Board approves new majors — H. Lee Cooper to be USI Commencement speaker; Cooper, Suhrheinrich, Torrington to be honored

Evansville business and banking leader Mr. H. Lee Cooper, chairman of the board of CNB Bancshares, Inc., was announced Monday as speaker for USI's 1998 Commencement, which will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday, May 9, at Roberts Stadium.

H. Lee Cooper

The announcement came at the March Board of Trustees meeting, when the Board approved conferral of honorary degrees on Mr. Cooper and two Evansville civic leaders, Mr. W. Paul Torrington, former Mead Johnson & Co. executive, and Mrs. Dallas Bower Suhrheinrich, former Evansville educator. The Board also approved nearly 1,000 USI students as candidates for master, bachelor, and associate degrees at the May ceremony.

Mr. Cooper was with Citizens National Bank and its holding company, CNB Bancshares, Inc., for 30 years. He stepped down as president of Citizens in 1986, and retired as chief executive officer of CNB in March 1997 and as a Citizens employee in January 1998. He continues with the bank as a consultant.

Mr. Cooper received a B.S. in business from Miami University, Ohio, and an M.B.A. from the University of California, Berkeley. He was with Northern Trust Company Bank of Chicago for four years prior to joining Citizens in 1968.

His community activities include being a member of the USI Foundation Advisory Council and a member and chairman of the board of Deaconess Hospital Foundation, HBI Acquisition Company, and Youth Resources of Southwestern Indiana, Inc. He is a member and former chairman of the board at the University of Evansville; board member and treasurer of Deaconess Hospital Corporation; and a board member of American Bankers Association, Citizens Bank of Kentucky, Citizens Insurance of Evansville, Citizens Trust Company of Indiana, NA, Evansville Downtown Development Corporation, George Koch Sons, Inc., Peoples Security Finance Company, Inc., Vanderburgh Community Foundation, and Vision 2000. He also is former chairman of the Indiana Bankers Association and Indiana Youth Institute.

Mr. Cooper was Executive-in-Residence for the USI School of Business in fall 1985. Other honors bestowed on him include the 1997 Evansville Rotary Civic Award and the 1994 Distinguished Leadership Award of the National Association for Community Leadership. He also is a Kentucky Colonel and a Sagamore of the Wabash. Married and the father of three children, his personal activities include mountain trekking in the Eastern Sierras, the Grand Canyon, and Nepal, and skippering sail boats in the Caribbean and off-shore Maine and Florida.

Mr. Torrington was born in New York City in 1908 and was educated in St. Louis, Chicago, and Pennsylvania before he returned to New York where he entered the engineering trainee program of the Intercontinent Gas Corporation, an engineering and patent-holding corporation specializing in the design, construction, and erection of pilot plants to prove commercial feasibility.

He later joined Emulsions Process Corp. and

Jennifer Tamillo is Student Leader of the Month

Ms. Jennifer R. Tamillo, a 1996 Owen Valley High School graduate, has been named Student Leader of the Month for January, in the O'Daniel Leadership Academy program at USI. The program was started in 1996 to honor the students who are providing leadership for student and University programs.

Ms. Tamillo sings alto and is a choreographer with the Mid-America Singers and the Madrigal Chorus. Mr. Daniel R. Craig, USI music director who nominated her for the honor, said she is responsible for leading the group of 24 singers and dancers in several choreography rehearsals each week and also makes up dance routines for the ensemble.

"She has a wonderfully natural way of keeping control of a classroom situation, a very difficult task considering she also is a singer and dancer in the group," Mr. Craig said. "She is a fine example and is well respected by her fellow cast members."

was responsible for conducting industrial process design and development for a wide range of industries. He received a number of patents, including one for a process to extract cytoplasm from by-product brewer's yeast, thereby recovering vitamin B complex and proteolytic enzymes in an unaltered form.

Mr. Torrington installed a pilot plant for his process at Mead Johnson & Company in 1941. The next year, he joined the firm as assistant to the president. He shortly established an engineering department and began a long-term modernization program for buildings, utilities, and manufacturing. Mr. Torrington eventually became executive vice president and vice chairman of the board of directors at Mead Johnson, and managed virtually every part of the company's operations over his 30-year affiliation. He continued as a consultant to the firm and a member of the board after his retirement in 1973, but has devoted most of his time since to world travel. He was active in the community as a director and vice president of the Evansville-Vanderburgh County Building Authority, a board member of the Indiana Manufacturer's Association, and a member of the St. Mary's Medical Center Advisory Board. To assist USI students majoring in medical and scientific fields, he created the W. Paul and Mildred Torrington Endowed Presidential Scholarship in memory of his late wife.

