Driven From Comfortable Vienna Home

All Others Jewels and Possessions Taken From Him

NEW YORK CITY.—(A. N. P.)—A remarkable insight into conditions in Nazi Germany and recently Nazi-ruled Austria was given last week by Adol Morgens, 41-year-old son of a colored father and white German mother, who arrived in the "Land of the Free" after an Atlantic passage on a Holland-American Line ship.
Morgens speaks with an accent, although he was taught English by his father. He was born in Chemitz, Germany, and both his father and mother were acrobats and trapeze artists with the Barnum and Bailey circus.
The colored German-American has lived in recent years in Vienna and dates his trouble in getting engagements as a jazz singer from the "annexation" of Austria by Germany.

He explained, "From the 13th of March, when Hitler came into Vienna where I was living, I was stopped working by him. Because I'm colored—not Aryan. Ever since I haven't been working." Basing his application for a passport on his father's American citizenship, he was granted one in December (ten months later) by the American Consul-General.

"I was doing well. Of the week preceding his departure, he says, 'I live in Franzbruencken strasse, Vienna, Austria, the romantic city where the waltz was born. I stay in my room; I never go out. I order my food from the stove beneath my suite. The Nazis only hit at Jews. If you're a light-colored German from the colonies and you work here—you can work. But you have so many troubles.

"Take me. I am a jazz singer. I sing in revues, make four to five hundred dollars a month. I am also a jazz drummer. The Nazi all the time comes to me and says, 'What the hell are you? Are you a Jew a nigger?' I show him my baptism papers and he says, 'All right, you are no Jew. Go ahead.'"
"But I know if I am a Jew, they kill me. I know many are killed. They put you in a camp and fix you up. Then our relative receive a boxful of ashes showing your cremation and a note saying, 'He was killed while running away.' ... The German people are not satisfied with the food and political conditions, but they can't speak; they are scared to speak — about 70 per cent of the people."

Morgens describes Minister of Propaganda Goebbels as the master mind of Germany, an expert at Propaganda and organization, an adept at fooling the people. He pictures as terrible the Nazi bombing and persecution of thousands of Jews after the killing of a German junior diplomat in Paris by a young Polish-Jew. Forced to leave Vienna almost penniless, Morgens said the Nazi officials refused to let him take any money, diamonds, rings or other valuables out of the country.

He said, "They search you and your bags for hidden money, rings, etc. and if the find any, they put in right in prison." The Nazis gave me only 13 marks—that is about $12. With this money I came to New York. A colored customs inspector, I don't know his name, sent me to the YMCA after I told him my story. I am thankful to the YMCA, they are allowing me to stay here until I have a job. And I hope I find one soon, as I am without money now."

Why not make your and the family's clothing and enjoy the money saved by so doing, or decorate the interior of your home with that daintiness you have always admired, with crocheted or tatted pillow cases, doilies of various kinds, dresser scarfs, bedspreads, drapery or hand-made rugs of all kinds?

Sees Religion of Vital Need In Negro Colleges of Country

Says Spiritual Teaching Has Much To Give

"Let knowledge grow from more to more, but more of reverence in us dwell," thus Tennyson expresses the dual nature of the pedagogical ideal. But unfortunately agnosticism or religious indifference has invaded the academic mind, and the intellectual component has all but excluded spiritual values.

American Colleges and Universities grew out of spiritual aim and objective. The salvation of the soul was valued beyond all other consideration. The motto of Harvard University, our oldest and best known institution of learning reads— "For Christ and His church," this motto represents a curious survival in light of present day attitude and tendencies of "Fair Harvard".

The age of science, discovery, and invention, and their practical application to industrial and economic life have all but choked the strivings of the soul struggling for expression. The impulsion of the present day collegian to make a living pays scanty regard to higher values of life.

It is but natural that Negro colleges should follow in the wake of the collegiate world whose trend is away from religious ideals. Negro colleges and universities are in a peculiar sense the creature of the Christian Church. Following in the wake of the victorious Union Army Northern missionaries bubbling over with the love of God and of man planted schools and colleges throughout the South, primarily for the Christianization of the freedmen who had been so long depressed beneath the level of Christian and civilized life. They were chiefly concerned with the well-being of the Negro on the Heavenly side. The salvation of the soul meant more to them than social salvation. In the earlier days of Fisk, Atlanta, Howard, Lincoln, and the rest, there was more joy in the making than over sinners that repented than over sinners that repented than over sinners that repented than over sinners that repented than over sinners that repented...

