Tickets, please!

The tragedy of Sophocles' classic Oedipus meets the comedy of Neil Simon's updated Odd Couple in a USI Theatre season that also includes a free American College Theatre Festival production for subscribers.

For the first time, USI Theatre is offering patrons the opportunity to purchase season tickets. In addition to a discount on USI's four 2001-2002 shows, people purchasing season subscriptions will receive a free pass to one of six productions showcased in the regional college theatre festival the University will host in January.

Opening Wednesday, October 17, the USI season will begin with Oedipus. Sprint Scenes, a selection of short performances directed by students, will be performed in December, followed by The Odd Couple: The Female Version in February. The season will conclude in April with David Rabe's In the Boom Boom Room. (Note: In the Boom Boom Room includes adult language and content.)

With the exception of Sprint Scenes, University productions will be staged at the USI Theatre on Igleheart Avenue. Sprint Scenes will be performed at the Helen Mallette Studio Theatre in the Liberal Arts Center.

Productions in the 2002 Region III American College Theatre Festival will be presented at The Centre in downtown Evansville. The festival competition will feature entries from colleges and universities in Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, and Wisconsin. Students will display their skill in acting, design, playwriting, directing, and criticism.

The subscription price – for four USI shows and a free festival pass – is $27 for adults, $21 for senior citizens 60 and older or students younger than 18, and $9 for USI students. Season tickets will be available until Tuesday, October 16.

"Subscriptions enable theatre patrons in the community and on campus to see the productions at a reduced price," said Mr. Steven Renner, USI Theatre managing director. "They are offered the best seats with no waiting in line."

The individual ticket price for USI productions is $9 for adults, $7 for senior citizens/students, and $3 for USI students.

For more information, call the USI Theatre Box Office at 422-3970.

Speaker to address leadership, service

Feeling tired, frustrated, or totally overwhelmed? One of the country's leading experts in the field of student development and self-motivation will deliver an inspirational service leadership program to faculty and staff Thursday, October 11.

Mr. Joe Martin, professor at West Florida University, will present "Give and Grow Rich" from 9 to 11 a.m. in Carter Hall. His program is designed to teach people how to lead, motivate, and inspire others by serving.

Participants will learn how to unlock the secret of staying motivated, accept responsibility for personal and professional development, and discover that work can be a blessing not a burden.

Raised in one of the toughest inner-city ghettos in Miami, Florida, Martin is a product of his own message. He graduated at the top of his university class at the age of 20. He started his first business at 22 and became the youngest professor ever hired to teach at a state university in Florida at 24.

Martin

He is the founder and president of RealWorld University – a student success resource center. Martin also has worked as a sales trainer for a Fortune 500 company and as a public relations professional for both the state and federal governments. He is the author of two books, Tricks of the Grade and This Little Light of Mine, and he has written more than 100 articles for more than 20 publications.

"Give and Grow Rich" is being presented with the support of Student Wellness, First Year Initiatives, Religious Life, Career Services and Placement, and Human Resources.

Members of the University community are invited to bring a guest to Martin's program at 9 a.m. Thursday, October 11, in Carter Hall. In the evening, he will present "Tricks of the Grade: Street Smart Strategies for Acing College," a program for students and the greater community, at 7 p.m., also in Carter Hall.

Weekend welcomes families

Family Weekend will bring students' relatives to campus Saturday, October 6, and Sunday, October 7. The weekend offers USI families the opportunity to share college life and become acquainted with the Evansville community. The Activities Programming Board and Office of Student Development are sponsoring the event.

"Faculty, staff, and students are excited to have families join us for the weekend," said Ms. Carmen Ahlers, director of Student Development and Orientation. "A variety of events and activities have been planned so everyone can participate."

Registration will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the University Center, where students will find a complete schedule of weekend activities.

Saturday's events will begin with the Third Annual Masters Golf Scramble with shotgun starts at 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. at Hamilton Golf Course, 6901 Petersburg Road. An awards ceremony will be held immediately following the tournament.

