Grateful Enthusiasts Justifiably Commend One

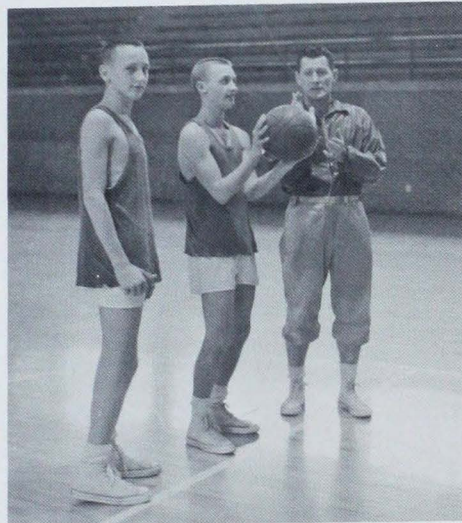

Developing a student's character as well as his knowledge is the mark of a good teacher, for who is more capable of developing this character than those who possess it themselves. Patience, good humor, gentle understanding, and able leadership mark Mr. Leonard Will, to whom we dedicate this 1961 edition of the Mater Dei yearbook, as a man fully capable of leading young men and women on their road to the future.

Mr. Will combines the patience and understanding of a true gentleman with the stern leadership and discipline of a coach of athletics. Mr. Will teaches driver's training, physical science, and occupations, as well as assuming head football and baseball coaching responsibilities and assistant basketball chores. Outstanding character marks this individual as a real man, a forceful leader, and a devoted teacher, fully endowed in the extra something it takes to instruct and lead.

In the following pages we strive to portray to the reader the Spirit of Mater Dei, in which Mr. Len Will plays a definite and influential role.

Who Has Faithfully Encouraged Sincere Effort

It permeates assemblies and graces classroom walls...exudes its fleeting fragrance through full or empty halls.

It dances in the footsteps of average, bright or dull...and flits from class to classroom, to help the learners cull.

It isn't just a feeling, or urge to make one work; nor is it strong reproaches to shame those few who shirk.

It's rather an example that flows from loyal souls, whose work and heart and efforts are geared to solid goals.

It's glad co-operation and interest in the best...and silent, suffering patience, when workers fail in zest.

And even when forgotten, it waits a brighter day, and never fails its duties as the Spirit of Mater Dei.

SENIOR COUNCILMEN AND COUNCILMEN-AT-LARGE:
John Rollett, Betty Weber, Linda Tenbarge, Alice Knapp,
Therese Drennan, Paul Gries, Janet Zirklebach and Dave
Seidl are all prominent members of the Mater Dei Student Council.

As leaders of this democratic organization, they have vowed to promote a spirit of cooperation and good will in Mater Dei's own "Valley of Opportunity."

JUNIOR COUNCILMEN: Betty Kremer, Steve Pledger, Alan Braun, and Steve Braun, discover the rubrics of court room procedure from a circuit judge and his assistants.

The Spirit Shows

Its Fourfold Strength

Leadership

Scholarship

Character

Service

Officers of the NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY: Vice-President-Steve Charlson, Treasurer-Betty Weber, Secretary-Nadine Schultheis, and President-Allen Hamilton, pose with the patron of all best ideals-- Mater Dei.

The annual spring induction of new members for the National Honor Society and its junior chapter is the climax of a full year of edifying activity.

Members of the National Honor Society attend the banquet held in their honor, after the induction ceremonies.

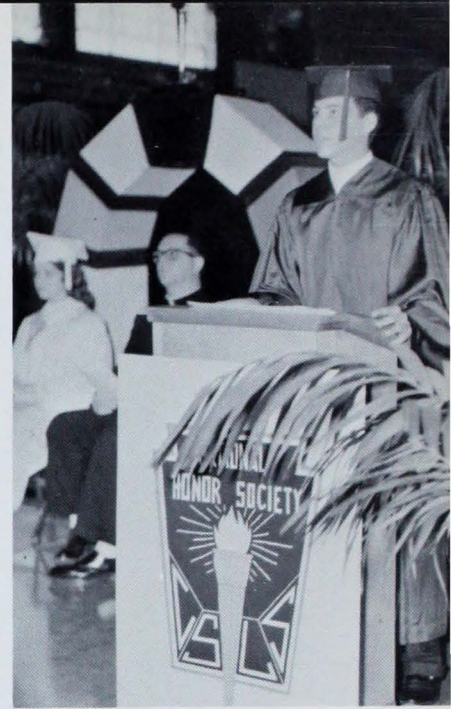

"Leadership is the ability of a person to attract others into his way of thinking and acting."