USI Board approves new majors

The USI Board of Trustees this week approved a proposal from the School of Liberal Arts to convert its present communications major from one with several emphasis areas to five new majors: interpersonal-organizational communications, journalism and computer publishing, public relations and advertising, radio and television, and theatre arts.

Dr. Dal M. Herring, Communications Department chair, expressed optimism that changing emphasis areas to majors would help current and prospective students better define the degree program in which they are enrolled. "Currently 480 students are enrolled as communications majors with a particular emphasis," he said. "Now students will identify one of five majors in the department. It will give us accurate information that will result in better advising for students and specific program identification."

"We are preparing students for a digital world and for future careers that don't yet exist," Mr. Herring added. "The new majors better define the academic programs we offer today's students."

The interpersonal-organizational communications major prepares graduates to enter corporate work, particularly in areas in the human resources field where interviewing and interpersonal skills are required. Students interested in becoming professional journalists and/or performing desktop publishing tasks will select the major in journalism and computer publishing; public relations and advertising majors will prepare for professional careers in promotion and publicity; and the radio and television major will prepare students to enter the field of broadcast communications. Theatre majors will prepare for positions in corporate, commercial, and community settings in which musical or dramatic productions are staged, promoted, designed, or produced.

The new majors were developed by Communications Department faculty and recommended by the dean of the School of Liberal Arts, the Academic Planning Council, the Faculty Senate, and the vice president for Academic Affairs. Pending approval by the Indiana Commission for Higher Education, the new majors will be in effect for the fall semester.

Mrs. Suhrheinrich is a former public school teacher who has become Evansville's leading philanthropist, making generous gifts to many local charities and establishing an endowment fund in the Vanderburgh Community Foundation. In December, she included USI in her philanthropy, announcing a $1 million gift to the University's capital campaign. In recognition of her generous gift, the School of Education and Human Services, which includes the departments of teacher education, social work, and physical education, bears her name.

The $1 million gift will underwrite the William H. and Dallas B. Suhrheinrich Presidential Scholarship, with preference given to students in the Bower-Suhrheinrich School of Education and Human Services,

High School Press Day

More than 300 students from 23 Tri-State high schools are expected to attend the 1998 High School Press Day on Friday, March 13, at USI. The keynote speech at 9 a.m. in Mitchell Auditorium will be delivered by Dr. Manuel "Manny" Romero, professor of journalism at Northern Arizona University, Flagstaff. His topic will be "Digital Photography: Images of the Future." He also will conduct a workshop on ad design in a 10:45 breakout session.

The event is sponsored annually by the USI Communications Department and The Evansville Courier Company. Dr. John W. Byrd, USI vice president for Student Affairs, will bring the welcome at the 11:45 a.m. luncheon in Carter Hall. Mr. Vince Vawter, editor and president of The Evansville Courier, will preside over the Tri-State Scholastic Journalism Awards presentation following lunch.

"Real McCoy" in library

A re-creation by Mr. Keith G. Benedict of the "McCoy self-regulating lubricator," a device originally patented by Elijah McCoy in 1872, is on display through March in the David L. Rice Library.

Mr. Benedict, mechanical engineering technology instructor, spent more than 40 hours in the Engineering Technology Department machine shop, recreating the device from the original patent drawings.

"Not only was it a lot of fun to recreate this great engineer's work," Mr. Benedict remarked, "it was an educational experience to learn about an engineer who overcame some severe social obstacles to become one of America's leading mechanical engineers of the late 1800/early 1900 time period. His life has served as an inspiration to me."

Elijah McCoy, the son of escaped slaves, was a black inventor and mechanical engineer who patented more than 50 devices in his lifetime (1843-1928). His inventions made steam engines and steam trains practical. In fact, from about 1880 on, buyers would not purchase a steam engine if the lubrication system wasn't the "real McCoy," a phrase still used to denote the original and best version of a product.

she took orders for her product line FlatteryR flower pots. She will participate in more trade shows this summer including the American Craft Councils show in Chicago in late July. This spring her patented flower pots are being featured in the March issue of Country Gardens magazine and the spring issue of Old House Interiors magazine.

