Presidential Scholar wins chemistry honor

For immediate release
April 5, 1995

William Schlageter, a Presidential Scholar at the University of Southern Indiana, was selected as the outstanding sophomore chemistry student by the Indiana/Kentucky Border Section of the American Chemical Society.

He received a $100 stipend in recognition of the award at recent Honors Day ceremonies at the University and will be a special guest at a society banquet later this spring.

Schlageter, son of David and Geneva Schlageter, 2909 Bottorff Road, Charlestown, Indiana, is a 1993 graduate of Charlestown High School. His sister, Angela, a junior biology major, also attends USI as a Presidential Scholar.