"Character is the measure of man--the power to act with righteousness in every undertaking."

National Honor Society members pledge fidelity to the society and its ideals.

"Service is measured by the radiance of spirit with which it is rendered.

"Scholarship is a solid foundation for happiness in this world as well as the next."

Junior members of the Society were chosen according to a fifth attribute--Citizenship.

In Organized Co-operation

The Spirit Finds Its Pleasantness

Officers of the PEP CLUB and the CHEERING SQUAD always do their part in promoting the good health of the Mater Dei spirit.

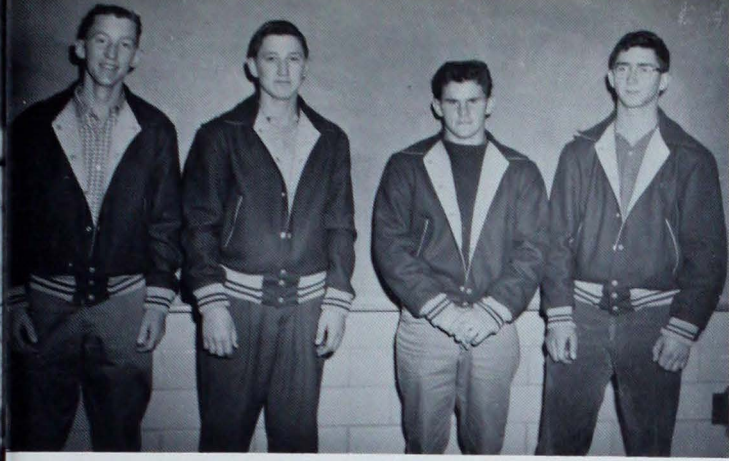

G. A. A. award winner Rosie Deig gets ready to serve the ball for a fast round of ping pong. A table tennis tourney during lunch hours is a big annual project of the GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.

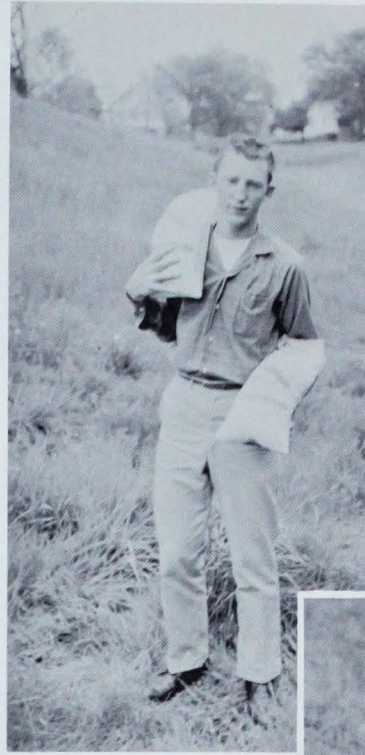

Joan Townsend assumes a batting stance in practice for the G. A. A. softball tournament.

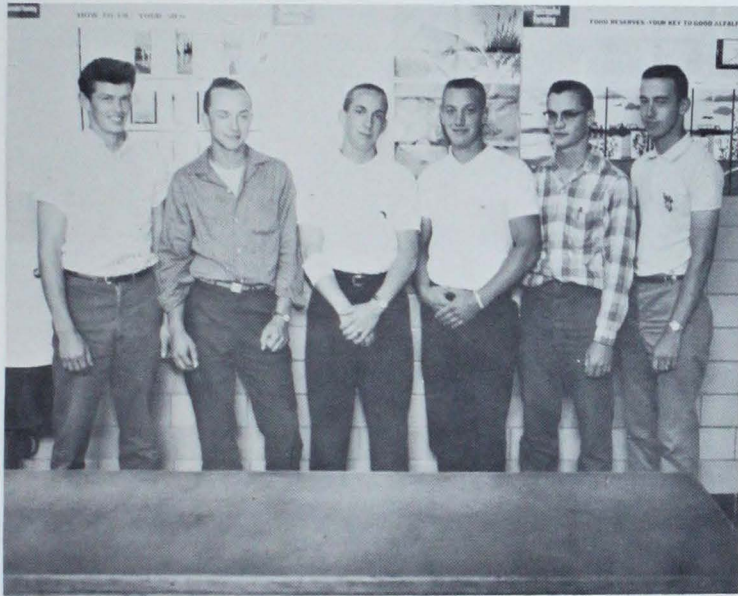

Officers Rosie Deig, vice-president; Joan Townsend, secretary; and Linda Will, treasurer; confer with President Carol McDaniel about the long list of sports tournaments the G. A. A. sponsors during the school year.

