An internationally recognized expert on higher education academic assessment will discuss state of the art programs with University of Southern Indiana faculty and administrative staff on Tuesday, March 21.

Dr. Peter Ewell, senior associate with the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems in Boulder, Colorado, will speak at 1 p.m. in UC352. The program was arranged by Dr. Sandra M. Singer, assistant vice president for Academic Affairs and director of the Evansville Graduate Studies Center.

Dr. Singer said USI is developing an institution-wide assessment program that provides information to update and improve academic courses and programs. The first step of collecting preliminary data from students was completed recently. Dr. Ewell will serve as consultant for the next steps of refining the USI program and developing measures to carry out assessment in the future, Dr. Singer said.
