

Health-care conference

A three-hour conference on health care quality, effectiveness, and cost containment will be held at 8:30 a.m. Thursday, October 13, in the University Conference Center, and will feature a report from a Pennsylvania council which has an eight-year experience in assessing statewide health care.

The USI conference will present Mr. Ernest Sessa, executive director of the Pennsylvania Health Care Cost Containment Council, and Dr. John C. Bailey, Indiana state health commissioner who will discuss what Indiana has done and can do.

Mr. Tim Mahoney, manager of special projects for USI Extended Services who is coordinating the health-care forum, drew from the Pennsylvania Model in noting, "Compiling information about the cost, quality, and availability of health-care services is an essential early step in the effort to manage cost and assure access for quality medical care in the Tri-State.

"Health care providers benefit by having easy access to information to compare quality and cost among providers, employers benefit by having information available when designing or selecting a plan, and most importantly, the consumer can make a more informed decision in receiving a quality, cost-effective medical outcome," Mahoney said.

The conference is sponsored by the Tri-State Business Group on Health and the USI School of Nursing and Health Professions and Office of Extended Services. The public is invited; the registration fee is $10. Call Extended Services, extension 1989, for information.

Dr. Pitzer to be honored

Dr. Donald E. Pitzer, chair of the USI History Department and director of the USI Center for Communal Studies, will be presented the Distinguished Service Award Saturday, October 8, at the 21st annual Communal Studies Association Conference in Oneida, New York.

Dr. Pitzer will be the first recipient of the award, which henceforth will be known as the Donald E. Pitzer Distinguished Service Award. He also will be presented with a notebook of letters from friends and colleagues, to commemorate the occasion.

Dr. Pitzer is the founder of the Communal Studies Association and served as executive director for 20 years. He is responsible for creation of the USI Center for Communal Studies, a repository for information on intentional communities around the world. Dr. Pitzer is also the founder of the International Communal Studies Association.

The USI Center is a co-sponsor of the Oneida conference, in which Dr. Pitzer will chair two sessions and be a co-presenter with Ms. Jayne Tang, a USI Master of Arts in Liberal Studies (MALS) student, of a paper entitled, "Emergence and Changing Architecture of Community in Cyberspace." A second MALS student, Mrs. Nancy Johnson, director of USI Alumni Affairs, will present a paper on "Plymouth Commonwealth as a Communal Utopia: A Developmental Approach."

Psychology teachers to get update on student cheating

A Kansas psychology professor will present an update in his ongoing study of student cheating in college when the 11th annual Mid-America Conference for Teachers of Psychology is held Friday and Saturday, October 14-15, at the University of Southern Indiana.

Dr. Steve Davis of Emporia State University, who began his study in 1991, said the ongoing research has added another 2,000 students to the survey and "I find the results alarming...when 40 to 60 percent of students in colleges with more than 1,200 students will cheat, many of them at least five times."

Dr. Davis noted two new elements of his research:

- * A survey of 200 colleges showing 55 percent have no honor code, many calling it the responsibility of the individual department
- * Cross-cultural research showing a similar cheating trend in Great Britain, but very little college cheating in Australia, where "the pressure is not there; there is no demand for good grades"

He said faculty members are reluctant to crackdown on cheating because of the potential for getting tied up in lengthy litigation in which they must prove a charge. He pointed to a case reported in The Chronicle for Higher Education, in which a court cited reasonable doubt in throwing out a charge because there was a 1-in-10,000,000

Dr. John H. Gottcent, professor of English and coordinator of the General Education Program, has been elected state faculty representative to the Indiana Commission for Higher Education.

Dr. Susan Smith-Wolfe, associate professor in German, attended the Fulbright Association's 17th annual meeting and conference September 30-October 2 in Washington, D.C. The conference theme was "The Fulbright Legacy in the 21st Century." Conference members attended presentation of the J. William Fulbright Award for International Understanding to former President James E. Carter at the State Department.

Sympathy:

The University community extends its sympathy to Mr. Augustine Jay Fredrich, chair of the Engineering Technology Department, in the death October 3 of his mother, Mrs. Barbara Fredrich of Little Rock, Arkansas.

Report from the Office of the Vice President for Academic Affairs:

Curricular petitions for following courses to be included in the University Core Requirement have been received and approved, including:

chance that two papers could have the same wrong answers.

Dr. Davis believes the solution to cheating must include "instilling some type of internal sense of integrity" in students. He will elaborate on his research and proposals to resolve the problem at the USI conference.

Dr. Davis is a past president of the Division on Teaching of the American Psychological Association, is the current president of Psi Chi, national psychology honorary, and is co-author with Dr. Joseph Palladino, chair of the USI Psychology Department, of the text Psychology, to be published this month by Prentice-Hall.

Dr. Davis will be the conference keynote speaker at 10:45 a.m. Friday, October 14, in the USI Conference Center. The conference will continue through noon Saturday; it is being coordinated by Dr. Palladino.

United Way meetings

United Way of Southwestern Indiana representatives will be on campus next week to conduct informational meetings about the 1994 campaign and answer your questions about United Way.

Ms. Carol Bradon Clark, 1994 campaign director, and Mr. Steve Dayton, St. Mary's Health Matters Center director, and other United Way staff will be available at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday and Thursday, October 12-13, in UC309A. They will provide information about the United Way system of caring and the vital service the agencies served by United Way provide for the community. USI employees may choose which morning they wish to attend.

Ms. Debbie Clark, Ms. Kathy Funke, and Dr. Charles Petranek, USI campaign chairs, urge University employees to attend one of the sessions to learn about the 1994 USI campaign -- how your dollars will help meet community needs and what you can win as a participant. The goal for USI is $27,000, and total employee support is needed to reach that goal!

