

DATE CHANGED FOR

FURNITURE REFINISHING

COURSE AT USI

For Immediate Release
September 28, 1988

CONTACT: Sherrienne Standley, University Relations
(812) 464-1902

The starting date for the noncredit furniture refinishing course has been delayed a week to Monday, October 3, at the University of Southern Indiana. The instructor is James A. Sanders, director of Historic New Harmony and an antique furniture consultant.

Participants in the six-week course will learn the proper methods of refinishing and preserving antiques by refinishing a piece of their own furniture. The registration fee is $60. Call the USI Continuing Education Department, (812) 464-1863, for information or to register.

- 30 -