

MID-AMERICA SINGERS' MADRIGALS WILL LAUNCH HOLIDAY ACTIVITIES

There will be something of a new look at this year's Christmas Madrigal Feastes, the centuries-old celebration to be presented November 29-December 2 by the Mid-America Singers.

Mr. Daniel B. Craig, USI music director, said diners will be treated to medieval skirmishes on the lawn and sword fights in the dining hall, courtesy of the Society for Creative Anachronism of Evansville, a group which meets to simulate ancient jousting and tilting for recreation.

The Mid-America Singers -- costumed as lords, ladies, serving wenches, and liveried servants to perform in a dining hall authentically bedecked with Renaissance garlands and banners -- also will add a few flourishes for their 21st annual journey through the centuries. The Singers will introduce puppets, a primary entertainment medium in ancient times, to entertain the children and present mini concerts of secular and sacred music before and after dinner.

Craig said the program essentially will be the same as in years past, adjusted to allow the new features in the same approximately two-hour format. The traditional Old English roast beef dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 6 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $17; a reduced price of $14 is available to students 18 and under and seniors 65 and over for the Sunday performance only. No reservations are accepted by telephone, but information on how to get tickets is available by calling extension 1735.

KAPPA DELTA PI HOLIDAY GREETINGS

Kappa Delta Pi again is sponsoring a holiday greeting card allowing faculty and staff to extend Christmas and Hanukkah greetings to friends and colleagues at the University. Your contribution will place your name(s) on a card sent to each full-time member of the University community, with proceeds going to the Kappa Delta Pi Scholarship Fund.

Kappa Delta Pi obtains underwriters for the cost of materials so that all contributions go to scholarships. Last year, the greeting card helped to generate two $1,000 scholarships for USI students. Contributions can be any amount and should be sent by Monday, November 26, to KDP Scholarship Fund, Department of Education.

WSWI TO PRESENT CHRISTMASSES PAST

WSWI radio will broadcast Christmas-related programs from the '40s and '50s in conjunction with the "Look and Listen: The Development of Radio and Television in the Tri-State" exhibition that remains on display at the Evansville Museum of Arts and Science through January 13.

Dr. Gordon E. Kelley, associate dean of Health Professions who has hosted WSWI Radio Theatre for many years, will present the holiday series from 1 to 3 p.m. Sundays, December 2-9-16. He will be available to talk with visitors and listeners during the program. Guests are encouraged to ask questions and make requests for future programs, all of which will be broadcast on WSWI, 820 AM, directly from the Museum exhibition. The holiday series will feature such old favorites as Red Skelton, Fibber McGee and Molly, Amos 'N Andy, Jack Benny, Hopalong Cassidy, Inner Sanctum, Gunsmoke, and more.

NEW TRADITION FOR USI

The Student Alumni Association is planning a new tradition at USI -- the lighting of a 21-foot tree that will stand in the second- and third-story windows of the Orr Center and bring the holiday spirit to campus.

Students, faculty, staff, and their families are invited to participate in "USI Lighting a Tradition" at 4 p.m. Sunday, December 2 in the Orr Center lobby. The Mid-America Singers will lead carols and refreshments will be served.

Student groups have been asked to design an ornament to represent their group on the tree. Ornaments should be no larger than 7"x7" and should be turned in to the Student Life or Alumni Affairs offices by Wednesday, November 28.

Admission to the lighting ceremony will be a can of food or non-perishable food item, which will be donated to the local food bank in the name of USI student organizations. SAA invites everyone to join them. If you have questions, please call the Alumni Affairs Office, extension 1924.

WGBF signed on the air in 1923, launching commercial radio in the Evansville area. The Museum exhibition traces broadcast communications from that point, focusing on early radio, the arrival of television, technological advances in both, and some of the personalities responsible for their popularity. The artifacts in "Look and Listen" are supplemented by a photo panel from the Smithsonian entitled "Getting the Picture." Accompanying video and audio tapes recall the early days of radio and TV, along with a display of vintage radios, TVs, and studio equipment.

USI THEATRE TO PRESENT THE BALLAD OF THE SAD CAFE

USI Theatre's second fall production, The Ballad of the Sad Cafe, almost a legendary tale of three people in a small southern town, will be presented November 27 through December 2 at the theatre at 3001 Igleheart Avenue.

