Health Professions Career Expo set for October 21

The Office of Career Services and Placement at the University of Southern Indiana will sponsor a Health Professions Career Expo beginning at 11 a.m. on Monday, October 21 in Carter Hall of the University Center.

The Health Professions Career Expo is open to USI students from freshmen to seniors in a variety of nursing and health-care related academic programs including occupational therapy, occupational therapy assisting, advanced practice nursing, social work, radiologic technology, respiratory therapy, health services, and health services administration.

The career expo helps freshmen explore health-related career options, assists second- and third-year students seeking experience via an internship and/or clinical, and provides opportunities for graduating seniors who seek full-time employment.

Employers recruit part-time and clinical candidates and those seeking internships, volunteer opportunities, and full-time employment.

Further information about the career expo can be directed to LaDawn Buck, coordinator, at 812/464-1865 or lbuck@usi.edu.