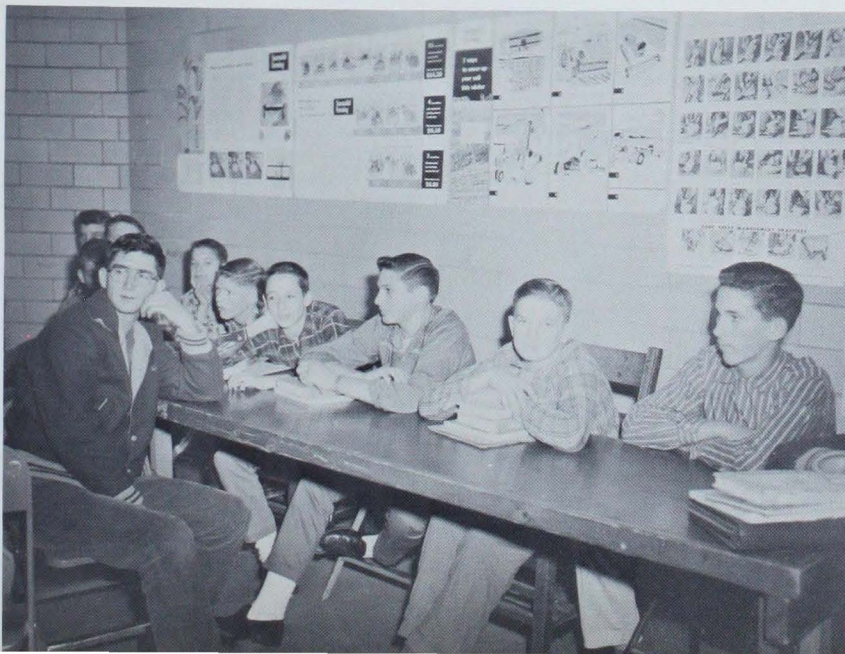

Officers of the YOUNG CHRISTIAN FARMERS meet in the Ag lab to display new agriculture jackets.

George Paul (left) and Neil Elpers (below) display a familiar technique for handling feed and straw in the practice farm work to which the Agriculture boys are introduced.

Soil judges (above) and other members of the Y. C. F. (below) gather round the bulletins and tables to pose for the Hi-Lights photographer before a regular E. C. A. Ag meeting.

The Spirit of modesty hovers protectively over good consciences, as members of the FIGHTING 69th and the LITTLE LEGION strive to promote good moral behavior amongst students. Their biggest concern is to create a fighting spirit of fidelity to the 6th and 9th commandments.

Fighting 69th captain, Marian Rubsam, and Little Legion president, Betty Weber talk with secretary, Beatrice Slaughter about the vocational literature which the combined crusader group keeps on file.

Below, President Betty encourages discussion on the ground floor plans of a new Legion project.

Barbara Frank, Cassandra Glaser, Nancy Lythgoe, and Betty Weber, officers, look over the home made bandages collected by the JUNIOR RED CROSS and soon to be sent to a far away mission.

HOME EC CLUB officers Dorothy Toon, Mary Ann Hamilton, Beatrice Slaughter, and Pat Morehead take time out for a stroll on the MD campus.

This quilt will soon be finished and sent to a needy family.

Senior Home Ec girls display their talent as Home Nurses in the course offered by the National Red Cross.

Accompanist Pat Richardt plays for Marian officers Mary Pat Emge, Janet Stampfli and Sandee Wuerth, while they warm up for a concert practice.

