Social Security reform forums

USI will host a public Town Hall meeting from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, March 30, in Mitchell Auditorium. The first hour of this meeting will focus on the future of Social Security in the U.S.; local community concerns will be the topic of the second hour of the meeting. Evansville mayoral candidates and state representatives will be invited to participate. Attorney Mark Miller will moderate and report the information from this forum to representatives in Washington, D.C.

Sponsored by the USI Honors Program, the O'Daniel Leadership Academy, the Center for Teaching and Learning Excellence, and the local Social Security Administration, this meeting is designed to discuss the ideas generated by USI faculty and students during the past two months and offer local citizens a local issues forum.

A member of the local Social Security Administration Office approached USI about developing a three-part forum to inform the campus community about the current status of our nation's Social Security program and the possibilities for its reform. At the same time, the Honors Program at Texas A&M University invited college and university honors programs throughout the U.S. to participate in a grant they received from the Pew Charitable Trust to involve the public in a national discussion on Social Security reform, the results of which will be presented to our nation's legislators. The USI Honors Program accepted the Social Security Challenge, part of a larger project, "Americans Discuss Social Security," which is involving students in the most broad-based and far-reaching program the United States government runs. It provides our new generation of voters a voice in a subject that will have a significant and direct impact on all Americans.

Together, the Honors Program, the O'Daniel Leadership Academy, and the Center for Teaching and Learning Excellence held an informational session as the first part of the initiative in January. The Social Security Administration shared with select USI faculty and students some basic information about Social Security as well as the need and options for its reform.

Part two of this initiative took place in the classroom as faculty and students in various disciplines including health care, education, business, liberal arts, and social work examined and discussed the issue, reflected on its impact, and suggested possible approaches to reform. Over 300 students participated.

They will come together for part three at 10:30 a.m. on March 30, in an all-campus forum in Carter Hall to explore areas of agreement and disagreement on this issue. Social Security Challenge has arranged for Evansville attorney Mark Miller to moderate both the student/faculty forum in the morning, and the public forum in the evening. He is certified in national issues forum format for deliberative discussion.

Ozete named National City Bank Distinguished Professor

Dr. Oscar Ozete, professor of Spanish, is the recipient of the 1999 National City Bank Distinguished Professor Award. The honor, made possible by a generous gift from National City Bank, was announced at USI's Honors Week ceremony for the School of Liberal Arts. The award will be presented during USI Commencement on Saturday, May 8, at Roberts Stadium.

Dr. Ozete, chosen by his colleagues to receive the award, is a Spanish language educator. He is known for his successful textbooks for students of Spanish in higher education and at the secondary and middle school levels. Dr. Ozete also has written the grammar portion of Holt Reinhart's high school text used at thousands of high schools nationwide.

Dr. Ozete joined the USI faculty in 1980, and from 1982 to 1996 he was chair of the Department of Foreign Language. Dr. Ozete has directed study programs in Mexico for USI, Indiana University, and Rotary International. In 1996 Dr. Ozete was named Outstanding Spanish Professor of the Year for Indiana. The same year he received the Nelson Brooks Award for Excellence in the Teaching of Culture at the national conference of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages. The Brooks Award is a distinction awarded to only one foreign language professor or teacher nationally in any field of modern foreign language.

A colleague who nominated Dr. Ozete said, "Above all, Dr. Ozete is a consummate teacher. I have observed him and marveled at his originality, his versatility, and his enthusiasm. After 35 years of full-time university service, there is an effervescence in his teaching and professional life that is truly rare."

He organized Spanish Fiesta Day in the 1980s, and it has developed into USI's Foreign Language Academic Bowl, a competition which draws high school students from all over southwestern Indiana to the university in March.

Dr. Ozete holds the Doctor of Philosophy and Master of Arts in Teaching degrees from Indiana University. His undergraduate work was completed at University of Miami.

As Distinguished Professor, Dr. Ozete will receive a grant from National City Bank, select a student to receive a scholarship in his name next year, and deliver the Distinguished Professor Lecture during the next academic year.

Names in the news

Dr. Mark Krahling, assistant professor of chemistry, has been awarded a position in the Summer Faculty Research Program at the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. This program, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, provides analytical chemists access to instrumentation at UT - Knoxville and the Oak Ridge National Laboratory for chemical analysis research. Dr. Krahling will collaborate with Dr. Kelsey Cook, professor of chemistry at UT - Knoxville, on fundamentals of ionizing biopolymers for analysis by mass spectrometry.

Dr. Donna Stieg Wasson, assistant professor of education, and Mrs. Lana Burton, principal of Culver Elementary School, presented "Essential Bonding: Student teachers and third graders teach one another how to teach and learn from a culturally diverse perspective," at the Society for Educators and Scholars conference on March 15, in San Antonio, Texas. For the past two years Dr. Stieg Wasson's social studies methods class has met in a third-grade classroom at Culver Elementary School. The student teachers, who prior to the program had limited experience in relating to elementary students from lower socioeconomic households and different cultural backgrounds, created a social studies curriculum centered on the third graders' prior experiences, own interests, and social issues about which they voiced concern.

In sympathy:

The University community extends sympathy to Drs. Jane and Nils Johansen in the death of Nils's mother, Beth Johansen, on February 25, in Oslo, Norway.

