Staff receive recognition awards

Thirty-five support staff members and two retirees were honored with Employee Recognition Awards August 12 at the University's Support Staff Luncheon.

Hosted by Human Resources, the annual awards presentation honors support employees with five, 10, 15, 20, or 25 years of service as well as employees who retired during the past fiscal year.

"This is a very special time as we celebrate the milestones of service attained by a distinguished group of employees," said Darlene Fisher, director of Human Resources. "Their dedication helps USI have a positive impact on each of our students."

Global society focus of meeting presentation

"The Academy: Our Role in Creating a Global Society" will be the topic of this year's special presentation at the Fall Faculty and Administrative Staff Meeting Monday, August 25.

Florida State University's Dr. Melvin T. Stith, dean of the College of Business, and Jim Moran, professor of business administration, will be the guest speakers.

Under Stith's leadership, the College of Business at Florida State, Tallahassee, has earned a U.S. News and World Report top-40 ranking among undergraduate programs in the country. He holds an M.B.A. and Ph.D. from the School of Management at Syracuse University and completed his undergraduate education at Norfolk State University.

In partnership with the Jim Moran Institute of Global Entrepreneurship, Florida State's College of Business offers an entrepreneurship major. Established in 1995 through generous contributions from Moran, his wife Jan, and JM Family Enterprises Inc., the institute also received a major grant from the State of Florida, creating a fully funded endowment.

The first automobile dealer featured on the cover of Time

Magazine, Moran is honorary chairman of the most successful automobile distributorship in the world with distribution rights for Toyota products throughout the Southeastern United States. Forbes ranks JM Family Enterprises Inc. as the 13th largest privately held company in the nation.

The Fall Faculty and Administrative Staff Meeting will begin at 8:15 a.m. in Carter Hall, following service of coffee and rolls, which will start at 7:45 a.m. on the concourse.

Lunch will be served at 11:45 a.m. in The Loft and Conference Center. A session for deans and department chairs, "Pro-active Recruitment Strategies," will follow at 1 p.m.

Meeting attendance is mandatory. Absences must be approved by the appropriate dean. New faculty and administrators should sit in the reserved front middle section of Carter Hall. For more information, call 812/464-1756.

Reception for new dean August 21

The University community is invited to a reception welcoming Dr. R. Eugene Klippel, new dean of the School of Business, from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Thursday, August 21, in Carter Hall.

With more than 30 years experience in higher education, Klippel served Michigan Technological University as dean of the School of Business and Economics from 1994 to 2001 and as a tenured professor of marketing from 1994 to 2003. At Michigan, he successfully led the School of Business and Economics in its quest for accreditation by the Association for the Advancement of Collegiate Schools of Business – International.

Klippel holds a Ph.D. in business administration from Pennsylvania State University and a B.B.A. and M.B.A. from University of Cincinnati. His research and teaching interests focus on the areas of strategic marketing management and international marketing management.

His appointment was effective July 1, when Dr. Phil Fisher retired. For more information about the University's new dean, visit <http://business.usi.edu/reklippe/>.

Bryant a new manager in USI Foundation

The former senior administrative associate in USI Foundation is now the office's manager of Foundation Scholarships.

Ginny Bryant, Norris City, Ill., is the first to fill the new position. Her responsibilities include managing all aspects of Foundation's private scholarship program consisting of 360 separate scholarship funds and some 440 annual awards with an additional 225 new scholarships anticipated in the next year.

In her new role, Bryant also oversees management of the annual Honors Week scholarship selection process, coordinates all aspects of the employee payroll deduction program, and supervises day-to-day support staff operations.

"Ginny has been the senior administrative associate in the Foundation Office for the past 10 years, and in that role she's been highly capable of handling much of what she is taking on as the new manager of Foundation Scholarships," said Susie Nicholson, Foundation president and director of University Development. "Ginny's sunny disposition, attention to detail, and ability to efficiently handle multiple tasks made her a natural for this new position."

Bryant joined the University in 1993. She holds a B.S. in business management from Oakland City University.

USI honors dedicated volunteer

A devoted Athletics volunteer has been named USI's 2003 Volunteer of the Year, the highest volunteer honor awarded by the University.