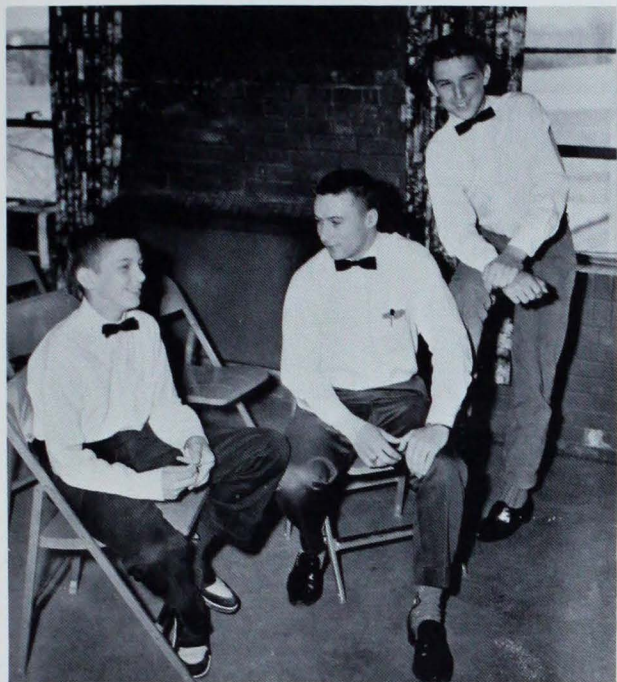

Marian Members of the senior double sextette display the new blue contest uniforms at a special song session in the gym.

Posed before the statue of their namesake, members of the their formal concert robes and stoles.

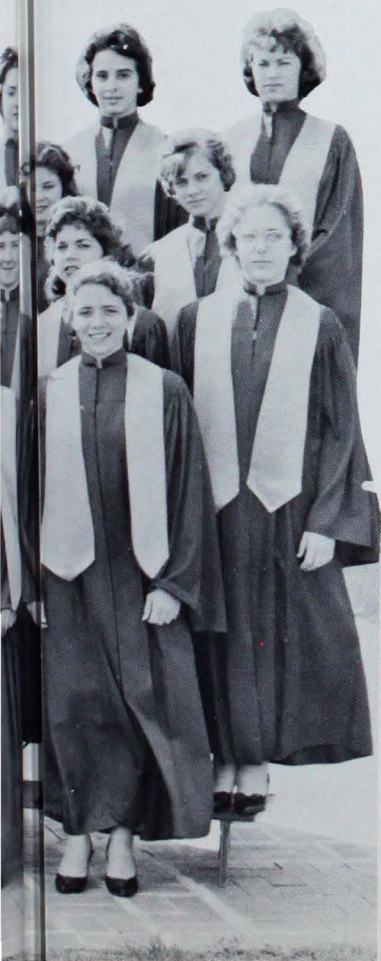

MATER DEI MARIAN CHOIR model

"Ku, fa, fa"... sounds silly, but it constitutes good warm-up syllables for the BOYS' CHOIR members.

In between practice sessions in the glee club room, they spiel their share of blarney.

Don't let any of these boys tell you they were mouthing a concert number. It definitely smacks of "Three Blind Mice."

CHORAL CLUB extends an open invitation to anyone who likes to sing.

Spring concert time always proves there are many at Mater Dei who enjoy giving music a whirl with Sister Mary Pierre, concert director.

Mary Lee Schmitt, Mary Beth Funke and Mary Jo Folz, officers, shoulder the student authority for Choral Club activities.

Ronnie Jochim plays his state contest number for the student body before a medal-winning trip to Indianapolis.

Saxophone quartet, Don Weidner, Susan Kern, Ken Hollander and Tom Wargel, usually do a feature number in big band concerts.

The Mater Dei CONCERT AND MARCHING BAND, under the direction of Mr. Robert Hormuth, faithfully and frequently lends to the spirit of the situation at ball field, pep assembly, Christmas and Spring Concert time.

Junior journalism should be a snap. All we have to do is manage news and sports... and get all the book pictures, too!

Joanie sold a subscription and overcrowded Marian's circulation box.

Book Editors-in-Chief. That's Kuykendall with the pencil on his ear... but he really makes it dance to Dorothy's "Toon."

Eureka! Sandy got an ad for the money-making pages.

Junior book editors proofread them.

Paper editor, Beatsy... press room publisher, paster, and pillar. She could have taught Gutenberg and Pyle a thing or two.

No Room For A Head...

Tally ho for the senior personality pages.

Turn your back on the shutter, but not on the work.

But It's Publications

Quiet Anita made many statements and sent them to our advertisers.

Susie's still all smiles. She's just now learning how to be business manager.

pages. Blame the mistakes on

They thought they could solve financial problems, and found out "f-lottery" will get you nowhere when you're in the red.

