The 55 Presidential Scholarship recipients -- including 17 valedictorians and six salutatorians who enrolled as freshmen this fall -- will be honored guests for several 25th Anniversary events at the University of Southern Indiana.

The first was a picnic given by President and Mrs. David L. Rice at the University Home on Sunday, August 26. The next major event will be the University's Silver Anniversary Gala at 8 p.m. Saturday, September 15, in the Robert E. Greene Convention Center. Charles McDowell, nationally syndicated newspaper columnist and frequent panelist on Washington Week In Review on public television, will be the keynote speaker.

The Presidential Scholarships guarantee up to $4,600 a year for four years to cover tuition, books, fees, and room and board for students who graduate from accredited Indiana high schools as either valedictorians or salutatorians, score at least 1,000 on the SAT test, and continue to meet eligibility criteria at the University.

The scholarships were inaugurated by the USI Foundation in 1988 to attract the top students to USI. Dr. David L. Rice, University president, said the program "carries a special commitment -- a commitment to bring to our campus young Hoosiers who have shown exceptional academic talent, with motivation and enthusiasm for learning. Having these students on the campus enhances the overall academic climate and thus benefits fellow students, faculty, and eventually, the entire State of Indiana. I believe it is one of the University's proudest achievements."

Presidential Scholarships are funded through private gifts, with more than $500,000 raised to date. There have been two endowed scholarships ($75,000 each) -- JARCO - A. Wayne Place Endowed Presidential Scholarship and Robert L. Koch Memorial Endowed Presidential Scholarship -- with a third in process. Full-scholarship funding ($4,600 a year for four years) has been committed by ten Evansville businesses and individuals. Other contributions came from the community and University employees.

"With the exception of Mr. Place of Jasper, the scholarship support has come from the Evansville area," noted Mrs. Suzanne A. Nicholson, president of the USI Foundation. "We believe there are businesses and individuals throughout southern Indiana who would be interested in supporting this special program for Indiana's finest students and invite them to contact us."

The 1990 campaign goal is $390,000. The endowed and full four-year scholarships will be named in tribute to the donors. Tickets for the Gala on September 15 are $50 per person, with $25 of that earmarked for the Presidential Scholarship program; businesses may reserve a table for eight for $1,000. Anyone interested in endowing a Presidential Scholarship or supporting the program either by attending the Gala or through a gift may contact the USI Foundation office, 812/464-1918.