What with unemployment, destitution, illness, accidents, "wars and rumors of wars," the wide world over, it is indeed fitting that we pause and pay special tribute to the power of prayer. Man can do little in any way without the aid of the Supreme Constitution. The eulogy will be delivered by Dr. A. Lucas, Houston, treasurer of the National Baptist Convention. The deceased is survived by her husband and four children, namely: Mrs. Viomet Tuggle of Chicago, Mrs. Floretta Leonard, Galveston, Thaddeus Earl Prince of California and G. L. Prince, Jr. of New York and a sister, Mrs. Mary Curry of New Orleans, La. Mrs. Prince was born in New Orleans; was a graduate of the old Leland University and was an ardent church worker.

But let us not unduly condemn the Negro college for its apostasy from the Christian ideal. Howard, Fisk and Atlanta perhaps do not lag behind the religious ideals of their Founders anymore than do Harvard, Princeton and Yale. The great denominational institutions which were founded and are still supported by religious denominations find it difficult almost to the point of impossibility to have their students toe the religious landmarks which their founders set. Schools and colleges, white and black, alike are drifting with the age away from these things which look Godward!

We are attempting to educate a generation without religion, something new under the sun in human pedagogy. No one can tell what the end will be, for we have no lamp to guide our pathway. Many years ago, I wrote an article for "Education," entitled "Moral Pedagogy" in which I attempted to sustain the thesis that morality cannot be taught without religious sanction. The moral precept is the cannon ball, the religious emotion is the gunpowder. Will our secular pedagogy be able to imbue the coming generation with the principles of morality without the underlying religious background? This is not only

Here and There

By HELEN S. JACKSON

THE FIRST PRESIDENT

He dared to do, he dared to die. But did not dare to tell a lie. About this time of the year, the story of the cherry tree comes up again as we pay honor to the first president of the United States.

So many biographers and historians write about great characters in history, and interpret their movements in so many different ways, that it's hard to decide just what to believe.

The habit of veracity is quite commendable; we abhor one who consistently colors the truth but it is hard to believe that George Washington just never told a lie. Somewhere, from the cradle to the grave, we feel that he must have felt the urge to "stretch a point," exaggerate a story, make the most out of a situation—it's only natural.

And what about "those little white lies?" But whether the tradition be founded on fact or fiction, he was and still is a great, great man. "Washington, the brave and bold."

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER

Today is the first Friday in Lent, and is being observed as the "World Day of Prayer."

And how much do we need a "World Day of Prayer" in these stirring times!

What with unemployment, destitution, illness, accidents, "wars and rumors of wars," the wide world over, it is indeed fitting that we pause and pay special tribute to the power of prayer.

Man can do little in any way without the aid of the Supreme

NATIONAL BAPTIST PRESIDENT'S WIFE TO BE BURIED FRIDAY

PLAN NEGRO EXPOSITION

To Present 75 Years of Negro Progress

The most serious question which confronts modern pedagogy but modern civilization as well. These general considerations apply to white and colored alike. But the peculiar circumstances and situation of the Negro race require special study of application. Here we have a new race, which is being grafted upon civilization for the first time. As a group the Negro is without historical background or cultural tradition. The white race will be kept in the right path, for a while at least, by tradition and inertia, even after active principle has become a spent force, but the Negro has no such moral direction and guidance.

If the Negro escuews the religious tenets which have safeguarded the human race thus far, and places his reliance instead upon a Godless pedagogy, we can only shut our eyes and shudder when we contemplate the abyss to which we are drifting.

When I took my pen in hand to indite this release, I had fully in mind to delineate the life, work and worth of the late Professor Benjamin G. Brawley who illustrated in a unique sense, the cultural and religious ideals which lay at the basis of Negro colleges and universities. But now that I have devoted so much space to general considerations, I must reserve the life of Benjamin G. Brawley for my next release.