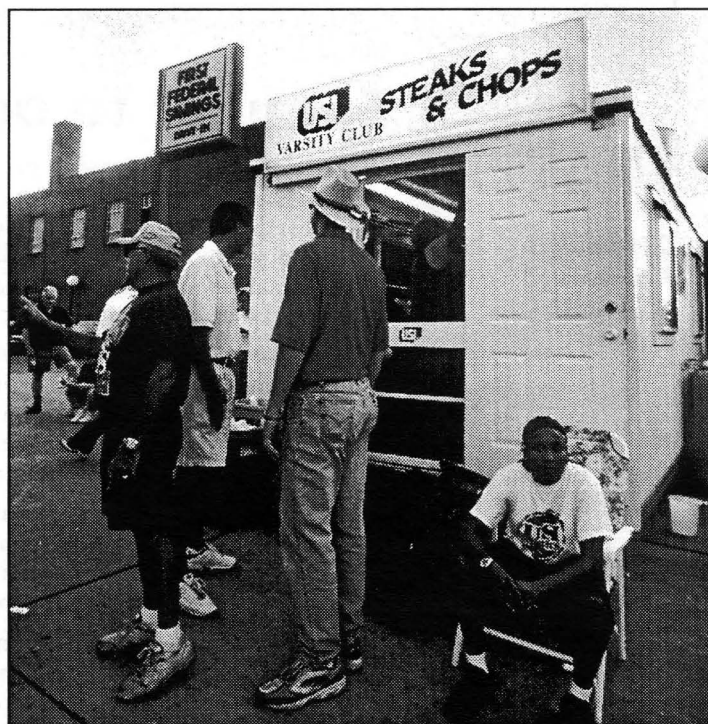

The USI Chamber Choir will perform at 11 a.m., followed by brunch in The Loft.

Mini classes will be held from 1 to 3 p.m. on the second floor of the University Center. Dr. Joseph Palladino, professor of psychology, will present "Things that Go Bump in the Night," a class about sleep disorders. Dr. Joseph DiPietro, associate professor of geology, will present "The Culture of the Himalayas," and Dr. Daniel Scavone, professor emeritus of history, will speak about the Shroud of Turin.

Saturday's events will conclude at 8 p.m. with dessert and coffee at the Eagle's Nest in the University Center.

Sunday's activities will begin with a picnic at 11:30 a.m. at Eicher Barn, followed by USI men's and women's soccer matches against the University of Missouri-St. Louis at Strassweg Field.

For a complete schedule of events or additional information, visit www.usi.edu/familyweekend/.

Members of the Varsity Club sell steaks and chops at the 2000 Westside Nut Club Fall Festival. Participants in USI's Family Weekend will have an opportunity to sample the fare at this year's fest, while visiting Evansville and the University campus.

Student raising funds for firefighters

A student worker in the Office of Advancement is raising money for New York firefighters and their families.

Freshman Andrea Seib, named Miss Flame 2001 by the Indiana Volunteer Firefighter's Association, is collecting donations in a "retired" boot located in the Office of Advancement in the Wright Administration Building. For more information, call extension 1755.

Congratulations, Screening Eagles!

University team raises money, wins awards

USI's Screening Eagles earned the "Here We Grow" award Saturday, September 22, at Evansville's Komen Race for the Cure, an annual fund-raising walk/run for breast cancer research and care.

With more than 500 registrants, USI's team grew by more than 600 percent this year. USI also received the "Largest Cyber Team" award for having the most on-line registrants.

Additional awards were presented to group and individual participants on the USI Screening Eagles Team Monday, September 24.

The following campus groups were recognized for having the most participants in various divisions:

- Clubs and Organizations Division – Black Student Union, 11. Captain Pam Hopson.

- Fraternity – Alpha Sigma Phi, 6. Captain Brett Braunecker.

- Sorority – Delta Zeta, 26. Captain Jennifer Tornatta.

- Other – Intramural and Recreational Sports, 105. Captain Ruth Waller with co-captain Andrea Mobley.

The following campus captains were honored for recruiting the most participants:

- Captain Ruth Waller with co-captain Andrea Mobley, 105, Intramural and Recreational Sports.

- Captain Glenna Bower with co-captain Amber Gerkin, 60, Fitness.

- Captain Jennifer Tornatta, 26, Delta Zeta.