The narrator of Sad Cafe remarks, "The facts of love are often sad and ridiculous." This play, adapted by Edward Albee from a novella by Carson McCullers, tells a story of the Junoesque proprietor of the Sad Cafe, her jailbird husband, and her distant cousin, a hunchbacked dwarf -- a study in love and violence, the ingredients pure and uncomplicated. The New York Daily News called the play "absorbing, touching, exciting, and absolutely enthralling -- a notable addition to the literature of our contemporary plays."

Sad Cafe is being directed by Mr. W. L. "Rusty" Mundell, who came to southern Indiana to direct the Young Abe Lincoln outdoor musical drama at Lincoln City and has joined the USI theatre faculty. USI students Ms. Wendy Knipe and Mr. William Hairston have the leading roles as the cafe owner and her cousin, while Mr. John Baburnich, manager of USI Student Data Records and active for many years in USI productions, portrays the husband. Mr. Mark Atchison, Mr. Paul Caywood, and Ms. Mura Hall come from Evansville theatre groups, while the other nine cast members are USI students -- Mr. David Angle, Ms. Darla Burlash, Ms. Theresa Burnell, Ms. Jennifer Hamilton, Mr. Randy Murray, Ms. Consetta Parker, Ms. Amy Reynolds, Mr. Randy K. Smith, and Mr. Daniel Uhde.

The play will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday. Tickets are $5 for general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens.

ety of America and the Institute of Management Sciences, held October 29-31 in Philadelphia. He participated in an Educational Forum Workshop on "Teaching Artificial Neural Networks" and in the meeting of the College of Group Decision and Negotiation. Dr. Foroughi will attend the annual meeting of the Decision Sciences Institute November 19-21 in San Diego, where he will be a discussant on a paper, "Intelligent Data Reduction for System/Process Monitoring and Control," by Mr. Stephen A. Floyd of the University of Alabama.

Dr. Foroughi also has had two research papers -- "Lot Sizing in Group Technology" and "Behavioral Issues for Consideration in Group Decision Support Systems Design" -- accepted for presentation at the 1991 Southwest Decision Sciences Institute Conference, to be held in March in Houston. The papers will be published in conference proceedings.

Mr. Wayne A. Hepler, assistant professor of communications and manager of WSWI radio station, will speak Thursday, November 27, at a meeting of Evansville Career Women, and Wednesday, December 5, at the Downtown Civitan luncheon. His respective topics will be "Media Distortion" and "Ethics In an Unethical Field."

Mr. Larry Johnson, Media Services coordinator, was a co-presenter on "Applying Computer Graphics Technology in Media Production" at the Ohio Educational Library/Media Association fall conference October 25 in Cleveland.

Dr. Donald E. Pitzer, professor of history and director of the Center for Communal Studies, directed the 17th annual conference held October 25-28 at the Shaker sites in Massachusetts and New York. The meeting drew 140 scholars, communitarians, and historic site directors and preservationists. Audio tapes of the 40 presentations are available in the USI Archives. Some of the papers will be printed in Communal Societies: Journal of the Communal Studies Association.

WELCOME. The University community welcomes two new employees -- Mrs. Arlene R. Campbell, senior secretary in the School of Business, and Mr. Chris M. Hirsch, a custodial worker. Mrs. Campbell received an A.A. in liberal arts from Santa Monica College and has been working at USI as a call-in secretary. Mr. Hirsch is a Gibson Southern High School graduate and formerly worked with Hirsch Carpet Cleaning.

The civil rights movement focused successfully years ago on political rights; the question now is how to achieve economic justice among the races. Three possible strategies will be introduced and examined: vigorous enforcement of the existing laws;

Each week, University Notes will include information on health awareness. Learn what you can do to stay healthy.

A WORD ABOUT HYPERTENSION

During the Employee Health Fair, many employees found that their blood pressure was above the normal limits. High blood pressure can be dangerous. It can lead, silently but directly, to heart attack, stroke, eye damage, and kidney disease. In most cases, it can be controlled.

Hypertension is defined as elevated blood pressure in the arteries. As the heart muscle contracts, it pushes blood through the major arteries and capillaries to the veins. It is the pressure within the arteries that is measured.

Although hypertension is a treatable disorder, treatment is usually a lifetime process. Hypertension is worsened by obesity and salt intake, thus control of blood pressure begins by reducing to ideal body weight and decreasing dietary salt. It is also important to control cholesterol level, avoid cigarette smoking, and follow a program of regular exercise. In future weeks, you can read about high blood pressure and salt, fats, and weight.

affirmative action; and aggressive social welfare programs. Books expanding on the strategies are available in the USI Bookstore for $4. For information about the November 14th forum or the NIF, contact Extended Services, extension 1863, or Leadership Evansville, 425-3828.