The University community extends sympathy to the family of Mr. James T. "Jack" Riggs, retired maintenance supervisor who died on March 22.

In gratitude:

I want to thank everyone for the get-well wishes, prayers, and concern during my recent back surgery and recovery. - Ms. Mary Hupfer

Thanks to everyone for the cards, letters, flowers, and all the expressions of sympathy in the death of my father, Peter J. Petranek. The concern shown by the USI community was most appreciated. - Dr. Charles Petranek and family

Welcome:

Ms. Janice Flener has accepted the position of government documents library assistant. She received a B.A. in English from USI and was a student worker in Rice Library. Ms. Flener resides in Mt. Vernon. (no photo available)

The University community welcomes Ms. Karissa Rock as senior secretary in Career Services. She was a human resources administrator at rsc The Quality Management Company. Ms. Rock received an A.S. in computer science/engineering from Lincoln Trail College. She resides in Norris City, Illinois, with daughter Peyton.

New Harmony Gallery announces exhibition

The New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art will hold a public reception for artists Anita Powell, lecturer in art; Yih-Wen Kuo; and Joseph Kress from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, March 27, in honor of their art show which opens Sunday, March 28.

Powell makes sculptural vessels based on the human form which are intricately patterned with images such as clothing, architecture, and vegetation. She received a B.F.A. from the University of Nebraska and an M.F.A. from Southern Illinois University.

Using the tradition of ceramic vessel-making as a point of departure, Kuo makes minimalist sculptures that reflect architectural concepts of form, space, and scale. Kuo, associate professor of art at Northern Illinois University, received a B.Ed. from National Taiwan Normal University in Taipei, Taiwan, and an M.F.A. from Southern Illinois University. He received an Illinois Arts Council Fellowship Award and a Pennsylvania Council on the Arts Fellowship Award, among others.

Kress is a ceramicist from Minneapolis. In his work, Kress creates functional vessels that reflect ideas as diverse as geometry, the human figure, time-keeping forms such as the hourglass and the metronome, and the cycle of seasons. He received a B.A.E. from Viterbo College in La Crosse, Wisconsin, and an M.F.A. from Southern Illinois University. Kress received an Arts Midwest/National Endowment for the Arts Regional Fellowship and the Jerome Foundation Fellowship Purchase Awards.

This exhibition will continue through Wednesday, May 5, and is possible through the support of USI and the Indiana Arts Commission.

RopeWalk Writers Conference slated June 6 - 12 in Historic New Harmony

The 1999 RopeWalk Writers Conference will give participants an opportunity to attend workshops and confer privately with one of the five prominent writers from Sunday, June 6, to Saturday, June 12. Historic New Harmony, site of two 19th century utopian experiments, provides an ideal setting for this event with its retreat-like atmosphere and its history of creative and intellectual achievement. RopeWalk participants are encouraged to write, not simply listen to others talk about writing. In addition, several writers will give lectures, open to all participants, on aspects of the writing craft.

Faculty for the 1999 RopeWalk Writers Retreat are Lucie Brock-Broido, Lynn Emanuel, and Rodney Jones in poetry; Sigrid Nunez in fiction; and Scott Sanders in creative nonfiction. Special guest readers are fiction writer Michael Martone and poet Liam Rector.

Ropewalk has been assisted over the past eleven years by grants from Mrs. Ruth Lilly of Indianapolis, Evansville native Susan R. Enlow, the Indiana Arts Commission (IAC), the Blaffer Trust, the Witter-Bynner Foundation, the University of Southern Indiana Society for Arts and Humanities, and the support and assistance of Historic New Harmony.

Workshops and lectures are held at various facilities, including the New Harmony Inn; the Wheatcroft Guest House, which also serves as conference headquarters; and the Barn Abbey. Participants may stay at the New Harmony Inn and Conference Center, the Barn Abbey, Harmonie State Park, New Harmony Bed & Breakfast, or nearby motels. Reservations at the Inn should be made by May 9; call 800/782-8605 or 682-4491. To reserve space at the Barn Abbey, call USI Extended Services at 464-1989 or 800/467-8600.

Tuition for Ropewalk Writers Retreat is $425, including workshops, individual conference, readings, receptions, and several meals. There is a 10 percent discount for Indiana residents. Those who wish to enroll in a second workshop may do so for an additional $200 (no Indiana discount). A non-refundable registration fee of $100 is due by May 3.

The retreat offers a limited number of full and partial scholarships based solely on merit. Send a letter of application with relevant biographical information and a writing sample - maximum of three poems or 20 pages of fiction - to RopeWalk Scholarship, University of Southern Indiana, 8600 University Boulevard, Evansville, IN 47712.

Public conference events - locations will be announced

Sunday, June 6 - 7:30 p.m., Liam Rector poetry reading; 8:30 p.m., reception.

Monday, June 8 - 7 p.m., readings by Lucie Brock-Broido and Sigrid Nunez; 8:30 p.m., reception.

Tuesday, June 9 - 7 p.m., readings by Lynn Emanuel and Rodney Jones. Wednesday, June 10 - 7 p.m., - reading by Michael Martone; 8 p.m., reception.

Friday - 6 p.m., reading by Scott Sanders; 7:30 p.m. closing dinner (there will be a charge for dinner and reservations are required).