Names in the news

Achievements

Mr. Lenny Dowhie, professor of art, has been invited to exhibit his work at the Richmond Art Museum in Richmond, Indiana. He also has had an essay accepted for publication in Ceramics Monthly, a national ceramics journal that is the one of oldest dedicated to the advancement of knowledge in the ceramic arts.

Promotions and transfers

- Mrs. Deborah Clements, from third-shift custodial worker in the Physical Plant to second-shift custodial worker in the Physical Plant.

For job openings, visit the Human Resources Web site at usi.edu/hr/. Information also is available on the bulletin boards in the front lobby of the Wright Administration Building and outside the Human Resources office, or call the University's job line at 465-7117.

Fellowship applications available

Rockefeller Foundation Humanities Fellowships support scholars and writers engaged in research on global, social, and cultural issues relating to diversity, sustainability, and civil society. For 2002-2003, individuals may apply for resident fellowships at 24 host institutions.

The fellowships are meant to serve scholars who are testing disciplinary boundaries or moving into newer fields of inquiry within the humanities. Although the majority of a fellow's time will be spent pursuing his or her own research toward publication, the residency may involve participation in seminars, conferences, or other collaborative activities within the host program.

Complete information about eligibility, stipends, and procedures for application is available directly from host institutions. Fellowship application deadlines range from November 1 to February 1, 2002.

For information on 2002-2003 programs and host institutions, contact Dr. Peggy Harrel, director of Graduate Studies and Sponsored Research, by visiting Room 104 of the Wright Administration Building or calling extension 7015. Information also is available on the Sponsored Research bulletin board in the administration building's main hall.

FYI

Blood drive

USI's Communication Arts Club will host a blood drive from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, October 2, in Carter Hall D.

Each semester the club works with the American Red Cross to sponsor a campus drive. The drive this semester is especially significant in light of recent tragedies and the nation's impending military action.

Liberal arts

Dr. Teresa Huerta, assistant professor of Spanish, will present "The Subversion of Militarist Discourse in the Prose Writings of Gabriela Mistral," a lecture in the Liberal Arts Colloquium, at 3:30 p.m. Friday, September 28, in Carter Hall.

The colloquium is a free lecture series featuring faculty research in the School of Liberal Arts. Dr. Joseph Uduehi, assistant professor of art education, will be the next speaker in the series. He will present "Development and Use of the Uduehi Visual Art Test Instrument" from 3:30 to 5 p.m. Friday, October 26, in Mitchell Auditorium.

Childcare

The recently expanded USI Children's Center has limited space available in its childcare programs. A few spots are open in the full-time program for 2-year-olds; in the multi-age program for ages 3 to 5, who may be enrolled either part- or full-time; and in the morning preschool program.

The center also offers students, faculty, and staff an evening care program for ages 3 to 8. Evening care is available Mondays and Wednesdays until 9 p.m. Care for school-aged children is available during school holidays as well.

Children must be pre-enrolled. For more information or to register, call Mrs. Pam Buschkill, center coordinator, at extension 1869.

Reading series

The RopeWalk Reading Series will present award-winning author Gary Gildner at 7 p.m. Thursday, October 4, in Kleymer Hall.

Gildner lives and writes on a ranch in Idaho's Clearwater Mountains. He has published 17 books, including The Bunker in the Parsley Fields, which won the 1996 Iowa Poetry Prize. Gildner's other awards include the National Magazine Award for Fiction, a Pushcart Prize, Robert Frost Fellowship, and William Carlos Williams and Theodore Roethke poetry prizes.

A book signing at USI Bookstore will immediately follow Gildner's reading.

Costume sale

USI Theatre's annual costume sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday, October 20, in the lobby of the theatre at 3001 Igleheart Ave.

All proceeds from the sale will benefit USI's Theatre Department. For more information, call Mrs. Shan Jensen, associate professor of theatre, at 421-1846.

Psycho-Path

Lincoln Amphitheatre will present Psycho-Path, an outdoor haunted adventure, from dusk to 10:30 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays in October.

Proceeds from the fund-raising event will benefit the Heritage Hills High School Drama Department as well as productions at the amphitheatre, which is located in Lincoln City, Indiana.

Admission is $5. For more information, call 800-264-4ABE or visit lincoln-amphitheatre.com.