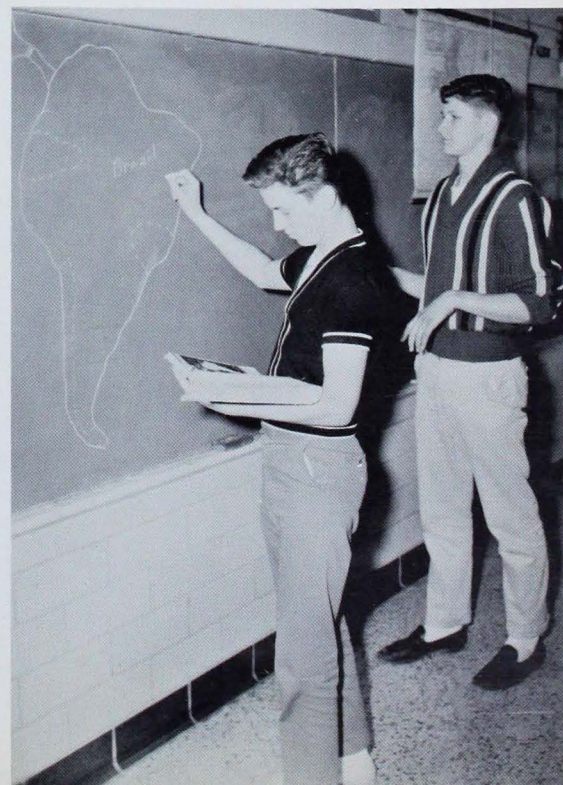

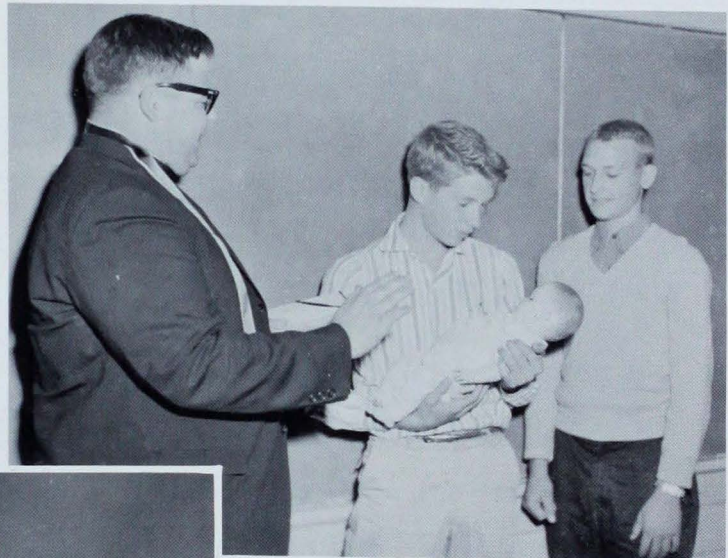

Intellectual Effort

Is The Spirit's Wholesome Diet

RELIGION classes at Mater Dei prepare the students to be solid Catholic citizens, both as teenagers and as adults. A big project for freshman girls is the preparation of notebooks on the sacraments. Junior boys write extensively in their notebooks on scriptural readings, and sophomore boys get a thorough explanation of the sacraments in action.

Making use of map studies to get a better understanding of world problems and their relationships to the U. S., AMERICAN PROBLEMS and UNITED STATES HISTORY students learn to be good conversationalists on past and current events.

New and challenging experiences in ENGLISH spoke well for Mater Dei this year.

Ronald Hollaender proudly displays the handsome trophy he received in remuneration for his blue-ribbon performance in the Optimist Oratorical Contest.

English Literature student, Ronald Adams, finds a quiet nook in which to study for an approaching vocabulary card exam.

Linda Will, above, and Therese Drennan, right, were two of the students featured in the Mater Dei version of the WFIE-TV series, "High School Story."

The controlled reader was a part of the new English program inaugurated at Mater Dei this year.

A traveling book shelf enabled the freshmen to participate in a wider reading program.

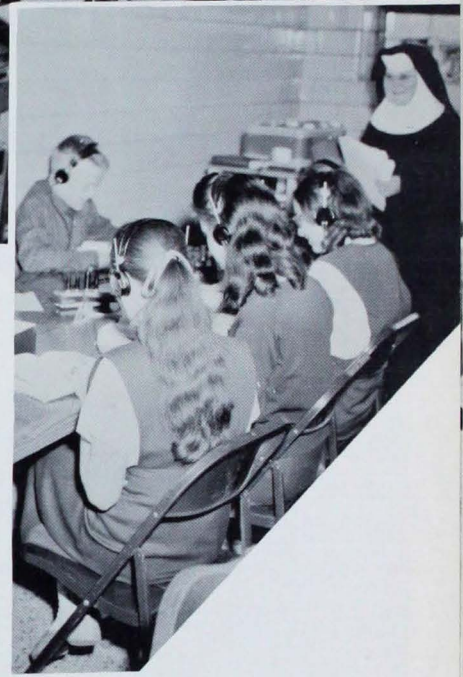

First year French students compare their answers with those on the board, and also make use of the newly installed tape recorders.