For more than 10 years, Patrick J. Goen has given exceptional service to the USI community. A past member of the Varsity Club Board of Directors, he still holds the position of chair of prizes for the Varsity Club Golf Scramble.

In that capacity, he spends hours searching for prizes for goody bags and raffle items to be given away at the scramble. He also hosts volunteers organizing the prizes at his home.

A volunteer for other Varsity Club events, Goen is active in the Steak Fry 'n Auction and Fall Festival booth. He assists with mailings, works concessions at softball games, and is responsible for organizing bus trips to away basketball games.

"Our coaches and staff know when Patrick Goen is around and helping with an event, things are going to get done. However, this is not the main reason our staff loves to have Patrick Goen involved," said Jon Mark Hall, USI Athletics director.

"The main reason is he always has a smile on his face and makes people feel good about what they are doing. We could never repay him for all he has done for our department."

In addition to his volunteer work in Athletics, Goen has been a volunteer at the University home. His late wife Judy worked on campus - first in Career Services and then as assistant to President Emeritus David Rice - until her retirement in 1997.

With 663 accumulated volunteer hours since July 1, 1996, Goen is the University's seventh Volunteer of the Year. The award was presented August 7 at the Volunteer USI Recognition Dinner. Nearly 300 individuals who donated 20 or more hours of service to the University last year also were honored.

The Volunteer USI Recognition Dinner is an annual event sponsored by the Office of Alumni and Volunteer Services.

Welcome Week volunteers needed

The University will host Welcome Week Thursday, August 28, through September 4. In addition to welcoming students, the event's special activities and workshops help prepare them for the first week of classes, which will begin September 2.

The Office of Student Development Programs and Department of Residence Life are seeking enthusiastic faculty and staff to perform a variety of volunteer roles during Welcome Week, including staffing the University Center Information Desk and Welcome Tents, and assisting new students moving onto campus.

Computer users may sign up for specific volunteer shifts by visiting the "O" drive, clicking the "Orientation" folder, and opening the spreadsheet labeled "Move In and Welcome Week Volunteers."

Volunteer orientation sessions will be held at 3 p.m. Monday, August 18, and at 10 a.m. Friday, August 22, in Carter Hall. For more information, call 812/465-7167.

Amphitheatre named Indiana's best

As part of the second Reader's Choice Awards in the Electric Consumer, Lincoln Amphitheatre has been chosen Indiana's Best Live Theater in a tie with Derby Dinner Playhouse by the publication's "Best of Indiana" poll.

"This award is particularly significant to all of us because it is the result of a vote by people from all over Indiana. Our productions are designed and directed to celebrate Indiana's heritage and the values we share with cultures from around our great nation and the world," said M. Christopher Boyer, managing director, Southern Indiana Theatres.

"We are delighted our fellow Hoosiers have responded so positively to what we do. And we think it's especially significant that the polling happened in March and April, when the voters wouldn't have seen anything at the amphitheatre since the previous August. Obviously, our productions are memorable for our audiences."

The musical Fiddler on the Roof is closing this year's season. Final shows will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday, August 15, and Saturday, August 16. A special $8 per person ticket price applies to the final performances. For tickets or information, call 800/264-4ABE.

Lincoln Amphitheatre is supported by the Arts Council of Southwestern Indiana, the Indiana Arts Commission with funding from the State of Indiana, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Electric Consumer is the monthly publication of Indiana's electric cooperatives. It is sent to more than 234,000 homes, farms, and businesses.

Exhibit opening August 16

The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art will present an exhibit of Carole Loeffler's soft-form hand-sewn sculptures Saturday, August 16, through September 27.

A free public reception for the artist, including a gallery talk, will be held from 4 to 6 p.m. Saturday, August 23, at the gallery, 506 Main St. The reception will coincide with the Summer Art Stroll in New Harmony, when local galleries will host receptions from 4 to 8 p.m.

Intuitively informed by aesthetics and the physical properties of the material, Loeffler's creations are grotesque, awkward, heightened combinations of form and color manipulated to create tension.

The artist lives and works in Carbondale, Ill. She holds a B.F.A. in sculpture from Rutgers University and an M.F.A. in sculpture from University of South Florida. She has exhibited in numerous group shows and has had solo exhibitions in Chicago; Tampa, Fla.; and Mount Vernon, Ill.