Wellness Bingo

The Recreation and Fitness Center will offer Wellness Bingo, a fun way to accomplish wellness goals, beginning Monday, October 1, and continuing through Friday, November 9.

Blue bingo forms are available at the Recreation and Fitness Center front desk. The forms will provide each participant with directions for the 25-day period. Each bingo block contains a task to be performed. After completing a task, a participant will mark off the space and date it.

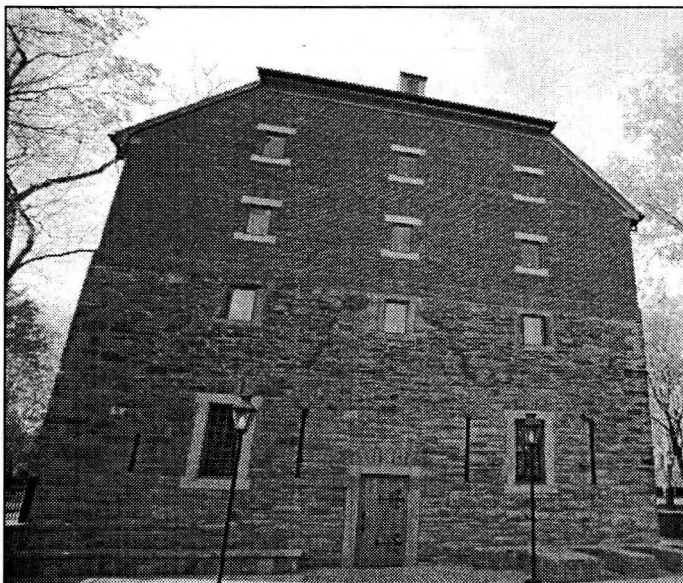

Rewards will be distributed according to the type of bingo achieved. For more information, call the Recreation and Fitness Center at extension 5268.

Granary benefit

The second annual fall Evansville Philharmonic Chamber Benefit Concert will be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday, October 14, at the Rapp Granary in Historic New Harmony, Indiana.

The concert will feature an all Vivaldi program. Proceeds will benefit Granary debt reduction and maintenance.

Two hundred tickets, $25 each, will be sold. Ticket orders may be mailed to: The Rapp Granary-Owen Foundation, 404 Church St., New Harmony, IN 47631. Telephone orders may be made by calling 812/682-4550.

The Rapp Granary in Historic New Harmony will benefit from the Evansville Philharmonic's "Viva Vivaldi" concert to be presented at 3 p.m. Sunday, October 14, at the Granary.

Non-credit programs available

An art workshop for children, a furniture-refinishing class, and a course in equestrian skills are among the many non-credit programs USI is presenting this fall.

Children's Art Workshop

Children ages 6 to 14 are invited to participate in USI's Saturday Art Workshop, which will be held on six Saturdays beginning October 13.

Dr. Joseph Uduehi, assistant professor of art education, coordinates the workshop that brings youngsters together with USI art students and faculty to create two- and three-dimensional artwork, including drawings, paintings, and sculptures.

Students are grouped by age: 6-7, 8-9, 10-11, and 12-14, with a maximum of 20 per group. Ages 12-14 will focus on printmaking. Workshop hours will be from 9:30 to 11 a.m. in the Technology Center.

Participants' artwork will be displayed in the University Center Gallery during the last program session.

The fee, $30, includes supplies. Friday, October 12, is the registration deadline. For registration or additional information, call Extended Services at extension 1989 or visit the Web at usi.edu/extserv/arts.html.

Furniture Refinishing

Family heirlooms need a facelift? USI will offer a furniture-refinishing class on seven Mondays beginning October 15.

Students will learn proper methods of preserving treasured heirlooms and collectibles by refinishing a piece of their own furniture that is in need of some cabinet restoration.

Articles, small enough to be hand carried, should be brought to the first class session. Storage space will be provided, and a list of supplies will be furnished.

Mr. Jim Sanders, antiques consultant, will be the instructor. The class will meet from 6 to 9 p.m. in the Technology Center.

The registration deadline is 5 p.m. Monday, October 15, and the fee is $120. Enrollment is limited to 25.

For additional information, call Extended Services at extension 1989 or visit usi.edu/extserv/arts.html.

