For Immediate Release
February 10, 1988

Openings still are available in a seven-week course dealing with human relations skills for the supervisor, offered in the spring supervisory development series at the University of Southern Indiana.

Classes will start Thursday, February 25, and cover 12 types of critical supervisor-employee interactions. The instructors will be Millard Wilke, general supervisor, and Angie Lilly, employee relations administrator at Whirlpool Corporation. The course is approved for 1.4 continuing education units (CEUs), applicable to the Supervisory Development Program.

The registration fee is $105, $95 each when two or more enroll together. Call the USI Office of Continuing Education, (812) 464-1863, for information or to register.