Anti-Lynching Bill Introduced

WASHINGTON, (ANP) — A new anti-lynching bill, similar to the Wagner Van Nuys measure filibustered to death a year ago was introduced in the senate Monday by Sen. W. Warren Barbour, New Jersey Republican.

Barbour's bill defines a mob as "two or more persons" intent on lynching and would make penalties of the Wagner-Van Nuys measure applicable only in case of willful neglect on the part of peace officers in taking precautions to prevent mob violence.

Being, and not only today, but every day, should he cling: To the Rock that is higher, than I.

CHILD WELFARE CONFERENCE CALLED

We note by the Saint Louis Globe Democrat, that Secretary Perkins has called a conference on child welfare.

With the "powers that be" feeling the necessity of getting together for the best interests of our children, we feel that youth still has a chance and that before long a few of the pressing problems of youth will be on the road to being solved.

A few notes from the article follow:

Secretary Perkins announced today that at the direction of President Roosevelt she was calling a national conference on "Children in Democracy," with a view of giving "greater security to childhood and a larger measure of opportunity to youth."

Miss Perkins said 70 prominent men and women had been invited to serve as a Planning Committee and to meet at the White House on April 26. A final session, she added, would be held early in 1940.

Phi Delta Kappa Sorority Establishes Chapt. in Detroit

DETROIT, MICH., Feb.—(ANP) The National Sorority of Phi Delta Kappa, which is an organization of teachers, set up Chi chapter in Detroit on Saturday.

Mrs. Oneida Cockrell and Miss Emma Arnold, National officers, with the aid of five other members of Mu chapter of Chicago, founded the Detroit chapter.

Chi chapter has planned an extensive educational program, which is in keeping with the high ideals of Phi Delta Kappa.

both sides of the front. Under it, Miss Vera Bates wore a severely plain, but ultra-smart, soft woolen dress. Her accessories were in the new terracotta.

In the preliminaries, Ernie Page of the Argus quintette seemed to be carrying most of the offensive, leading his team to a victory with a score of 34-33.

Although the brilliant star of the Renaissance, Fats Jenkins, was absent, the Rens played a spectacular game, with beautiful team work and coordination. Their dribbling, guarding and long goal-throws were a symphony of speed and precision, and they appeared in excellent form. The Rocks were also in top form, and played a grand game, keeping the famous Rens constantly on the alert. The Rens had a slight lead practically throughout the game, and the final whistle ended a splendid game with the score-board recording 41-34 in favor of those fashioning Rens, Z. Clayton, W. Smith, T. Cooper, I. Saitch, J. Asin, P. Bell and B. Gates.

Grand Jury Probes Killing Of Man By Deputy Sheriff

NEW ORLEANS, (By Leon Lewis for ANP)—For the first time in the history of this state, a district attorney called a special session of a grand jury to hear testimonies in the case of an officer murdering a Negro prisoner.

Several weeks ago, Oscar Smith, an employee in a gaming tavern in St. Bernard parish, was taken from his place of employ by a deputy sheriff and later found shot. Feeling ran high in the case as no one was able to get definite facts surrounding the killing.

James B. LaFourche, director of publicity for the Southern Regional conference of NAACP branches, was advised by officials of the conference to investigate the case in order that it may determine whether or not Louisiana would be accorded the first lynching of the year.

The wife recently filed suit for $25,000 damages, jointly against the sheriff, the deputy sheriff and a bonding company which holds the deputy sheriff under bond

EAST ST LOUIS, ILL. NEWS

SOCIAL

The Second Annual Washington Tea of the Nurses Division of the Court of Calanthe held Sunday was a colorful affair.

The table setting was quite picturesque, featuring a miniature ship, representing Washington crossing the Delaware, and a miniature cherry tree and hatchet. The decorative scheme was red, white and blue. Red and white carnations, American flags and red white and blue candles were artistically arranged.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Pinkie B. Reeves, the general chairman, gowned in an attractive black chiffon afternoon gown with ashes of roses accessories, and Mrs. B. DeShields, graceful in a chiffon crepe print in the patriotic colors. In the receiving line were Mrs. Zenobia Johnson in teal blue, Mrs. Williams in a patriotic print, Mrs. D. W. Mrs. Zenobia Johnson was mistress of ceremonies, and opened the program with "America the Beautiful." With the lovely young Miss entraining for the Capital City of the nation, many a broken heart will be left behind I'm sure. They tell me she and he told it to a third person quite some time ago. Here's heaps of luck to the young couple.