Dr. David L. Rice, USI president emeritus, recently was presented the Medal of Honor by the Captain Henry Vanderburgh Chapter of the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution (NSDAR). The medal is awarded to an individual who exhibits qualities of trustworthiness, leadership, patriotism and service, and must have made unusual and lasting contributions to their community, state, nation, and fellow man. Dr. Rice was nominated because of his leadership with USI, military service during the Korean conflict, and service with a variety of community organizations.

Dr. Phyllis S. Toy, assistant professor of English, spoke to the Wednesday Morning Literature Group February 25 at the University of Evansville on "Gertrude Stein and the Making of Modernism."

Ms. Kathryn M. Waters, associate professor of art; Mr. David Huebner, lecturer and Art Workshop supervisor; and Mr. Matthew Gehring, student, have had art works accepted at Kentucky's oldest competitive juried exhibit, the annual Water Tower exhibit in Louisville. Ms. Waters and Mr. Gehring were selected to receive merit awards by juror and gallery owner Michael Solway of New York. The exhibition, sponsored by the Louisville Visual Art Association, is housed in Louisville Water Company's River Pumping Station No. 1, a classical revival structure and a National Historic Landmark. The opening reception will be from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. Friday, March

High School Speech Meet

The USI Communications Department's 20th High School Speech Meet will get under way with registration at 7 a.m. Saturday, March 7, in the department. The event, jointly sponsored with Southwestern Indiana Forensic Association, is being coordinated by Ms. Liz Wells, a USI graduate who teaches at Central High School. USI coordinators are Dr. Helen R. Sands, professor of communications, and Ms. Mary A. Schroeder, assistant professor of communications. There will be a dozen speech categories, with trophies awarded to the top speaker in each and to the top three schools participating; ribbons will be awarded to first through ninth places. The awards ceremony will be at 2:30 p.m. in Mitchell Auditorium.

6; the exhibition will continue through April 19. For information contact Ms. Waters, 464-1933, or Mr. Huebner, 464-1852.

Welcome:

The University community welcomes Mrs. Patricia Mitref, a custodial worker.

Thank you:

Mr. Joseph E. Hagan, data communications coordinator, thanks the University community for its support during the difficult time following the death of his mother, Mrs. Josephine Hagan. The concern and sympathy expressed during this time helped him and his family.

HP 480XX Internship in Health Services - 1, 2, or 3 hrs.; fall 1998 implementation

MET 387X Process Control Systems and Instrumentation - 3 hrs.; fall 1998 implementation

Honors Council:

The Honors Council has scheduled two informational meetings for current freshmen who might be interested in entering the new Honors Program in the fall. The meetings will be in UC215 from 11 a.m. until noon on Tuesday, March 17, and Wednesday, March 18.

For information, contact Dr. Phyllis S. Toy, Honors Program director, or any Faculty Council member: Mr. Leonard M. Cook, associate professor of mechanical engineering technology; Dr. Steven R. Cox, professor of economics; Dr. Paul C. Frazer, assistant professor of social work; Mrs. Cindy S. Goodwin, instructor in nursing; Dr. Scott A. Gordon, assistant professor of biology; and Dr. Margaret A. Skoglund, chair of the Art and Music Department.

CASH to open:

CASH -- the Center for Academic Skills in Housing, a satellite of Academic Skills -- will open for students at 8114A Wright Building on Monday, March 16, and maintain hours of 2:30 to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday. The CASH mission is to provide tutorial opportunities for all USI students in the areas of writing/English, reading/study skills, and mathematics. All tutors are CRLA trained and certified. The CASH audio/visual library will contain tutorials on Time Management, How to Survive in College, Listening and Note-Taking, and Mathematics reviews.

Rape defense program planned:

Mr. Kelly E. Williams, security sergeant; Ms. Joyce L. Noelle, security officer; and Ms. Glenna G. Bower, University Fitness Center coordinator, have completed training in Rape Aggression Defense (RAD), a program offering self defense options. They will develop USI training programs in sexual assault prevention for female students, made possible through a grant USI received from the Indiana Campus Sexual Assault Prevention Project. The INCSAP purpose is to reduce sexual assault on campuses of participating Indiana public and private colleges and universities.

Library system demonstration:

On March 17, Endeavor will demonstrate "Voyager," an integrated library system being considered to replace the present automated system in David L. Rice Library. Open sessions will be held at 9 and 10:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. in L100. Please come to any session, see the demonstration, and ask questions.

