Openings are available in the final round of noncredit courses being offered this fall at the University of Southern Indiana.

The next series of aerobics, gymnastics, and swimming classes provide physical fitness enjoyment for all ages, while a special treat for youngsters is a trip to the new Indianapolis Zoo on Friday, October 28. "Bubbles, Fizzles, and Poofs!" will be the fall Super Saturday program for youngsters age 4 through eighth grade on November 19, offering fun learning about the gases around us. Other youth classes are available on weather, phonics, and more.

A variety of courses also are offered for career enhancement -- building and leading project teams, effective writing, planning and organizing, problem solving and decision making, and effective leadership, among others.

Computer instruction includes several sections of the popular DOS (Disk Operating System) program -- another section has been added for Thursday evenings, starting October 27 -- along with introductory and advanced LOTUS 1-2-3 and Wordstar wordprocessing.

Call the USI Office of Continuing Education, (812) 464-1863, for information or to register.
