USI hosting final spring visitation days

The University of Southern Indiana will be holding the final Southern Hospitality Day for the spring on Saturday, April 20. Admission counselors and current USI students will be available to answer questions about admission requirements, the college application process, fees and other costs, financial aid, scholarships, and housing options. Tours of housing and campus facilities will be offered, and faculty will discuss the major areas of study available.

"It is important for high school juniors and seniors to know what majors are offered and what requirements must be met to attend USI," said Eric Otto, director of Admission. He added, "Touring the campus and meeting current students and faculty will help in the decision process."

Interested individuals can register for the April Southern Hospitality Day or schedule an individual visit to USI at www.usi.edu/admissn/admit_visit_info.asp, or by calling the Office of Admission at 812/464-1765 or 800/467-1965 (toll free).

Southern Hospitality Day is open to prospective students and parents. The program begins at 9 a.m.
