

USI SCHEDULE

WEEK OF OCTOBER 7

Sunday, October 7

New Harmony Gallery of Contemporary Art: The work of Janet Ballweg, printmaker/painter, and Tony Kukich, ceramic sculptor, will be featured in an "About the Environment" exhibition opening with a reception for the artists from 1 to 4 p.m.; the exhibition will continue through November 14.

(For information, contact Connie Weinzapfel, Gallery director, 812/682-3156.)

Tuesday, October 9

Fall Film Series: The Best Years of Our Lives (1946; 2 hours, 50 minutes; seven Academy Awards) Director: William Wyler; cast: Fredric March, Dana Andrews, Myrna Loy. As a counterpoint to all of the fighting movies made during World War II, this sensitive film deals with the problems of three servicemen as they return to small-town America.

(The films are shown at 2 and 6 p.m. in Forum I: they are free and open to the public. For information, contact Dr. Thomas A. Wilhelmus, assistant dean of the School of Liberal Arts, 812/464-1747.)

Tuesday-Sunday, October 9-14

USI Theatre: The first fall production will be Lee Blessing's Two Rooms, the story of a young woman's efforts to win the freedom of her husband, held hostage by Shiite terrorists. The play will be presented at 8 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday at the USI Theatre, 3001 Igleheart Avenue. Tickets are $5 for general admission, $3 for students and senior citizens.

(For information, contact Steven Williford, director of theatre, 812/464-1734.)

Poland, will be a guest at a 7 a.m. breakfast and featured speaker at an 8 a.m. meeting in the University Center, in the series of programs on international business opportunities co-sponsored by the USI Office of Continuing Education, the Metropolitan Evansville Chamber of Commerce, and Tri-State World Trade Council. Dr. Dabrowski also will speak at 7 p.m. in the University Center in the third program of the USI Silver Anniversary International Speakers Series. The public is invited to each of the programs. A $10 fee will cover breakfast and the morning session, while the evening session is free. Reservations are requested for breakfast and the morning session; call 464-1989 by October 8.

(For information, contact the Office of Continuing Education, 464-1989, or Dr. Walter W. Jermakowicz, associate professor of business, 812/464-1887 or 1718.)

Friday-Saturday, October 12-13

Psychology Conference: The seventh annual Mid-America Conference for Teachers of Psychology will be held at 9:30 a.m. Friday and 8:30 a.m. Saturday in the University Center, with more than 100 participants from across the country expected to attend for the second straight year. A conference highlight will be a presentation at 2:15 p.m. Friday by Dr. Steve Davis of Emporia State University, immediate past president of the Division of Teaching, American Psychology Association. He will repeat his presidential address, "Academic Dishonesty in the 1990s: Data and Dilemmas," which was presented at an APA meeting in August in Boston, printed in The New York Times, and picked up by news media across the nation. It is a report on data collected by Dr. Davis and his colleagues in four years of research, involving interviews with more than 6,000 students, and detailing how extensive cheating is among college and university students, and when and why they cheat.

(For information, contact Dr. Joseph J. Palladino, chair of the USI Psychology Department and conference organizer, 812/464-1952.)

Saturday, October 13

Cheerleader Workshop: USI cheerleaders will hold their annual workshop for Tri-State high school and elementary school cheerleaders, this year co-sponsored by the National Cheerleaders Association. The event will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Physical Activities Center, and is open to youngsters age 7 to 15.

(For information, contact Debbie Baumgart, 812/464-1949.)

Saturday, October 13

Women's Walk: The second annual Women's Walk for Women's Athletics at USI will start at 9:30 a.m. at the Physical Activities Center. A goal of $10,000 has been set for the 1.5-mile walk to raise funds to support women's basketball, softball, tennis, and volleyball. At least 29 captains have been chosen to head the 10-member teams.

(For information, contact Joanie Jost, chairperson for the Walk, 812/464-1757, or Felicia Cavallini, women's basketball coach, 812/464-1846.)

WEEK OF OCTOBER 14

Tuesday October 16

Fall Film Series: Forbidden Planet (1956, cinemascopic) Director: Fredrick McLeod Wilcox; cast: Leslie Nielson, Walter Pidgeon, Anne Francis, Robby the Robot. This '50s style science fiction movie is one of the few big-budget flying saucer films made in the '50s. This film took Shakespeare's The Tempest as a core on which to build a Freudian lesson for technologically-dependent modern man.

(The films are shown at 2 and 6 p.m. in Forum I; they are free and open to the public. For information, contact Dr. Thomas A. Wilhelmus, assistant dean of the School of Liberal Arts, 812/464-1747.)

Tuesday, October 16

John Henry Newman Lecture: Dr. John F. Haught, chair of the Department of Theology at Georgetown University, will deliver the third annual John Henry Newman Lecture at 7 p.m. in Forum III, sponsored by the USI Newman Community. He will discuss "Religion and the Environment." He also will speak at 10 a.m. Wednesday, October 17, in OC2008, giving a brief sketch of how science and ethics relate to religious discourse. Both programs are free and open to the public.

(For information, contact the USI Campus Ministry, 812/464-1811 or 1871.)

Tuesday, October 23

Fall Film Series: Hiroshima, Mon Amour (1959, French) Director: Alain Resnais; cast: Emmanuelle Riva, Eiji Okada. One of the more accessible films of the "French New Wave," this film uses multiple flash-backs to tell a story of a French actress on location in Hiroshima, her Japanese lover, and the dark secrets they both are trapped by.

(The films are shown at 2 and 6 p.m. in Forum I: they are free and open to the public. For information, contact Dr. Thomas A. Wilhelmus, assistant dean of the School of Liberal Arts, 812/464-1747.)

Thursday, October 25

Executive-in-Residence: John C. Anderson, vice president of the Evansville Division of Whirlpool Corporation since February 1986, will be the fall Executive-in-Residence, a program sponsored by the School of Business to stimulate students' thinking and broaden their education through discussion and interaction with executives in business, industry, and government. The program will begin at 9 a.m. in the University Center and include discussion periods at 9:30 and 11 a.m. and a luncheon at 12 noon, when Mr. Anderson will speak. Morning programs are free; lunch is $10; reservations should be made by Friday, October 19, by calling 812/464-1718.

(For information, contact Dr. Emmet D. Edwards, acting dean of the School of Business, 812/464-1718.)

Friday, October 26

Mark Twain's Birthday: The USI Humanities Forum and Student Life Office will present Mark Twain on "My 155th Birthday Had I Lived" at 8 p.m. in the UC Dining Room. The free one-hour show will feature Brian Pease, a communications student who is active with USI Theatre and enjoys doing voices, particularly that of Mark Twain. The public is invited.

(For information, contact Mrs. Helen Sands, professor of communications, 812/464-1741 or 1734.)