The Chandler Avenue miss and that handsome C.C.C. lad, were seen at Liberty Baptist Church Sunday. My, but these feds are surely bringing the young men to their senses, religiously speaking.

Many Vitamins Are Provided By Ice Cream

Delicious and healthful, Millers ice cream also is a nutritious food containing many vitamins and minerals necessary to keep up disease resistance during winter months. Produced under the most sanitary conditions, ice cream makes a fine winter dessert or between meals snack.

Often overlooked is the high mineral content of ice cream. However it ranks with milk and cheese as a source of calcium. It contains all the minerals of milk. In an average serving of ice cream as compared with several other foods there is found more calcium than in kale, oranges, string beans, apricots, or an egg.

New energy for winter months can be obtained from Millers ice cream. The milk fat content and added sugar makes this food a source of quick energy. Ice cream is also a rich source of vitamin A, an average serving supplying nearly one fifth an adult's daily need of this vitamin. It is also a good source of vitamin G.

New methods at Millers Ice Cream, Inc., have improved their product. Pasteurization of the mixture, homogenization, controlled whipping, quick hardening, and laboratory control are new techniques which enable Millers to maintain quality and produce ice cream of smooth texture.

While ice cream is high in body building materials it is relatively low in calories, and this makes it an excellent choice for a reducing diet. In a recent university research project, students reduced their weight successfully and maintained their health.

We believe in the pomp of funerals. It is about the only way you can offer appreciation of merit.

Bright Spots After Dark

Received several compliments on the column last week, thanks to all.
Spied the news gatherer in the groove at the Tap Room Monday. Just wondering how these news hounds let such jive as this escape the eagle eyes of the members of the censor board. At the same table, spied the "stone man" he of the "fire and pump brigade" and L. and N. Haynes, later joined by he of the P. O.

"He", who is employed at the Tea Room on Second street or is it Third? Anyway it spells something like this, Mayfair, was doing a Don Juan with cute she of Walnut Street, a former Ky. belle. Looked plenty serious, too.

He of the Plymouth Coach at the 3C Camp turned it in on a '39 Buick Coupe, quite snifty, too," then received an appointment at home in the Buckeye State, she didn't get to ride in it much, but remember "Cin" is only a few short hours ride.

Hats off to young AC for his manner of dress and he's tops with the feds, too. At the Gravis Octo Kiddie Party Wednesday evening, his "tripping of the light fantastic" and "esquire styled togs" copped everyone's eye.

D. A. R. Called Upon To Make Public Apology

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In a strong resolution, the Washington Chapter of the American League for Peace and Democracy has sent a resolution to the D.A.R. (Daughters of the American Revolution) strongly condemning the actions of that so-called patriotic society for its treatment of Marian Anderson and has called upon the D. A. R. to rescind its action by removing the ban against Miss Anderson. The resolution is as follows:

WHEREAS, Marian Anderson, an American citizen and a singer of international reputation, has been barred by the D.A.R. from making an appearance in Constitution Hall, on April 2; because she is a Negro, in spite of the fact that hundreds of lesser-known artists have been permitted to use the hall.

AND WHEREAS, this unwarranted act, by an organization that identifies itself with the liberation of our country and names its meeting hall after our Constitution, mocks the true spirit of the Constitution of the United States, and incites the forces of race hatred and intolerance.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED, that the Daughters of the American Revolution be called upon to make a public apology for the un-American action they have taken, both to Marian Anderson and to the general public, by removing the ban against Miss Anderson.

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that copies of this resolution be sent to the Daughters of the American Revolution and to the press.

The resolution was unanimously adopted by the Washington Chapter of the American League for Peace and Democracy at its meeting on Feb. 15, 1939.

Hell On Ice, by Edward Ellsberg.