Please read the United Way material that area coordinators distributed last week and bring your questions to the meetings next week. If you did not get a packet, please call Ms. Ingrid Lindy, extension 1827, and one will be made for you.

United Way will help:

The Ark Crisis Prevention Nursery is a United Way agency established in 1981 to help prevent child abuse and neglect by providing short-term emergency care for pre-school children whose parents are in stressful or crisis situations. An average of 15,000 hours of child care are provided for about 550 children each year.

The Ark goal is to keep families safely together. Activities include family referrals to appropriate community resources or to parenting classes offered by Ark. Through these referrals, families are assisted through stressful times and may be better able to achieve long-term self-sufficiency.

Ark Director Beth Koleszar notes: "Your United Way donations to the Ark will help provide a time of peace and play for children, away from the turmoil of a stressful situation."

Ark services are available to families that:
Need a natural break from their children and have no babysitting resources;
Are operating at a high-stress level;
Are searching for a job or housing;
Need respite due to family violence;
Are participating in self-help groups or counseling/therapy sessions;
Are attending to legal matters;
Are experiencing illness or death;
Are applying for financial aid or help from other health and human services agencies.

1994 United Way Campaign

USI goal: $27,000

Contributions by 10/7/94 - 12 %

Campaign continues through October

The Ark is a not-for-profit agency supported by grants, donations, and the United Way, which supplies about 5 percent of its annual operating budget. Ms. Julie B. St. Clair, USI instructor in nursing, has been on the Ark board since 1990, serving as vice president in 1991 and president in 1992. Some students in the Community Health Nursing course spend time at the Ark to fulfill requirements for independent clinical study. In addition, the USI Social Work Club participates in activities with the children twice a month.

The United Way campaign continues through October on campus, with members of the University community urged to get your contributions in this week. (See graph for campaign results to date)

Don't forget - students will sell hot dogs on the UC Mall between 12 noon and 1:30 p.m. Wednesday, October 19, with proceeds to go to the United Way campaign. Enjoy lunch outdoors (or indoors) and help the campaign.

Sig Tau Delta book sale:

The Sigma Tau Delta book sale will be held from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, October 18-19-20, on the UC Mall. This will be the group's only book sale for this academic year.

Stanley Hall Day:

Students at the Evansville-Vanderburgh School Corporation's Stanley Hall alternative school will be guests on the USI campus on Monday morning, October 17. They will be introduced to a college campus and all the programs that might be available to them as college students.

Travel note:

Ms. Janel L. Anslinger, travel clerk, will be attending a conference October 10-13 and asks that anyone with travel plans get the paperwork to her as soon as possible.

Self-made men often look back and wish they'd made one who is smarter.

On the Verge Opens at USI Theatre

Mr. Eric Overmyer's fantasy, On the Verge, a poetically-charged absurdist comedy, opens this weekend at USI Theatre, 3001 Igleheart Avenue.

The modern fantasy will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday through Saturday and 2 p.m. Sundays, October 6-16. Tickets are $5 for the University community and senior citizens, and $7 for general admission. The box office will open at 6 p.m. on days of performances; reservations also can be made by calling extension 1668 or by stopping by the new Theatre Center, located adjacent to the Radio Center on the northwest corner of the campus.

On the Verge is directed by Mr. Elliot H. Wasserman, assistant professor of theatre. It follows three 19th-century women explorers as they traverse a region they call "terra incognita," the last unexplored area on the planet. To their surprise, their terrain becomes the future century, a random stream of linguistic slang, fashion trends, and forgotten inventions — all presented along a roller coaster ride filled with wit, sentiment, and unique insight. The four-member cast includes Ms. Jamitha Day, Mr. Anthony DeVries, Ms. Kelly Trafton, and Ms. Christina Ulrich.

Super Saturday:

In "Gizmos, Gadgets, and Gears," youngsters aged 3 1/2 through the sixth grade will be shown that computers are machines but so are doorknobs. They will learn basic principles of wheels, axles, levers, screws, wedges, inclined planes and pulleys -- what makes them work and how they affect us every day. Older children will try their hand at "inventing lunch." The program starts at 9 a.m. Saturday, October 15, in Forum II. For information, call Mrs. Ginger Ramsden, coordinator of Children's Programs, extension 1989.

Go to Las Vegas with the Eagles:
The USI Varsity Club plans a four-day December trip to Las Vegas, where they will stay at the new MGM Grand Hotel and watch the USI Eagles play in the University of Nevada-Las Vegas High Desert Classic Tournament December 20-21. The tour group will leave USI December 18, taking a bus to St. Louis then flying to Las Vegas. Reservations range from $410 to $530 for those in the tour group or $130 to $250 for those who arrange their own transportation. All arrangements are being handled through Haynie Travel; call Ms. Kathy Moore at Haynie, 477-8833, for information or registration.

Fall films:

Things to Come (1936) Director: William Cameron Menzies, cast: Raymond Massey, Ralph Richardson, Edward Chapman, Ann

Todd. A science fiction drama based on the H. G. Wells fantasy. The film will be shown at 1:30 and 6 p.m. Tuesday, October 11, in Forum I; it is free, open to the public. For information, call extension 1735.

Intramurals:

The University community is reminded that October 11 is the deadline to sign up for intramural volleyball, for either the men's or women's teams.

Mrs. Ruth Waller, intramurals director, reports volunteers are needed to officiate at the late evening and weekend volleyball games. Anyone interested is asked to contact the Intramurals Office, PAC306, extension 1942.
