"Maps and the Columbian Encounter," an 80-foot serpentine exhibit of 43 maps and 150 images dealing with the 500th anniversary of Columbus's voyage to the new world, will open Saturday, December 12, in the Administration Building corridor.

The exhibit was organized by the Office of Map History at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and was brought to Indiana by the Indiana Humanities Council. Assisting with the exhibit at USI are Dr. Robert L. Reid, vice president for Academic Affairs and professor of history; the Historic Southern Indiana Project; and the School of Education and Human Services.

The exhibit will be on view from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, December 12-13, then during the University's regular hours until after the holidays when a new public schedule will be announced. The exhibit will continue through February 15.

Dinner will start at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, and at 6 p.m. Sunday. The guests will be entertained by strolling singers and instrumentalists, juggling jesters, sneaky beggars, and serving wenches who enjoy flirting with the lords of the manor. Knights of the realm will compete to see who is noblest and strongest.

Proceeds from USI's oldest tradition help support the Singers' costuming, music, travel, and competition costs. Tickets are $19.50 for adults, $14.50 for students and senior citizens. A Royal Patron may purchase a $50 ticket, with $30 set aside for the Mid-America Singers and Band Fund in the USI Foundation; patrons will enjoy special seating. the American Geographical Society Collection, and the Newberry, James Ford Bell, and William L. Clements libraries. The maps locate historic events in the space of the Old and New Worlds, chart the changing shape of the known world through medieval and early modern eyes, describe territorial struggles of both Native Americans and Europeans, record the clash between cultures and how maps were part of religious and geographical conquest.

The Columbus voyage of 1492 marks the beginning of the modern world. Nowhere is this seen more clearly than in maps of the period, providing a graphic portrait of this historic encounter from two sides of the Atlantic.

NOTICE TO TEACHING FACULTY FROM THE REGISTRAR'S OFFICE: FINAL GRADE ROSTER DUE DATE

The final exam week for Fall Semester is Monday, December 14, through Saturday, December 19. The University will be closed Thursday, December 24, through Sunday, January 3. The 1992-93 academic year has one week less during the December-January break. Thus only three working days (December 21-23) are available after the end of final exam week for the academic action, fee, financial aid, and final grade processing to be completed before schedule change/registration begins on Monday, January 4.

We need your help to ease this situation by submitting each individual class's final grade roster as soon as it can be completed during final exam week. Please do not hold final grade rosters and submit them on Monday, December 21. By submitting the rosters as they are completed during final exam week, you will provide additional time for the required processing.

All final grade rosters must be completed and delivered to the Registrar's Office by 10 a.m. Monday, December 21. Please accept our thanks in advance for your assistance.