A tremendous story of the heroism of men facing such hardships as have never been recorded before or since. Hell on Ice is the saga of the famous ship "Jeannette" which braved the dangers of the North Pole.

Dr. Norton's Wife, by Mildred Walker.

This is a novel, partly of love, partly of medicine, and in a large measure a mingling of the two. The background is that of a modern medical school; of sturdiness, diagnoses, hospitals, and high aspirations. For those who are interested in the world of unuttered thoughts, "Dr. Norton's Wife" will prove an absorbing study.

Portrait of an American, by R. P. T. Coffin.

Those Gay Middle Ages, by F. D. Kershner.

Mr. Kershner's title is ironic. He holds that the Middle Ages were not gay. The underlying intention for writing the book is said to be to combat the movement, of which Mr. Kershner is aware in contemporary life, to "return to the Middle Ages."

Song of Years, by Bess Streeper Aldrich

This new story of family life in pioneer Iowa is for those who like "earthy" family stories.

To Stress Sportsmanship At State High School Cage Tournament

Record Field In Tourney

Classic At Jefferson City March 10-11

By JAMES D. PARKS
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Special—Two days of almost hysterical excitement and breath-taking thrills are in store for the fans when a record field of thirty teams takes to the hardwoods in the Lincoln University gymnasium here March 10-11 to decide the state championship. Close to 30 games are expected to be played in the 40-hour period. The grueling grind will call for games almost continuously for two days, starting at 8 each morning and concluding at midnight.

Sportsmanship again will be the key-note of the tournament. The handsome Lloyd W. King Sportsmanship Trophies will again be in competition. University High of Jefferson City won the sportsmanship trophy in Class "A" last season while Lincoln High of Charleston won in Class "B". The highest ideals of good sportsmanship, hard and clean play will be stressed.

Summer's high-gear defense champions still are slight favorites to retain the title they won the last two years straight but out-state fans believe the powerful Douglass High five of Columbia has the power to take the title away from St. Louis for the first time in the history of the tournament. Freelon, voted the most valuable player in last year's tournament and Richardson, star forward pace the Columbia team.

However, anyone of the number of dark horses may be "hot" during the tournament and march through to the state title. In the "Dark Horse" class we find such scrappy outfits as Douglass of Webster Groves, a team always hard to beat in the state tournament; Vashon with a tall rangy team that should be at its peak in the state tourney; University High of Jefferson City, a team which is clicking well at present and Lincoln of Kansas City, which is coming on fast. However, in this writer's book, Summer of St. Louis remains the team to beat and whatever team defeats the Maroon and White lads will have the power to march on to the state title.

Class "B" promises a dog fight with Cape Girardeau, St. Charles, Moberly, Dalton and Charleston rated the strongest in a large field.

Eight handsome trophies and thirty-six miniature basketballs will go to the various winners in the tournament.

The Lincoln University gym is expected to be packed to the rafters with an overflow crowd

Rens Defeat Shamrocks For 42nd Straight Win

Win In Easy Style From Rivals

Without the service of their veteran captain Fat Jenkins who was called to New York by the death of his father, the New York Renaissance defeated the New York Shamrocks, 42-34, before 1809 persons at the Coliseum, Sunday night. The Rens had beaten the same team in Springfield, Ill., in the afternoon, 43-35, and Saturday afternoon, 40-35. They were slated to play them again Monday night in Bloomington and then head for a stand of several nights in Indiana.

Two newcomers in the lineup gave the fans a fine display of shooting and ball handling. They were John Isaac and Pop Gates. Both seemed to hit the bulls-eye everytime they shot, and fit in smoothly with the teamwork of the seasoned Tarzan Cooper, Erye Saith and Wee Willie Smith.

The Rens put up an excellent display of scientific basketball. The team covered the floor with such skill that they did not even appear to exert themselves in stopping their opponents' best passing attacks and breaking through their defense for close-in shots. Tarzan Cooper used his height and bulk under the basket to almost place the ball in with his hand on several times while his opponents stood helpless. He and Smith also almost invariably got the ball off the backboard after the Shamrocks missed a shot.