Enrichment camp:

The Extended Services Summer Enrichment Camp will be held from Tuesday, May 26, through Friday, July 31, with camp hours of 6:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Any faculty or staff member wishing to enroll children in this year's program may call (464-1989) or e-mail Mrs. Ginger Ramsden, coordinator of children's programs, or Ms. Marci Liz Tabor, graduate assistant. Summer themes are Entering the Orient, Sounds Around, On Your Mark, and Get Set Go! Camp will be held on the lower level of Technology Center and is open to first through fifth-grade pupils. Swimming lessons will be available for an extra fee. Wednesday, March 11, is the deadline for

TIAA/CREF visit:

Mr. Todd Kephart, individual consultant from TIAA-CREF, will be on campus Monday, March 16, conducting the following workshops: Principles of Sound Investing, 10-11:30 a.m., UC203-4, and Approaching Retirement, 2-4:30 p.m., UC203-4. Reservations are not required for the morning session, but must be made for the afternoon session; call Human Resources, 464-1781.

In order to help TIAA-CREF prepare a retirement illustration for the workshop, the following information is needed with a reservation: social security number, spouse's birth date, anticipated retirement date. Only those making a reservation for the afternoon meeting will receive an individualized retirement income illustration. For information, call Human Resources, 464-1988.

Alumni seminar:

A USI Alumni Association seminar, Maintaining Life Balance, will be held at the University community to enroll children; the program then will be opened to the community and slots cannot be guaranteed.

Research/Creative Work reminder:

March 16 is the deadline to submit proposals for the Faculty Research and Creative Work awards, which fund full-time faculty members' creative work, applied research, and basic research. Proposals to initiate new research or creative work, continue research or work in progress, or complete a project are eligible for funding. Submit the original plus eight copies of the proposal to the Office of Grants and Sponsored Research, AD104H, by 4:30 p.m. March 16 (the first Monday following spring recess). The Faculty and Academic Affairs Committee will evaluate proposals; awards may fully or partially fund a request. The Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs will notify applicants of awards by April 20. If you have questions or would like assistance completing a proposal, contact Dr. Peggy F. Harrel, director of Graduate Studies and Sponsored Research, AD104H, 465-7016.

A test of efficiency may be how long it takes to find out you are wrong.

8:15 a.m. Saturday, March 14, in Carter Hall, free to all USI alumni. Mrs. Nancy Kovanic, lead consultant in USI Extended Services Organizational and Professional Development Group, will lead the main session at 8:30 a.m. on "Strategic life planning." Break-out sessions will cover career/education, relationships, and wellness. For information, call Alumni and Volunteer Services, 464-1924.

Information sought:

The Historic New Harmony staff is searching for information and artifacts related to an exhibit opening in late March entitled "Beyond the Sphere: New Harmony Women Challenge Tradition, 1814-1900." Those with verifiable information or artifacts relating to the following New Harmony women should contact the HNH office, 682-4488, for possible inclusion in the exhibit: Gertrude Rapp, Frances Wright, Jane Dale Owen Fauntleroy, Madame Marie Louise Duclos Fretageot, Lucy Sistare Say, Virginia Dupalais Twigg, Rosamond Dale Owen, Constance Owen Fauntleroy Runcie, and Bella Golden. Verifiable information also is needed on women's groups such as the Women's Library Club, the Colonial Dames, and the Minerva Society.

The exhibit will open Sunday, March 29, at three sites; refreshments will be available from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Owen Block Building; other sites are Community House No. 2 and the Scholle House. At 4 p.m., Ms. Karen Moser of Oberlin, Ohio, will present readings on Bella Golden of the Golden theatrical family. There will be an admission fee for this program in Thrall's Opera House.

Free tax help:

Reminder — USI accounting students are participating in the VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) program, providing free income tax assistance for members of the University community and the public. Students are available from 1 to 4 p.m. each Saturday through April 11 in room 2003, Orr Center, directed by Dr. Kwangok K. Kim, associate professor of accounting, 464-1868.

St. Meinrad program:

Ms. Diane Rivera will present a piano recital at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, March 8, in St. Bede Theater in the St. Meinrad free cultural series offered to say thank you to its neighbors.

Movies:

APB: Face Off, 9 p.m. Thursday, March 19, Forum I; $2 admission
USI spring series: no film March 10
