Openings still are available for a class providing parents with tips on being effective teachers for their pre-schoolers, offered in the spring series sponsored by the University of Southern Indiana Office of Continuing Education.

The class will meet Tuesday evenings, March 5 and 12. Jane Scheu, Montessori directress, will be the instructor, showing how inexpensive teaching materials can help the children discover basic concepts of math, reading, science, and geography.

The registration fee is $25. Call the USI Office of Continuing Education, 812/464-1863 for information or to register.