The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. For additional information, call 812/682-3156.

The Loeffler exhibit was made possible through the generous support of USI and the Indiana Arts Commission.

Day of Caring September 12

United Way of Southwestern Indiana will host its annual Day of Caring September 12, and USI is seeking volunteer participants to assist nonprofit agencies in Vanderburgh, Warrick, and Spencer counties.

Volunteer opportunities vary and include assisting agency clients or day care; general yard work, repair, or painting; computer work; and cleaning.

The Day of Caring will begin with the United Way Kick-off Campaign Breakfast at the Executive Inn in downtown Evansville. Following the breakfast, volunteers will report for their assignments.

USI employees interested in participating in The Day of Caring should contact Trisha Kennedy, assistant director of Alumni and Volunteer Services, 812/465-1215.

Participants will receive a "Day of Caring Volunteer Opportunities Booklet" and a Volunteer Survey Form. Prospective volunteers then may use the booklet to select three area agencies as potential sites.

Survey forms also must be approved by the appropriate supervisor or manager and returned to Kennedy no later than Friday, August 22.

Employees receiving advance written approval from their supervisors for volunteering in the Day of Caring will receive regular pay for the day and will not be required to take personal vacation or comp time. Some half-day agency assignments also may be available.

The earlier requests are submitted to Kennedy, the more likely volunteers will be assigned to one of their preferred agencies. Assignments are made on a first-come first-served basis by the United Way.

Participants each will receive a Day of Caring t-shirt and will be notified of their assignments a week before the event.

FYI

Food drive

The Staff Council Employee Relations Committee is organizing a food drive benefiting Archibald Eagle's Food Closet. Although the campus food closet accepts all donations, it is in desperate need of the following: peanut butter, canned meats and pastas, cereals, paper products, macaroni and cheese, easily prepared meal items, and feminine products.

Donations may be dropped off at the Office of the Dean of Students. With fall classes starting in less than one month, the University community should be mindful of the expenses associated with school. Many times, students sacrifice a healthy meal.

Anthem

USI's Anthem representative will be on campus from 2 to 4 p.m. September 11. Cheryl McKissic will be available to meet with employees to answer questions regarding their health insurance. To schedule an appointment, contact Angie Brawdy, benefits supervisor in Human Resources, 812/464-1988.

Athletics assistance

The Athletics Department is in need of personnel to fill game-management slots in volleyball and men's and women's basketball. Workers may be asked to help with the scoreboard or to fill in as official scorers. Compensation is available for helping at the games. For more information or to volunteer, contact Ray Simmons, director of Sports Information, 812/465-1622.

Italian odyssey

The biennial spring break trip to Italy organized by Eric vonFuhrmann, associate professor of English, will be March 5-14. Highlights include Milan, Verona, Venice, Bologna, Florence, Assisi, Pompeii, Sorrento, and Rome.

This year's 10-day trip is open to anyone in the University community. For additional information, call 812/464-1749.

Bus service

The Metropolitan Evansville Transit System has expanded its west side service to accommodate the needs of USI and nearby merchants. The off-campus METS shuttle now is operating from 6:45 a.m. to 12:15 a.m. Monday through Saturday.

The shuttle runs between USI and the Schnucks/Wal-Mart/Pearl Drive commercial areas, with service to University Boulevard, student housing, and Golden Towers. METS service also is now available from the Schnucks transfer point to the downtown transfer point until 11:45 p.m.

Academic schedule

The third summer session will conclude Friday, August 22. New USI student registration for fall 2003 will be Thursday, August 28, followed by open registration Friday, August 29.

Late registration will be September 2-5. Fall classes begin September 2. For more information, call 812/464-1762.

Notes schedule

University Notes is publishing on its every-other-week summer schedule. The next online issue will be available Friday, August 29.

Summer submission deadlines fall on the Friday prior to the Friday of publication. For example, the submission deadline for the August 29 issue will be August 22. Submissions received after the deadline will be published at the discretion of the editorial staff.

Submissions for the "Marketplace" column may be made via e-mail to Roberta Fugate, editorial associate in News and Information Services. Other submissions for University Notes may be made via e-mail to Libby L. Keeling, associate editor.