Most of the Shamrocks' baskets were made of onehand shots or overhead shots from outside the foul circle. The team showed a clever in-and-out pivot passing attack but could not consistently penetrate the long-armed Rens' guard, Habra and Wade made some thrilling shots from difficult angles.

The game at the Coliseum was the 87th for the Rens and their 42nd consecutive victory. They lost only one game on the road in Detroit to the Philadelphia Sphas whom they had beaten twice before. The crack Xavier U. five came the closest to doing the miraculous of beating them when the Rens nosed out the New Orleans, 40-39.

The Argus Bulldogs won their second one-point victory from the Naval Reserve five 34-33 in the preliminary. The Naval team staged a rally near the end of the game, but the Argus put on a fast passing attack and Byrd broke through for a crisp that won the game. "Prof." Ernie Page rang up 13 points to top the team's scoring.

Fans' Anger Prevents Introduction of Louis

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—A round of continuous booing which followed the awarding of a decision to Honeyboy Jones, 159 pounds, in his ten-round bout with Al Quail, 165 pounds, both of Pittsburgh here Monday night prevented the introduction of World's Champion Joe Louis who had acted as second in a previous bout Jones was down twice

LINCOLN BEATS FORCE WILBERFORCE, O.—The Lincoln eagles trounced the Wilberforce 57-38 here Saturday. The score at half was 29-6 in favor of the Tigers. McIntosh tallied 18 points for the winners while Turley and Fountain had ten each. Lincoln, (Mo.) 53; Force 57. Lincoln, (Mo.) 60; W. Va. 57, 56.

Announces National Tourney March 23-25

FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., (AN P)—Coach Army Armstrong announced formally Thursday that the National High School Inter-scholastic Athletic association through its president, John Smith, Gary, Ind., had endorsed and approved the reestablishing of the national basketball tournament. The dates set for the meet are Mar. 23, 24 and 25.

of some 700 rooters at the finals, Saturday night, March 11. The finals will open at 7 o'clock with the third place game in Class "A" which will be followed by the finals in Classes "A" and "B". Presentation of trophies and a dance will bring the event to a close.

SPORTS HIGHLIGHTS

By Richard A. Jackson

Fans Support Rens

Business Manager Illidge of the New York Rens' team expressed gratitude over the support of colored fans at their game last Sunday evening. There were about 1600 colored fans in the group of 1900, which speaks well when it is considered that the Rens were playing a reputable white club. If the whites had turned out equally as well the affair would have been a real financial success.

Amateur Boxing Endangered AL TO SPORT MILITARY

None of the veterans who were seen here in the Rens' debut here in '34 were present. Fat Jenkins, Bill Yancy and Pappy Ricks, who were famous when only the stories of the marvelous basketball exploits of the Rens in New York were all the people in the Mid-West knew of, were not present.

Some fans appeared to think the Rens did not appear as colorful or powerful as when they appeared here in 1935 and passed the All-Stars dizzy at the conclusion of a game at St. Louis U. Gym. The fact was that they were up against a team that claims equality with the Celtics, but still they held them with apparent ease and beat them four straight. They exhibited a topnotch game of scientific basketball in both offensive and defensive tactics, and the youngsters in the group filled in the shoes of the old-timers commendably. Another thing was that the game was the second of the day for the team, and the 25th in 25 days of traveling over a total of more than 5000 miles.

BORICAN BEATS CUNNINGHAM IN 1000-YARD RACE

Sepia Star Hands Famed Miler First Defeat In 20 Races

NEWARK, N. J.—John Borican, track star from Elberon, N. J., fulfilled his wish Monday by defeating Glenn Cunningham, star Kansas miler, in a special 1,000 yard run in the Seton Hall college athletic carnival. Borican crossed the finish line in 2:14.3, a new meet record.

He Is Used to Winning
It was Borican's seventh victory in nine starts this season and was Cunningham's first loss in his last twenty races.

Stepping out with the gun Borican overcame bids by Howie Borck, I. C. 4-A mile champion, and Francis Slater, Fordham university's national A. A. U. 1,000 meter title holder, before Cunningham moved up to make his bid.

