will help alleviate the problems. You can be a modern or historic donor through a payroll deduction plan explained on the pledge card attached to this issue of University Notes. If you have contributed, your gift has been warmly received and the ISUE 1776 Fund has been strengthened. If you have not yet considered participating in the fund, take time to examine the giving opportunities, and make a contribution to what can become a landmark on the Ohio River and a monument that can take its place among the fine monuments of our country.

The pledge card can be returned to Ralph Kent, University Center, Kathy Funke, Administration Building, or Sherri Standley, Technology Building. All pledge cards are to be in by March 19, 1976.
