Message from Dr. David Rice President, University of Southern Indiana

Change is an elixir, and the University of Southern Indiana is invigorated. Many changes have taken place in the past academic year. The institution has become Indiana's sixth state university, completing its transition from a regional campus to a comprehensive state university. With this came a change in the institution's name, its governance structure, and its scope. The first master's degree program, in industrial management, was added this year, and the approval of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was extended to graduate level work. Student housing, adjacent to campus, brought changes in the student life program as more than 500 students became residents of the Mid-America Student Housing apartment complex.

Developments such as these are synergistic. It seems that each new activity adds its own energy and spins off in new and challenging directions while creating other developments. We have been fortunate to channel this energy into a positive force, using change as an opportunity for renewal — to improve programs, to reach for higher goals, to better serve an increasing constituency.

In all that the institution undertakes, whether it is in the classroom or on the playing court, the spirit of renewal and rededication is applied. This is the spirit of which Governor Robert Orr spoke when he convened the first meeting of the USI Board of Trustees this past summer. He said "There is a certain spirit which prevails here...which has helped this institution grow and flourish." And as he praised that spirit, he also challenged each of us — professors, students, employees, trustees, and friends — to use that spirit to shape the direction of this University, saying, "We have a brand new institution being created. You will all have a hand in seeing that it comes to pass...as a strong and vibrant institution..."

We invite you to join us as we take up that challenge and enthusiastically work to achieve this newest goal.

Introducing THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN INDIANA

Nestled in the gently rolling hills of southern Indiana is a public university campus of 4,000 students midway between Evansville and Mt. Vernon, Indiana. Although the University of Southern Indiana is Indiana's newest state university, it has existed for 20 years as a regional campus of Indiana State University. Legislation enacted by the Indiana General Assembly in 1985 established USI as a separate state university.

People who learn about USI remark that it is almost ideal . . . in location, size, curricular and career opportunities, academic strength, and cost.

The Southern Indiana location offers a temperate climate year round and the campus location is easily accessible, via interstate highways, to major metropolitan areas in the Midwest as well as in Indiana.

The size is ideal for students who like to know their professors personally and who like learning in small classes. The student to faculty ratio is 19 to 1, and all classes are taught by well-qualified faculty members. There are no teaching assistants at USI.

Curricular and career opportunities are available in more than 60 academic majors in the areas of allied health, business, education, engineering technology, humanities, science and mathematics, and social science. A master of science degree is offered in industrial management and other master's programs are offered in specialized areas in cooperation with other universities. Approximately 5,000 persons have earned degrees from the University since the first class was graduated in 1971. It counts among its alumni successful leaders in business, medicine, broadcasting, education, visual arts, and government. These successful leaders speak to the strong academic preparation they earned as undergraduates at the university.

Tuition is reasonable. This year Indiana residents will pay $43.00 per credit hour and out-of-state students will pay $106.00. There is no matriculation fee.

The University of Southern Indiana campus was developed according to a master plan, so it is modern and well-planned. It occupies 300 acres and an additional 1100 acres surrounding the Mid-America University Center are available for future development. All the buildings are fairly new — constructed between 1969 and 1980. There are five major buildings — the Administration and Science Center, University Library, University Center, Technology Center, and Physical Activities Center — which are complemented by an Art Center, Children's Center, Physical Plant, WSWI Radio Center, Theatre, and the IU School of Medicine's Evansville Center.

About 600 students live on campus in the Mid-America Student Housing Complex. Other students commute from nearby apartment complexes or from their houses in neighboring communities.

The University of Southern Indiana is fully accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, and carries accreditation from other accrediting agencies for programs in education, engineering technology, and allied health.

JEFF EMBREY

Graduate of Mt. Vernon High School. At Mt. Vernon he played basketball and baseball. In baseball he was All-SIAC his senior year. A transfer student from the University of Evansville, Jeff was named Great Lakes Valley Newcomer of the Year in basketball for the 1984-85 season. In his junior year Jeff had 42 hits in 117 at bats. This gave him a batting average of .359. Jeff will start in center field and will bat in the lead-off position. He is a Secondary Education major and plans to enter the coaching field.

RICHIE JOHNSON

Graduate of Castle High School. A transfer student from Western Kentucky, this will be Richie's first season with the Eagles. He broke his arm about a year ago but through conditioning and weight-lifting he feels his arm is normal. While he has played right field and shortstop he feels his best position is second base. This is where he will start for the Eagles. His biggest assets are his ability to hit the long ball and to turn the double play. He is a Business Administration major but he has hopes of getting a chance of playing professional baseball.

ERIC WILLIAMS

Graduate of Henderson County High School, Henderson, KY. Richie will be starting in the outfield for the Eagles. Last year he had 22 hits in 72 at bats, for a batting average of .306. Eric considers himself a team player who plays hard but likes to enjoy the game at the same time. Eric is a Business Management major and would like to work with a large corporation. A National Honor Society member in high school, Eric carries a 3.1 GPA at USI.
