5. First Faculty Party of the Season

A fun-filled evening awaits all faculty, administrative staff, and adjunct faculty at the season's lead-off party to be held this Friday, October 18, at Bishea House, in Burdette Park, beginning at 8:00 P. M.

Hosted by the Humanities Area, this is the first of four such events to be sponsored by the four academic areas of the University during the year.

The overall theme Friday is "Discovery," and the night will afford an opportunity to discover new friends, and to renew old acquaintanceships. Be sure to dress in costume, and if possible, in one of a foreign land. The evening will highlight the three holidays celebrated in October - Columbus Day, United Nations Day, and Hallowe'en. Music and dancing of foreign lands will be featured, plus a late-night barbecue spread, beverages, and dancing.

Let's have support from all the Areas for this initial party of the season. Reservations at $3.00 per person can be sent to Mary Shroeder 507 Roosevelt Drive, Evansville, Indiana 47714, or given to her on the Campus. Please make reservations by October 16th. Maps showing the route to Burdette Park and Bishea House are available, if needed, in the Humanities Area office.

Keep this Friday night open - have a great evening with your colleagues and friends!
