Warren County student studying in England this spring

Angela Dillworth, a sophomore at the University of Southern Indiana and a 1996 graduate of Seeger High School, is participating in one of the study abroad programs offered through USI, spending the 1998 spring semester at Harlaxton College in Grantham, England.

The daughter of Larry and Nancy Dillworth, 312 Debbie Lane, Williamsport, Indiana, Angela is majoring in Business Administration at USI and was awarded an Academic Excellence Scholarship upon her enrollment at the University.

Harlaxton College is a self-contained campus set in a 100-room Victorian manor house located in central England. Harlaxton, owned and operated by the University of Evansville, serves as a study abroad program for the students and faculty of a select group of U. S. colleges, including the University of Southern Indiana. About 175 American students attend Harlaxton each semester.

USI also offers students the opportunity to study at universities located in Germany, South Korea, Bangladesh, Jordan, Israel, Canada, Mexico, and Japan.