Spanish students listen intently to a discourse on Our Lady of Gaudalupe.

Latin students select reading material from their new library shelf.

John Hoos, a 1958 graduate, meets with Steve Charlson and Rita Farmey to discuss how their amalgamated efforts won for Mater Dei a handsome Latin Trophy.

The Latin Exhibit attracted student attention.

Jerry Reinhart touches up some original sketches for interior decorating.

First year art students learn to tint photos, while more advanced groups work in oils.

The drawing boards hold ample problems for mechanical minds to solve.

Not everyone can be creative or artistic, but those to whom God gave the talent find both challenge and satisfaction in ART and MECHANICAL DRAWING classes.

Mike Bippus, 1961 House Plan winner, reads up on the latest in construction.

In BIOLOGY there's a difference between bugs and insects. This is an insect collection.

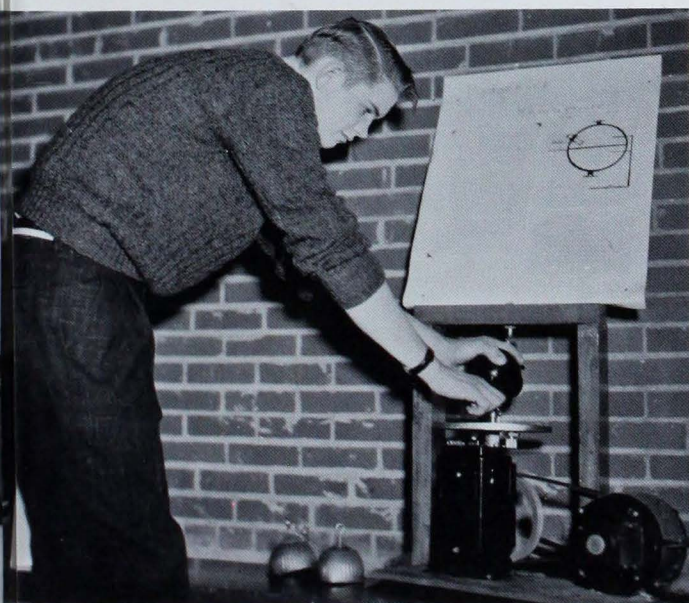

GEOMETRY students wield their board compasses in investigating a complex formula.

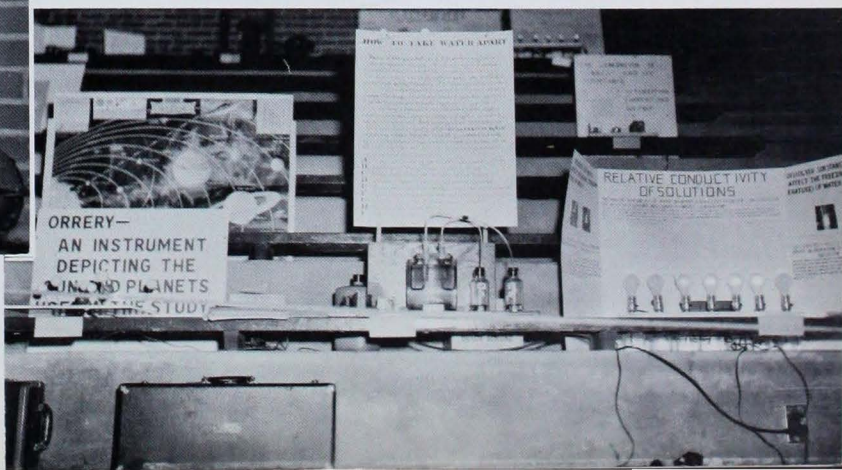

Whatever the complex experiment might be, the class is PHYSICS.

Geometry also helped decorate a tree.

The SCIENCE FAIR attracted both student genius and public interest.

COMMERCIAL classes offer skill not only in typing and shorthand, but also in office machines and book-keeping methods.