Slater Makes a Bid
Slater passed Borican on the back-stretch of the third lap and held his advantage until the turn into the last lap. Brock, who had pressed Borican early in the race, dropped back, and Cunningham came up, but was unable to get in front on the back-stretch. Borican moved away to win by five yards, with Cunningham second and Gene Venzke, New York veteran, third.

KENTUCKY IS FAVORITE FOR MIDWESTERN TOURNEY AFTER 18TH WIN IN 20 STARTS

W. Va. Promises Tough Opposition Feb. 24-25 At Nashville

FRANKFORT, Feb. 18.—Chalking up two more victories in ridiculously easy fashion, the Kentucky State College Thorobreds appear in the pink of condition for the Mid-Western Basketball Tournament, to be played in Nashville, on Friday and Saturday of next week.

The Kentucky boys journeyed to Louisville last Tuesday, administering a 72-21 defeat on the Bantams. The game was never close, the boys from the capitol city winning as they pleased. Then, on last night, a speedy group from Philander Smith College of Little Rock, Arkansas came to Frankfort, boasting a 31-13 victory over Tennessee State. The Thorobreds sent them away with a 64-21 defeat under their belts. In both of these games, Coleman and Williams, freshmen aces, accounted for 56 points between them. The Farrow-Johnson-Coleman-Mason-Sleet combination passed the ball all over the floor thrilling the crowd with its work.

Two more games will be played prior to the tournament. The Thorobreds take on Louisville in a return game at Frankfort tonight, while Lincoln University, whom the Thorobreds defeated 38-35 at Lincoln, will furnish the opposition on Wednesday.

Then, for the tournament at Nashville, four teams are sure to be in the thick of the fight. W. Virginia State, defending champion, and with one defeat in collegiate circles at this writing, will rule the favorite. The Kentuckians by virtue of their 46-30 win over West Virginia recently and with a season's record of 18 wins and 2 defeats will be plenty trouble. We are not kidding when we say that this is the best team ever to represent Kentucky State. The team bears watching. Lincoln, as usual, must be considered as the dark horse, and possible winner, while one can never tell about Wilberforce, Louisville and Tennessee State cannot hope for much, since the other four teams seem too strong. To pick the winner of the tournament will not be attempted by the writer. This will be a whale of a tournament, however.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 15.—Before the largest crowd ever to witness a basketball game here LeMoine Mad Magicians were defeated by the New York Renaissance, 61-47. ### Repulse Henderson Team's Spirited 2nd Half Attack Fri. Nite

Kirby and Butler Lead Attack On Owensboro Team in Kentucky
After losing to Mounds City and Carbondale, the Lions came back strong Friday evening to completely trounce a fast "5" representing Douglass High of Henderson in the local gym before a capacity crowd, the largest of the season. Culver, the spirited hub of the team, led with 5 baskets while Keel followed closely with 3 baskets.

Woolridge and Bronson were noticeably good in repulsing the attack of the Kentuckians. Henderson was held scoreless until the second quarter when Cheney, star guard, started hitting the basket with a degree of accuracy. He scored nine points. Chambers forward was also noticeably good.

The entire Lion squad was used by Coach Tom Cheek. The squad left the city last Saturday and journeyed to Owensboro, Kentucky, where it swept over the Owensboro High School netters 46 to 17. The game, as the score indicates, was quite one-sided with Lincoln's lead never threatened. Kirby and Butler set the pace for the Lions, scoring five baskets apiece.

THE MAN WITH A VISION It would indeed be entrancing if one could envisage life from the point of view that we read about in the Grecian myth, 'Endymion,' in which it is said that the goddess Luna fell in love with the shepherd Endymion, and carried on her amours with him in a new singular manner.

As a boy Marion Charles Whitlor began to develop habits of thrift. He was always willing to work, not picking any special kind of job, but giving good service and always managing to save something, until finally he was able to purchase a horse and wagon and began hauling ashes. In 1904, the year of the World's Fair, he entered the moving business in which he made much money that year, and with a vision for the future of his family he enlarged his business which developed into a bonded moving and storage company.

Mr. Whitlor lost approximately thirty-five thousand dollars in colored enterprises, he said, thirteen thousand dollars being lost in financing a baseball team and baseball park.
