ADDITION TO FILM SCHEDULE

The August 29 issue of University Notes had listed the film series which will be shown as course work in a class "Introduction to the Film", and also for general public interest. Please add to this schedule: October 4, Gospel According to St. Matthew.

CLASSROOM APPLIED SCIENCE TECHNOLOGY BUILDING BIDS OPEN

Bids for the Classroom Applied Science Technology Building, the next academic structure to be built at ISUE, were opened on Wednesday, September 5, at 2:00 p.m. The structure was authorized by the 1971 General Assembly.

Deig Brothers Construction of Evansville cast the apparent successful bid for general construction work with Raymond Goedde Plumbing and Heating apparent successful bidder on heating, air conditioning, plumbing and ventilation and Rottger Electric of Evansville as apparent successful bidder for the electric work.

The Classroom Applied Science Technology Building will include classrooms and faculty offices, a learning resources center, and centers for Communication processes, materials processing and power processing.

The materials processing and power processing wing of the building will be a one story structure; the Communications Center, Learning Resources Center, and classrooms and offices wing will be a two story structure. The building will define the academic arc for the campus and will be located in the south quadrant of the arc.

The Classroom Applied Science Technology Building is one of five basic buildings planned from inception of ISUE in the first phase of the master plan for the campus. The first five buildings were planned for specific functions with some areas in each used for general purpose classrooms.

The Classroom Applied Science Technology Building will be completed during the Spring of 1975. The fifth basic building for the campus is Health, Physical Education, Recreation Building which has been authorized by previous Indiana General Assemblies subject to funding capabilities.