Notice that the commercial subjects attract a goodly number of boys at Mater Dei these days.

Opportunities to become a real Home Maker are abundant in the Mater Dei HOME ECONOMICS department.

Barbara Rumage shows Carol Stratman, MD's McCalls Teen Fashion Board Member, her original design for a garment.

Superior showings on a Home Economics test and essay qualified Beatrice Slaughter to become the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow.

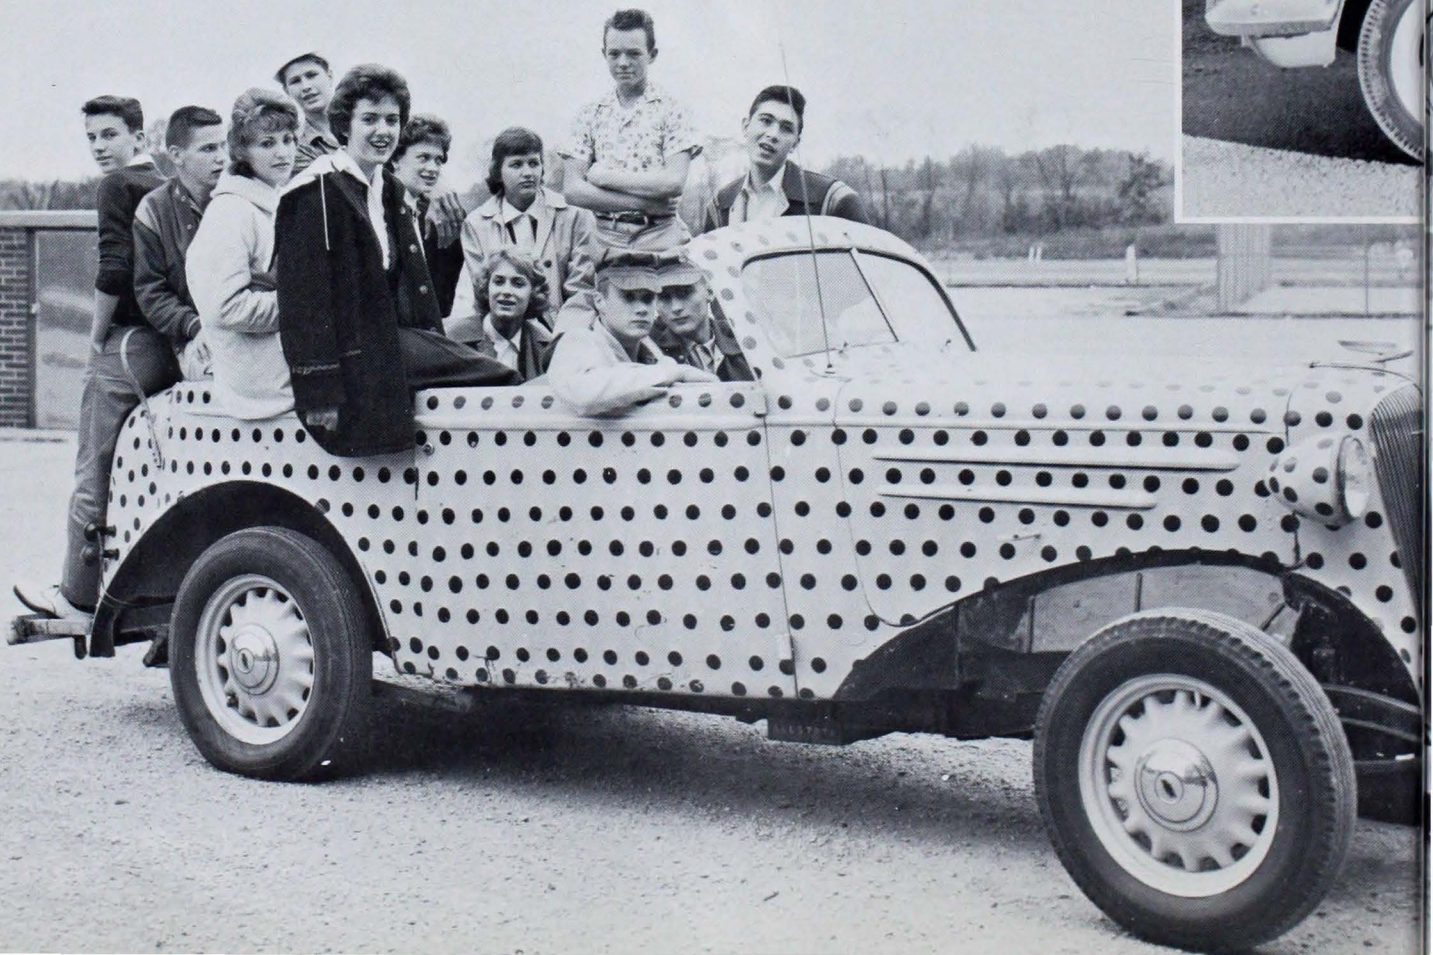

Home Economics students make popcorn balls for a worthy cause, the aged and orphaned.

