Wednesday, March 8 -- The Indiana Arts Commission (IAC) will sponsor a workshop on funding and residency opportunities for artists at 8 p.m. in The Atheneum at New Harmony. The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art will be the host. The workshop, one of nine across Indiana, will focus on IAC grant programs and services for individual artists in all disciplines and funding opportunities through the National Endowment for the Arts and Arts Midwest, a regional, nine-state consortium. Speakers will include Matthew Graham, USI assistant professor of English/creative writing and a former IAC Individual Artist Fellowship recipient, and Suzanne daVoust, artist in education. The workshop is free and open to the public. A reception will follow.

(For information, contact Curtis Uebelhor, exhibits preparator at the Gallery, [812] 682-3156.)

WEEK OF MARCH 12 --

SPRING BREAK -- University open; no classes.

Friday, March 17 -- The 12th annual Classical Heritage Day will be held from 8 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in Forum I, with some 300 Honor Society, Latin, and history students from Evansville and Tri-State high schools expected to participate. The program, sponsored by the USI History Department and History Club, will be devoted to lectures and films dealing with the fall of the Roman Empire.

(For information, contact Dr. Daniel C. Scavone, professor of history, [812] 464-1725 or 1961.)