Putting the Horse Before the Cart

Learn a wealth of equestrian facts and skills when USI presents "Putting the Horse Before the Cart" on three Saturdays beginning October 6.

Working in teams of two, participants will complete a variety of tasks and develop horse-driving and harnessing skills. Course topics will include the responsibilities of horse ownership, anatomy, ground handling and grooming techniques, and a review of harnesses and horse-drawn equipment.

Each participant will have an opportunity to harness, hitch, and drive draft horses and/or Clydesdales.

Mr. Tom Small, owner of Heaven Ridge Farm Carriage Co., will be the instructor. The class will be held from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in New Harmony, Indiana. A map will be provided to registrants. Enrollment is limited to eight.

The course fee is $210, and Friday, October 5, is the deadline for registration. For more information, call Extended Services at extension 1989 or visit usi.edu/extserv/arts.html.

USI Center will offer depression screening

National Depression Screening Day will be observed Thursday, October 11, and the University Counseling Center plans to participate again this year. Center staff will conduct screenings from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the University Center, rooms 201 and 202.

USI family, staff, and students are invited to view a 20-minute video, complete a short questionnaire, and meet privately with a Counseling Center staff member to discuss the results.

Screening provides an opportunity to determine the presence or absence of depressive symptoms but does not constitute a diagnosis or second opinion. If appropriate, participants will receive a referral for further evaluation. Some statistics related to depression include:

- Major depressive disorder affects approximately 9.9 million American adults, about 5 percent of the U.S. population age 18 and older in a given year.

- Americans ages 15 to 24 are more likely to experience a mental illness than any other age group.

- Manic-depression affects approximately 2.3 million American adults, about 1.2 percent of the U.S. population age 18 and older in a given year.

- The suicide rate in young people has increased dramatically during the last few decades. Suicide was the third-leading cause of death among 15 to 24 year olds and the second-leading cause of death on college campuses.

- A poll following the terrorist attacks September 11 reported that as a result of those events, 75% of Americans have felt depressed; nearly 50% have had difficulty concentrating; and 33% are having trouble sleeping.

Gallery exhibit opening

Ms. Caroline Kahler, associate professor of art at Bethany College, and Ms. Tanja Softic, associate professor of art at University of Richmond, will exhibit their work at the New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art Saturday, September 29, through Saturday, November 10. A reception for the artists will be held from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday, September 29.

Kahler will display ceramic sculptures featuring imaginative organic objects with the properties of living organisms that might or might not exist in the natural world. Her pieces are metaphors for the life cycle. She received an M.A. from Purdue University and an M.F.A. from Wichita State University.

Softic's works on paper feature a biomorphic world of natural forms and shapes suggesting vessels, shells, pods, flowers, and plants. She works with layers, tones, and muted deep colors to create environments that encompass life's beginning and its end.

Born in Sarajevo, Bosnia, she received a B.F.A. at the Academy of Fine Arts, University of Sarajevo. She earned an M.F.A. at Old Dominion University/Norfolk State University.

Web tips

USI's Web site redesign was completed last week. The template Web Services created will work in Netscape and Internet Explorer versions 4.0 and above.

The practice of copying text from MSWord and pasting it directly into FrontPage can cause a problem. Although these two software programs are supposed to be compatible, when text is copied directly from MSWord, extraneous code is inserted into the document as it is pasted into FrontPage, which corrupts the page.

Often, such pages appear to work, and the content developer is unaware of the junk code in the document unless it is displayed on the html screen in FrontPage. These pages, however, may become disabled when a document is edited or changed, which occurred in the conversion process.

When attempting to change font sizes or type styles, or otherwise move or edit text, campus content developers have found commands do not work or do not work the way they intended.

A page may appear fine in FrontPage's normal view but will not display properly in the browser (Netscape or Internet Explorer). The text in the middle of a paragraph may appear in a different font or as a different size, and tables may not display properly.

A simple solution is to copy the text from MSWord and paste it into Notepad, which will strip out all the code. Then copy the plain text from Notepad and paste it into the FrontPage document. The additional step takes no more than 20 seconds. Once the text is in FrontPage, content developers may format it, adding bold, italics, and hyperlinks.

If anyone finds pages not displaying properly, they should e-mail webservices@usi.edu for assistance.