Spring fashions produced from projects of the Home Economics class are modeled by their seamstresses.

Silence Gives The Spirit Dignity

Room B 104 serves as Chapel for student meditation during Retreat.

Meditation and prayer become an integral part of the students' curricular activities during the first three days of Holy Week. Retreat, an annual occurrence at Mater Dei, gives the students an opportunity to "clean their slates" before Christ in preparation for the celebration of his Resurrection.

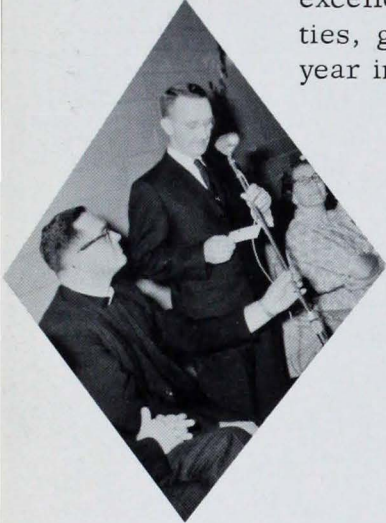

The student body receives Holy Communion at daily High Mass.

The Retreat Masters, Father Michael Cody, D.M.P., and Father Salvatore Castaglioia, S.M.M. admire a statue of Mater Dei's patron, the Mother of God.

Acknowledgement Gives It Courage

Recognition provides an important incentive to excellence. One such form of reward is the annual spring Achievement Banquet. For the 12th time in Mater Dei's history, students who had excelled in scholarship, extra-curricular activities, good conduct and effort, were feted this year in a gaily decorated cafeteria.

"We begin..."

Dr. Louis Alderman, Biology professor at the University of Kentucky, added an air of dignity and humor with his eloquent speech concerning the future of the world. The year 1976 served as the theme, and Dr. Alderman gave an explicit picture of life in that year.

Mr. Bob Wilson (seated) of Shane Manufacturing Co. aptly served as toastmaster for the Achievement Banquet festivities.

Devotion To Our Lady

Keeps The Spirit Graceful

First Maid of Honor, Nadine Schultheis crowns Mary Ann, MAY QUEEN of Mater Dei.

Herald Eugene Gries exhorts the student body to "Stand at attention then and welcome your queen," as Mary Ann Kough approaches her seat of honor.

Queen and court listen attentively as Herald reads official proclamation from the queen that a lovelier brow than hers must bear the crown.

Queen Mary Ann happily yields her own May crown to the Queen of Heaven.

Holy Mass and blessing of the junior class rings, before their distribution, culminates Mater Dei's tribute to Queen of Heaven and student sovereign.

Valedictorian Donald Teiken spoke of the foundation that the graduates received at Mater Dei to meet the challenge of the world they now face.

Nadine Schultheis, Salutatorian, said, "Thank you" to the faculty and Mater Dei.

Henry S. Grimmelsman, Bishop of Evansville, offered his fatherly message to the '61 graduates.

Rev. Walden Schiffer, Pastor of St. Joseph's, Loogootee, Indiana and former teacher of Mater Dei, spoke to the graduates about the opportunities available if they just look for them instead of waiting for the opportunities to find them.

From the Bishop's fatherly hand the graduates receive their diplomas.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES
WHERE DO YOU GO FROM HERE?
To all who possibly can do so, we say, "Enroll in Evansville College or any other college or university of your choice". If you can't quite finance a full college education by yourself, investigate the many scholarship opportunities available - the self help programs that are offered.

If none of these work out, look into night school schedules or correspondence school home study courses.

Long experience proves that college training or its equivalent pays off in dollars and cents, in security and in solid satisfaction.

But even if normal schooling ends, learning does not - it really just begins. So - Graduates - where do you go from here? - you go on learning - in college - at night school - or on the job.
