Beginning Bluegrass/ folk guitar class has openings

For immediate release
March 8, 1996

If you've always wanted to play the guitar (or if you played a little, long ago), here's your chance to learn beginning folk and bluegrass accompaniment -- the basics of tuning, chording, strumming, and fingerpicking.

The University of Southern Indiana Office of Continuing Education will offer a six-week class starting Wednesday, March 20 (no class March 27). The instructor will be Peter Ambrosone.

The registration fee is $76, with enrollment limited to eight people. Bring your guitar to the first class. Call the Office of Continuing Education, 812/464-1989 or 800/467-8600, for information or to register.
